MAYOR 434 VOTES BEHIND

Fusion Prepares to Run Him as an Independent Candidate, but He Is Silent.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY ACTS

While Both Sides Seemed Willing to Drop the Examination of Ballots He Begins an Investigation.

Feeling certain that the examination of the ballots cast in last week's Republican primaries now going on under a Supreme Court order has already shown that William M. Bennett defeated Mayor Mitchel for the Mayoralty nomination, the Mitchel forces began yesterday a rearrangement of all their campaign plans with a view of having the Mayor run as an independent candidate for re-election. Although the Mayor has not yet stated that he will run independently, the Fusion Committee of 1917 is going ahead on the theory that Mr. Bennett will be declared the nominee of the Republican Party and that the Mayor will consent to make a vigorous fight against both Bennett and Judge Hylan, the Tammany candidate.

That the change in the count of the primary ballots putting Mr. Bennett 434 in the lead as the Republican candidate has almost completely demoralized the Fusion camp, thereby necessitating an entire change of plans, was shown yesterday when a hurried conference of Fusion leaders was held. Some of the leaders argued that the Mitchel cause was now hopeless, and that the only way out was for the Fusion Committee to drop Mitchel and unite upon Bennett. Opposition to this plan was so pronounced, however, that the suggestion was dropped, and it was decided to try to induce the Mayor, as an independent, to make a red-hot anti-Tammany campaign, putting emphasis upon pro-Teutonic and Hearst support going to Judge Hylan and bringing the war issue to the front.

As a first step in this rearrangement of plans, new Mitchel headquarters were established at the Hotel Manhattan, with Emory R. Buckner in charge of the campaign. Luther B. Little, who was chosen as campaign manager a couple of weeks ago, was shifted to the position of Vice Chairman of the Fusion Committee. The new headquarters will be opened on the twelfth floor of the Manhattan Hotel tomorrow. The Mayor, William Hamlin Childs, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Fusion Committee; Mr. Buckner, Mr. Little, and F. Carter Childs will have their offices there. The present headquarters at 244 Madison Avenue will be continued as the Publicity Department, under George B. Mallon, and the Finance Department, under Sam A. Lewisohn.

There were indications yesterday that the Mitchel forces are ready to drop the present ballot examination proceedings and announce that they are satisfied that Mr. Bennett won the Republican nomination. It was said that the Mayor may even make an announcement to this effect, and at the same time declare that he will become an independent candidate. Should this course be taken it is thought that Mr. Bennett will be satisfied to call the present proceedings off. Whether or not they can be thus easily disposed of, however, is agitating the Republican leaders, for District Attorney Swann took a hand in the matter yesterday and announced that he had begun a preliminary investigation on his own account to determine if there was any basis for Grand Jury action.

Swann Assistants at Work.

Mr. Swann is reported to be convinced that as a result of the miscount of votes in several uptown Manhattan districts which worked in the interest of the Mayor, there were circumstances which only the Grand Jury should investigate. After an extended conference with Edward Boyle, President of the Board of Elections, the District Attorney sent Assistants Neilson, Olcott, and John G. Wallace to 125 Worth Street to watch the unofficial inspection of the ballots. Both men reported to Mr. Swann later that in their opinion there were irregularities in several districts such as could not have been the result of an honest mistake. Acting on this information the District Attorney issued subpoenas for the appearance before him today of the election Inspectors in some of the districts showing indications of fraud. During the day the District Attorney held an informal talk with Mr. Bennett. According to Mr. Swann, the Republican candidate said that while he had not personally asked to have the District Attorney's office represented at the inspection, nevertheless, he was pleased that some one had been sent. Should both sides consent to a termination of the examination proceedings, it was said that several Republican election Inspectors would be well pleased.

A steady gain for Bennett marked the examination of the ballots from the Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond districts, which were being examined at midnight. Mr. Mitchel had picked up 3 votes in the First Assembly District of Queens, and other gains made Mr. Bennett's lead over Mayor Mitchel 434.

The Mitchel forces lost heart and hope completely late yesterday afternoon when the examination of the Brooklyn ballots was taken up. They had hoped that Brooklyn would show a complete reversal of the Manhattan errors because Bennett polled a much larger vote in that borough than Mitchel. As district after district was examined,

President Told French Envoy We Would Fight to 'Last Man'

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Henry Franklin-Bouillon, who was appointed to the newly created post of Minister of Missions Abroad in the recent reorganization of the French Cabinet, returned today from his visit to the United States, where he urged a plan for co-operation in war legislation by the parliamentary bodies of the nations at war with the Central Powers.

M. Franklin-Bouillon expressed in the warmest terms his appreciation of the treatment accorded him in America and the satisfaction he felt over the results of his visit. The Paris newspapers comment extensively today on his report of his trip and give particular prominence to an interview in which he describes his leave-taking with President Wilson. With a final shake of his visitor's hand, says M. Franklin-Bouillon, the President said to him:

"To the last man, to the last dollar, the whole force of the United States is at your service."

CITY WELCOMES JAPAN'S MISSION

HAILED AS HISTORIC FRIENDS

The Imperial Japanese Commission reached New York yesterday afternoon and the city welcomed them as representatives of the nation's ally across the Pacific, as it had welcomed those from the Allies beyond the Atlantic. The coming of the Japanese emphasized dramatically the union of the world against the Central Powers, and the hundreds of thousands who greeted the visitors acclaimed them as honored members of the circle of friends surrounding America.

Viscount Ishii, the head of the commission, was impressed by the "warmth and generosity" and the "convincingly evident sincerity" with which the people of New York received him and his associates.

The special train upon which the visitors traveled arrived at the Communipaw station of the Central Railroad of New Jersey nearly half an hour ahead of its schedule. But the representatives of the Mayor's Committee who crossed the river to offer the first welcome to the commission were waiting when the train came in. As Viscount Ishii and Third Assistant Secretary of State Breckinridge Long stepped from their car Judge Gary, and Theodore Rousseau, the Mayor's official delegate, met them.

The police boat Patrol, gayly dressed in flags, brought the commission to Pier A amid the salutes of whistles and sirens of river craft. As the Japanese were escorted from the pier into Battery Park the band from the United States steamship Recruit struck up their national air, and the thousands packed into the park cheered with enthusiasm. Hundreds of Japanese flags with their red rising suns flew from every building in sight, and a flag-draped arch indicated the route the commission would take into the physical as well as the sentimental heart of the city.

Review of Naval Militia.

Before entering the waiting automobiles the members of the commission reviewed the Second Battalion of Naval Militia, which was the guard of honor at the pier. Then, led by two troops of Squadron A, the escort of honor, the processions of automobiles carrying the commission and the members of the Mayor's Committee moved between the crowds in Broadway to the City Hall.

The journey was triumphal for the visitors. Every voice of the thousands gave cordial greeting; flags flew from every building, and from every window men and women waved a colorful welcome. The spontaneity of the good feeling was typified in the appearance at a window of a young woman who, lacking a Japanese flag, had pinned a circle of red paper to a towel. Confetti and ticker tape floated down in a dazzling shower upon the passing automobiles from hundreds in windows and on window ledges of tall buildings.

City Hall Park had been converted into a court of honor for the commission, and every foot of standing space not reserved by the police was packed with people. In addition to the citizens, who came out in unorganized thousands, there were 6,000 public school children, chiefly from downtown schools, each provided with a Japanese flag. There were, too, 1,000 members of the American Junior Naval and Marine Scouts, commanded by Major Daniel M. Bedell, who in their white uniforms behind the red-spotted flags of Japan, which they held, made a striking picture on the City Hall steps. At the point on the stairs where the members of the commission entered the hall were nine Japanese boys belonging to the local Scout organization. A pyramid of Boy Scouts opposite the entrance to City Hall, six companies of the Twenty-second Infantry from Governors Island, three companies from the Electrical Naval School, and two companies from the U. S. S. Recruit in Union Square added to the military setting.

The visitors were escorted to the Aldermanic Chamber, where the members of the Mayor's Committee who had not gone to Pier A were assembled to receive them. Viscount Ishii and Aimaro Sato, the Japanese Ambassador, took places on the dais, facing the Mayor and citizens of New York.

M'ADOO TO OFFER 3 BILLION OR MORE IN BONDS ON OCT. 1

New Liberty Issue to Bear 4 Per Cent. and May Run Up to One-half the Oversubscription.

FREE OF GENERAL TAXES

Denominations as Low as $50 and Convertible Into Future Issues at Higher Interest.

EXPECTS 10,000,000 BUYERS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Secretary McAdoo tonight announced the terms and details of the second issue of Liberty Loan bonds.

He will offer on Oct. 1 $3,000,000,000 or more 4 per cent. bonds. The exact amount of the issue will depend on the subscriptions, and bonds may be issued up to one-half the oversubscription. The bonds will be in denominations of $50 and multiples of that sum.

The exemption extended to these bonds applies to all forms of Federal and State taxation except estate and inheritance taxes, graduated income taxes, known as surtaxes, and excess war profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, on income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. Interest on not to exceed $5,000 will be exempt from the taxes named. Holders of the bonds may convert them into any war bonds of a higher rate of interest that may be issued later. Subscriptions are to be made through Federal Reserve Banks and will close on Oct. 27. Interest on the bonds will begin on Nov. 15.

"With the approval of the President, I have determined to offer on Oct. 1, 1917, three billion or more dollars of United States of America 4 per cent. convertible gold bonds, due on Nov. 15, 1942, and subject to redemption at the option of the United States at par and accrued interest on and after Nov. 15, 1927. The bonds will bear interest from Nov. 15, 1917, and the interest will be payable on May 15 and Nov. 15 in each year.

Depends on Subscriptions.

"The exact amount of bonds to be issued under this offering will depend on the amount of subscriptions received. It is, of course, to be expected that subscriptions considerably in excess of $3,000,000,000 will be received, and in that event the right is reserved to allot bonds in excess of $3,000,000,000 to the extent of not over one-half of the sum by which the subscriptions received exceed $3,000,000,000. In other words, if subscriptions to the extent of $5,000,000,000 are filed $4,000,000,000 of bonds may be allotted.

"The bonds will be offered as before at par and accrued interest and will be in denominations of $50 and multiples thereof.

"The bonds shall be exempt, both as to principal and interest, from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States, any State, or any of the possessions of the United States, or by any local taxing authority, except (a) estate or inheritance taxes, and (b) graduated additional income taxes, commonly known as surtaxes, and excess profits and war profits taxes, now or hereafter imposed by the United States, upon the income or profits of individuals, partnerships, associations, or corporations. The interest on an amount of bonds and certificates authorized by said act, the principal of which does not exceed in the aggregate $5,000, owned by any individual, partnership, association, or corporation, shall be exempt from the taxes provided for in clause (b) above.

"If a subsequent series of bonds, not including United States certificates of indebtedness, war saving certificates, and other obligations maturing not more than five years from the issue of such obligations, respectively, bearing interest at a higher rate than 4 per cent. per annum, shall, under the authority of said act, approved Sept. 24, 1917, or any other act, be issued by the United States before the termination of the war between the United States and the Imperial German Government, (the date of such termination to be fixed by proclamation of the President of the United States,) then the holders of bonds of the present series shall have the privilege, at the option of the several holders, of converting their bonds, at par, into bonds bearing such higher rate of interest, at the issue price of bonds of such subsequent series, not less than par, with an adjustment of accrued interest.

"Such conversion privilege must be exercised, if at all, at any time within the period, after the public offering of bonds of such subsequent series, beginning at the date of issue of bonds of such subsequent issue, as such date shall be fixed in such public offering and terminating six months after such date of issue, and under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of the Treasury shall have prescribed.

Terms of Conversion.

"The bonds to be issued upon such conversion of bonds of the present series shall be substantially the same in form and terms as shall be prescribed by or pursuant to law with respect to the bonds of such subsequent series, not only as to interest rate, but also as to convertibility, (if future bonds be issued at a still higher rate of interest,) or nonconvertibility, and as to exemption from taxation, if any, and in all other respects, except that the bonds issued upon such conversion shall have the same dates of maturity, of principal and of interest, and be subject to the same terms of redemption before maturity, as the bonds converted; and such bonds shall be issued from time to time if and when

Max Eastman, editor of The Masses, a radical publication recently barred from the mails by Postmaster General Burleson because of its anti-war attitude, made public yesterday a letter he had received from President Wilson in reply to one he sent.

In his letter to the President Mr. Eastman congratulated him for not having adopted, as he expressed it, the entire animus of the allied war on Germany. He said in part:

"Now you have declared for substantially the Russian terms—'no punitive damages,' 'no dismemberment of empires,' 'vindication of sovereignties,' and by making a responsible Ministry in Germany the one condition of your entering into negotiations you have given a concrete meaning to the statement that this is a war for democracy. The manner in which you have accomplished this—and apparently bound the Allies to it into the bargain—has my profoundest admiration. I am encouraged by this renewed assurance of your faith in democracy to lay before you two matters in which I believe that democracy is suffering at home more than the exigencies of military organization demand."

The editor went into a long discussion of the suppression of his publication, asserting that the Postmaster General's attitude constituted a violation of the right of freedom of the press not warranted by the exigencies of military efficiency. He said that Mr. Burleson in attempting to justify his actions in suppressing the publication told the Senate that The Masses was part of an organized propaganda to encourage resistance to the draft. This Mr. Eastman denied.

The President replied as follows:

The White House,
Washington, Sept. 18, 1917.

My Dear Mr. Eastman:—I thank you very warmly for your generous appreciation of my reply to the Pope, and I wish that I could agree with those parts of your letter which concern the other matters we were discussing when you were down here.

I think that a time of war must be regarded as wholly exceptional, and that it is legitimate to regard things which would in ordinary circumstances be innocent as very dangerous to the public welfare, but the line is manifestly exceedingly hard to draw, and I cannot say that I have any confidence that I know how to draw it.

I can only say that a line must be drawn, and that we are trying, it may be clumsily, but genuinely, to draw it without fear or favor or prejudice.

Cordially and sincerely yours,
WOODROW WILSON.

Mr. Max Eastman, 34 Union Square East, New York.

Commenting on the President's reply, Mr. Eastman said last night that he felt encouraged to know that Mr. Wilson realized the gravity of the problem on hand.

"I think the Government is making a grievous mistake in discouraging the popular discussion of the war aims and peace terms," he said. "This is an impractical way to conduct a war for democracy. It is important that when peace is made, it should be made not only with the German people, but by the American people. And this will not happen unless the terms of peace are fully and freely discussed beforehand by everybody."

CONFEREES AGREE ON WAR TAX BILL

Measure Will Yield $2,700,000,000 Besides $1,333,000,000 Under Existing Law.

WAR PROFITS COMPROMISE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—After two weeks of deliberation the joint conferees of the House and Senate tonight came to an agreement on the War Revenue bill. The final touches on the measure, as revamped by the conferees, will be applied tomorrow. The revised bill is expected to be reported to the House on Monday. As agreed upon the bill is increased to raise about $2,700,000,000 in revenue in addition to $1,333,000,000 obtained under existing law.

The principal change made in the measure is in the war profits tax, upon which the conferees had threatened to split. For ten days the House and Senate conferees had thrashed out the tax embraced in the measure as it passed the Senate and as originally adopted by the House.

As agreed upon tonight, a compromise has been struck between the House war profits scheme and that of the Senate. The system of graduated tax upon war profits as passed by the Senate has been accepted by the conferees, with a slight change which raises the rate of tax so as to begin at 15 per cent., instead of 12 per cent., which was the lowest rate in the Senate system. The new graduated schedule, in other words, will run from 15 to 60 per cent., instead of from 12 to 60 per cent., as the Senate system provided.

Another important change made by the conferees was in fixing the rate of exemption upon which the war tax is to be levied. The Senate adopted an exemption of 6 to 10 per cent. on capital stock invested. The House exemption was 8 per cent. The conferees tonight agreed to an exemption of 7 to 9 per cent.

Definition of Capital Stock.

One rock upon which the conferees stuck for days was the definition of capital stock, upon which the war tax is to be applied. The whole question, admitted by the Treasury experts to be highly technical and likely to induce perplexities, owing to the difficulties of applying the tax, was finally decided by the conferees in accepting the Senate basis. The only change in the Senate basis is that the cash value of patents and copyrights paid in for stock is to be included as capital; also goodwill, including trademarks and trade brands and other tangible property, provided the corporation or company has paid specifically, in cash, or with tangible property, with value as of Jan. 1, 1914.

While the Senate schedule of surtaxes was 15 to 300 per cent., upon which the graduated tax was to be applied on excess profits, material changes have been made by the conferees that place the tax at different stages.

The conferees changed the publishers' tax to provide for a 150-mile zone instead of 250 miles for the original tax levy of 1 cent a pound.

Additional taxes between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 over the Senate bill, which totaled $2,416,000,000, were added by the conferees. As passed by the House the total was $1,868,000,000.

A One-cent Letter Tax.

Of the $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 additional agreed to by the conferees, about one-third was placed upon postage. The House one-cent letter tax, estimated to raise $70,000,000, which was stricken out by the Senate, was restored by the conferees, and their agreement for a graduated zone increase on second-class mail is estimated to raise some millions more.

Revenues from automobiles, patent medicines, perfumes and cosmetics, and other manufactures also would be increased by the conferees' agreement. The one-cent stamp tax on bank checks, eliminated in the Senate and estimated to raise $10,000,000, is reported to have been restored to the bill.

Among important House provisions abandoned were the retroactive tax on 1916 incomes, estimated to raise $108,000,000; for a general 10 per cent. tariff levy, estimated to raise $200,000,000, and consumption taxes on gas, electric and local telephone service, estimated to bring in $30,000,000.

Another important action understood to have been taken was restoration of the special tax of 16 per cent. on munitions manufactures, estimated to raise $29,000,000. The Senate provision for its repeal was stricken out.

MERCHANT FLEET TO BE TAKEN OVER

RATES ARE SHARPLY CUT

New Charter Schedule Will Be Revised Later if Owners Need Relief.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Every American merchant vessel of more than 2,500 tons dead weight capacity available for ocean service will be requisitioned by the Government Oct. 15, the Shipping Board announced today in a statement giving the charter rates at which the vessels will be taken over. American ships available for ocean traffic total slightly more than 2,000,000 tons, but some of them already have been taken over for the army and navy.

In most instances, except where they are required for actual Government service, the ships, it was said, will be turned back to their owners for operation on Government account, subject at all times to any disposition the Shipping Board may direct.

The rates announced will cut sharply the present charter rates charged by American vessels for carrying Government supplies. It is the intention, it is understood, to apply them later to any foreign ships chartered in the United States. The chartering will be in the hands of the Shipping Board's Chartering Commission, which Welding Ring of New York has just been named to head.

Rates Fixed by the Government.

For freight vessels the monthly rates per ton, figured on time charter on a basis of dead weight tonnage, are as follows:

More than 10,000 tons, $5.75; 8,001 to 10,000 tons, $6; 6,001 to 8,000 tons, $6.25; 4,001 to 6,000 tons, $6.50; 3,001 to 4,000 tons, $6.75; 2,500 to 3,000 tons, $7.

Vessels of a speed in excess of 11 knots will be allowed 50 cents a ton additional for each knot or fraction over 11.

For passenger vessels the board adopted a twofold basis of classification: Class A, comprising steamers with a capacity of more than 150 passengers, and Class B, those with a capacity of from 75 to 150 passengers. Steamers in both ratings are further classified according to speed. Passenger steamer rates, based on time charters, and figured gross register, are:

Class A: 10 to 11 knots, $9 a ton; 12 knots, $9.50; 13 knots, $10; 14 knots, $10.50; 15 knots, $11; more than 15 knots, $11.50.

Class B: 10 to 11 knots, $8 a ton; 12 knots, $8.50; 13 knots, $9; 14 knots, $9.50; 15 knots, $10; more than 15 knots, $10.50.

Army and Navy to Man Ships.

Some of the vessels to be requisitioned, which will be used exclusively for army and navy service, will be taken over on a bare-ship basis. These vessels will be manned and operated by the army and navy instead of by the owners. The rates fixed for their use are $4.15 for cargo boats and $5.75 a ton gross for passenger steamers of eleven knots speed, with an additional allowance of 50 cents a ton for each knot in excess of eleven up to sixteen knots.

All of the rates are tentative. The board, it is announced, will examine carefully the results of operation under the rates, and will determine on any revision that appears to be necessary for fair treatment of the vessels' owners. Revisions will be made, if found necessary, at intervals of not more than ninety days.

The Government will assume the war risks on the ships requisitioned, and in some instances the marine risk as well. Where the marine risk is assumed the usual rate for this insurance will be deducted from the charter price.

Within less than six months virtually every one of the 458 American vessels now available for ocean service, including regular liners, will be either in the service of supplying American troops and warships abroad or in trade considered vital to the conduct of the war. The intention of the Government is to replace ships drawn from regular trade routes and from the coastwise service with neutral tonnage, for which negotiations are pending with neutral Governments. Foreign ships will be admitted into the coastwise service by suspension of the coastwise shipping laws. A bill to make this suspension possible is before Congress.

A statement issued concerning the new charter rates did not state whether they would apply to Pacific as well as transatlantic trade. It has been generally understood that, for the present, low rates would not be put into effect in the Pacific trade, but it is probable that the Shipping Board will reach a final decision within a few days in this connection.

SHIP OWNERS ARE SATISFIED.

Believe the Government Will Deal Fairly with Them.

The action of the Federal Shipping Board in requisitioning American ocean-going ships did not come as a surprise to the owners of ships at this port.

LEADERS PREPARE FOR FIGHT

All Members Urged Not to Absent Themselves from Capital—Britten Assails Heflin.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—When the Rules Committee of the House adjourned today without ordering a favorable report on the two resolutions to investigate Representative Heflin's charge that the German corruption fund had been successfully used on "thirteen or fourteen members of Congress" there was a distinct undercurrent of dissatisfaction all over the House.

Members who were about to leave the city on week-end trips canceled their engagements and determined to stay in Washington when it was made plain to them that the Heflin charge might produce many interesting possibilities. If the Rules Committee does not order an investigation the House will surely take the matter into its own hands.

Mr. Heflin appeared before the Rules Committee today and mentioned the names of members of Congress whom he connected with suspicious legislation, and said he would like to have a thorough investigation of the organizations which had indorsed certain bills of Senator La Follette, Representative Mason of Illinois, Representative Britten of Illinois and Representative Baer of North Dakota.

When Representative Britten learned of this he dictated and distributed a formal statement charging Representative Heflin with being "a pacifist of the lowest order," and being largely responsible "for the country's unpreparedness."

Meantime the whips on both sides of the House have sent out hurry calls for all hands to come to Washington on "important business." Majority Leader Kitchin told members today and yesterday they had better stay on hand, because something was likely to happen. These and others recall that when Representative Heflin voted against the war resolution he endeavored to get the House to drop Kitchin as floor leader, and that Representative Burnett of Alabama, a colleague of Heflin, took the floor to denounce Heflin for his utterances. This is only an indication of the bitterness now flavoring the undercurrent in the House.

May Seek to Expel Heflin.

As the matter stands, it is possible that some member will offer a resolution to expel Representative Heflin. Representative Britten asserts that he will offer a resolution to bring the Alabaman to the bar of the House and censure him severely.

The Rules Committe today heard Representative Heflin and Representative Norton. When it came down to a question of whether Mr. Heflin would object to an investigation, he said he would certainly object to any committee appointed by Speaker Clark, whom he condemns for alleged unfairness in heading him off in his speech on Monday. He did, however, invite an investigation of his statements regarding the suspicious actions of thirteen members. He said he would like the opportunity to inquire about the correspondence of "certain members" who had written one way to their constituents and had acted another way in the House. He wanted to find out, he said, how many members were preparing to join the Non-Partisan League—the Northwest Farmers' organization which sent Representative John Baer of North Dakota to Congress recently. The league is generally disposed toward pacifist tendencies.

Mr. Heflin made it clear that he did not want an investigation of the charges he made to be sidetracked into an investigation of himself. He said he wanted to see an inquiry into the activities of members and the sources of money for carrying on the propaganda relating to the anti-draft bill of Representative William E. Mason of Illinois and the resolution of Representative Britten of Illinois to exempt from military service all German-American citizens.

The committee members asked him again about the interview appearing in certain morning papers, in which the Alabama member was quoted as saying he had heard of a gambling room where pro-German and pacifist members of Congress were paid for their services by being allowed to be extraordinarily lucky. He denied this interview again, and added that he believed German agents had influenced newspaper reporters to quote him falsely.

"I understand," he said, "that certain members of the House want to expel me and would have done so without giving me a hearing. Gentlemen, I would have worn this expulsion as a badge of honor, and would take the case before the American people."

Representative Norton, author of one of the investigating resolutions, said:

"I have no interest in this except the interest of every member of Congress to have an investigation of the reported remarks of Representatives Heflin and Howard. I consider these very serious charges. I know of nothing more damaging than the charges that members have received German gold. It is only fair to Representative Heflin and Representative Howard and the newspaper

Germany and Austria Disagree Over Poland

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A Reuter dispatch from Zurich, Switzerland, says Count Adam Tarnowski von Tarnow, former Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States, has been ejected from membership in the Polish Regency owing to reported decided hostility to him in Germany, and that it has been proposed that Count Ostrowski replace him.

The dispatch says the indications are that there are serious differences between Austria and Germany with regard to the composition of the Regency.

MORE GERMANS TO BE INTERNED

ALL SENT TO ELLIS ISLAND

There was a lull, but it can be stated on high authority that it is only temporary, in the round-up of dangerous enemy aliens, which began Wednesday night when the Federal authorities, aided by the entire detective force of New York City, sought out the nests of Teuton troublemakers and arrested ninety-one Germans, all of whom are said to have been active agents or workers for the Kaiser's cause in the United States. These ninety-one Germans, whose names at the request of the Government are withheld, were removed from Police Headquarters to Ellis Island shortly before noon yesterday, there to be detained until the Department of Justice orders them transferred to the Southern internment camps.

That practically all of the men taken into custody have been employed in plants engaged in the manufacture of munitions of war for the United States and its allies was the statement made by a Federal official yesterday. One of the men who is now deprived of his liberty is a German who has been a resident of the United States for nineteen years and who during all that period has spurned all opportunities to become an American citizen. The man's wife, who called at the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation yesterday, made the statement concerning her husband's loyalty to the German sovereign.

Credit Naval Intelligence Service.

The Naval Intelligence Service is given credit for the major part in bringing about Wednesday night's big haul of enemy aliens. For weeks the officers assigned to the intelligence service have been quietly at work listing the enemy aliens whose liberty they had reason to believe constituted a menace to the safety of the country. Not until their case was complete and they were ready to act did the naval investigators call upon the Secret Service agencies of the Government and the Police Department of the city.

As each man was taken into custody he was searched and then subjected to a rigid cross-examination as to his past activities. A mass of interesting documents is said to be in the possession of the authorities as a result of the raid, and the proper officials of the Department of Justice are now going through those papers. Not one word as to the nature or the contents of these papers has been given out. If anything is given out as to their contents it will be made public, it was said, by Attorney General Gregory.

There was a report current yesterday that the names of about three-fourths of the men caught in the big raid were to be found in the "little black book" which was found in the office of Paul Koenig, the former Chief of the Hamburg-American Line, when that office was raided more than a year ago by agents of the Department of Justice. Koenig was one of the most trusted of the men who worked under the direction of Captain Franz von Papen, who, as Military Attaché of the German Embassy, directed the operation of the German spy and plot systems in this country.

This "little black book," as it is always referred to by Federal officials, is said to have been a more or less complete directory of the men upon whom von Papen and his lieutenants could depend in an emergency. The number of names in the book has never been made public, although it is said there are more than 500. Many of the men named in the book were arrested shortly after the United States declared war, and have been interned for months. Others left the country months ago, a great many of them going into Mexico, where they were able to obtain a haven from the Secret Service agencies of the United States. A few of them managed to sign up as members of the crews of neutral ships, and most of them who did so are said to have reached Germany. The others were captured by the British or French.

Commenting upon the general round-up of enemy aliens in New York begun by the Federal authorities on Wednesday night, the New Yorker Staats-Zeitung said editorially yesterday afternoon:

"The raid undertaken yesterday by the police, acting for the Federal Government, which yielded some 200 German subjects and a great deal of incriminating material, ought again to create an opportunity for German subjects in general to realize the seriousness of the situation.

"It appears that there are still some among them who, because they have not thus far been annoyed nor disturbed in their business, in their pleasures, in their customs, nor even in their judgment of the war, have rocked themselves to sleep in the belief that 'it will not get so bad. Only the pessimists, the fearful souls, talk as if any danger menaced the German subjects here.' A great deal of such idle chatter is heard. * * *

"Any attempt to hold up the munition industry of the United States and its allies today through pro-German propaganda is so childish, so silly, that it makes a person's brain stand still to see that yet today 'German propaganda' finds the means to do it. All these propagandists will, and must, be made harmless. Not only in the interest of the United States, but also in

BAR PEACE SPEECH IN THE REICHSTAG BY CHANCELLOR

SURPRISE TO SOCIALISTS

Had Expected Frank Discussion of War Aims—House Adjourns for a Week.

KAEMPF ATTACKS WILSON

Rome Hears That Germany Has Secretly Reassured the Vatican on Peace Terms.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 27.—Chancellor Michaelis, it is learned here, suddenly abandoned his intention of speaking plainly before the Reichstag on peace. This has amazed the members of the majority parties, who apparently fully believed that he intended to discuss frankly the future of Belgium and other German war aims at Wednesday's session.

The Berliner Tageblatt, whose editor, Theodor Wolff, asserted on Monday that it was improbable Michaelis would really say anything important, says the Chancellor changed his mind at the very last moment, deciding to speak only in the Grand Committee of the Reichstag, which, the paper says, means that his remarks will be kept secret.

These sudden changes of intention by the Chancellor are becoming striking. It is recalled here that the text of the note to the Pope was revised and severely cut, according to various well-informed German statements, at a Cabinet council held at the last moment.

Michaelis's change of intention regarding the contemplated speech to the Reichstag was also the result, it appears, of a council of Secretaries of State and "some military personages." The National Liberal resolution of Sunday taking a Pan German stand may be significant of the same change of Governmental opinion.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 27.—Dr. Kaempf, President of the Reichstag, in a speech concerning President Wilson's reply to the Pope, according to a dispatch from Berlin, said:

"He who tries to drive a wedge between the Kaiser and the people bites on granite, owing to the common sense of the German people. We read in President Wilson's note to the Pope the word 'humanity.' Are we to believe the words of a man who had the power to preserve hundreds and thousands of lives by preventing the export of munitions and war material from America to the Entente?

"Can that man boast of humanity who, apart from the munition supplies, prolonged the war by his unneutral attitude before America declared war and who supported England's war of starvation against German women and children?"

The Reichstag, at its plenary sitting on Wednesday, discussed the order of the day, after which it adjourned until Oct. 3, when the second reading of the bill to reestablish the German mercantile fleet and the supplementary budget will be discussed. In the meantime the committees will continue their work. It is hoped to end the present session by Oct. 10.

GERMANY ENCOURAGES POPE?

Gives Assurance, It Is Reported, That Reply Was Tactical.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Sept. 27.—As time elapses since the reception of the replies of the Central Empires to the Papal peace note, hope at the Vatican augments that the Papal initiative will finally have satisfactory results.

It is understood that important forces are working to this end in Germany, which gave assurances to the Holy See that there was no need to be alarmed by Germany's appearance of not yielding, as this was necessary in order not to give the Allies the impression that they could augment their claims.

APPEAL FOR GERMAN LOAN.

Berlin Magistrates Attack President Wilson in Plea.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 27.—A full-page advertisement in Berlin newspapers, signed by the Chief Magistrates of Greater Berlin and appealing for subscriptions to the war loan, says, among other things:

"Lately President Wilson has been hypocritically preaching the democratization of Germany by grace of the Entente and has attempted to sow discord among the German people and to drive it through inner dissension to foolish self-destruction. This must not be. Our firm purpose remains to hold out and win an honorable peace, insuring the Fatherland's future weal."

REPORT GERMANS HIDE MESSAGES IN LAUNDRY

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 27.—The latest means of communication between the German Legation in Mexico City and New York, it is said, is soiled laundry.

Women travelers proceeding from Mexico to the United States, to whom the laundry is given, are requested, it is reported, to send it to a certain address in New York.

It is inferred that these pieces of linen carry messages written in sympathetic ink. Some of them, it is also said, bear telegraphic symbols beneath embroidery, which conceals the dots and dashes.

It is reported, but unconfirmed, that this plan originated with Captain Heintsche, who came to the United States as a member of the ship's company of the submarine Deutschland and made his way into Mexico.

HAIG BEATS BACK 7 FIERCE ASSAULTS

HAS TAKEN 1,614 PRISONERS

Intense Aerial Activity Results in the Loss of 15 German and 13 British Machines.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Despite seven powerful counterattacks launched by the Germans yesterday afternoon and evening against the ground conquered yesterday by the British troops east of Ypres, Field Marshal Haig's forces are still in possession of their gains, and their assailants again have suffered heavy losses. The number of prisoners taken by the British in their latest offensive has reached 1,614, including 48 officers. The British casualties are reported to have been light.

In the course of Wednesday's fighting large numbers of British airplanes aided the infantrymen, attacking the Germans from low altitudes with great effect. The German airmen put up strong opposition, and as a result the casualties among the fliers were high. Fifteen German machines were accounted for, but thirteen of the British planes failed to return to their base.

Telegraphing from the British front in France and Belgium, The Associated Press correspondent says:

"Hard fighting occurred during the night at various points along the Ypres battle front as a result of heavy German counterattacks on positions wrested from the enemy yesterday, but this morning found the situation virtually unchanged. Furious enemy assaults, which continued throughout yesterday and last night, were dealt with successfully, and the British today were maintaining their new lines.

"The main battle this morning was in the neighborhood of a position known as Cameron House, which lies just south of the eastern extremity of Polygon Wood. A severe and continuous struggle has been proceeding here, and when last heard from the Australians were pressing the dogged Germans hard.

"Counterattacks against the Australian front east of Polygon Wood during the night were hurled back after hard fighting.

"Yesterday afternoon the Germans launched a pretentious counter-drive against the British line between Tower Hamlets and Polygon Wood. A sanguinary struggle ensued, especially north of Menin Road, but the Germans were gradually forced to withdraw after suffering heavy losses.

"Northwest of Zonnebeke heavy fighting still continues in the region of an elevation known as Hill 40, which dominates a considerable amount of the surrounding ground.

"East and a little northeast of St. Julien the Germans made two heavy counterattacks against redoubt positions which the British had captured yesterday morning. A very determined assault in the neighborhood of Boetleer Farm, east of St. Julien, was driven off. North of this place the Germans succeeded in regaining two redoubts. Subsequently the British countered in return and forced them from one of these, leaving the other still in enemy hands.

"The ridge over which the fighting is now in progress is virtually all that separates the Allies from the plains of Flanders. Although the official German communications lately have been claiming British defeats, or discounting the advances made, the deperate resistance of the Germans is an indication of the vital significance of the recent allied gains. German officers taken prisoners admit the seriousness of the situation for their country."

Tonight's official report from British headquarters says:

After all our objectives had been gained yesterday seven powerful hostile counterattacks were made during the afternoon and evening. All were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy.

The total number of prisoners captured in yesterday's offensive operation was 1,614, including 48 officers. Our casualties were again light.

On the battle front today we improved our positions slightly south of Polygon Wood. There has been considerable artillery activity on both sides at intervals throughout the day.

Air Combats at Low Altitudes.

The weather was misty Wednesday morning and later the day was overcast, with a strong west wind. In spite of this our airplanes were extremely active in co-operation with the artillery and infantry in the battle area.

The enemy's troops on the fighting line and his reserves in the rear were harassed with machine gun fire throughout the day. Some 30,000 rounds were fired from altitudes of 100 feet and upward, and many parties of German infantry were dispersed with casualties. On one occasion three of the enemy's guns were fired on while moving. The teams of two of the guns bolted, and the third gun was overturned.

Strong opposition was encountered from the enemy's fighting machines, and a very large number of combats occurred at low altitudes. Heavy casualties on both sides resulted, owing to the difficulty of regaining control of damaged machines when flying near the ground.

The weather prevented any extensive bombing operations during the daytime, but at night over two tons of bombs were dropped on the enemy's reserves near the battle front.

Seven hostile machines were downed in air fighting, three were driven down out of control, and five others were downed by infantry fire. Thirteen of our machines are missing.

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

Later accounts show the enemy spared no effort to regain important ground captured by us. The fighting on the battle front yesterday afternoon and evening was exceedingly severe. Between 4 and 7 P. M. four separate counterattacks were made in great strength against our new front from Tower Hamlets to the St. Julien-Gravenstafel road.

The struggle was the most severe in the area south of Polygon Wood, where English, Scottish, Welsh, and Australian troops defeated repeated attempts of the enemy to break into our positions. The enemy's attacks all were repulsed after fierce fighting in which the German losses from our artillery and infantry fire were extremely heavy.

Later in the evening the fighting gradually died down, leaving our troops in possession of the ground they had captured during the day.

BERLIN BELITTLES GAINS.

But British Report Says Ludendorff Distorts Facts of Ypres Fighting.

BERLIN, Sept. 27, (via London.)—Especially stubborn fighting occurred yesterday along the roads radiating from Lonnebeke westward, and, in the evening, fro possession of Gheluvelt, today's official report says. The village remained in possession of the Germans.

The communication reads:

The battle in Flanders yesterday raged uninterruptedly from early morning far into the night and continued until morning in minor engagements. The battle-tried Fourth Army again withstood the British assault. Troops belonging to every German province shared in the success of the day, which brought the enemy even less gain of territory than the battle of Sept. 20.

Drumfire of unprecedented intensity preceded the attacks. Behind a wall of dust and smoke the English infantry broke forward between Mangelaare [between six and seven miles north of Ypres] and Hollebeke, often accompanied by tanks. The enemy, assaulting repeatedly on both sides of Langemarck, was repulsed every time by our fire and in hand-to-hand fighting.

From the region to the east of St. Julien to the Menin-Ypres road the English succeeded in breaking into our defensive zone to a depth of one kilometer, where afterward bitter and varying battles took place throughout the day.

By shifting his massed artillery effect the enemy attempted to check the advance and interference of our reserves. The iron will of our regiments broke through the violence of the enemy's fire, and the enemy was driven back at many points in fresh assaults.

Especially stubborn fighting took place at the roads radiating from Zonnebeke westward yesterday and last evening for the possession of Gheluvelt. The village remained in our possession. Further south to the Comines-Ypres Canal, repeated assaults by the English broke down without results and with heavy losses. The enemy has not renewed his attack up to the present. At least twelve English divisions [120,000 men] have been employed at the front. They have not shaken the firmness of our defense.

On other sectors of the Flanders front and in Artois the artillery activity increased only temporarily.

The bombardment of Ostend Tuesday night, apart from the damage done to buildings, demanded sacrifices from the population, fourteen Belgians having been killed and twenty-five seriously wounded.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A British official statement was issued tonight with reference to statements contained in the German communication. It says:

Today's German official communiqué states that the British troops gained less territory on the 26th than on the 20th. This is perfectly true. The attacking troops gained all their objectives on both days, but the objectives set for the operations of yesterday were smaller than those for the 20th.

In sentences which are purposely misleading von Ludendorff describes the fighting near Zonnebeke and Gheluvelt. He omits to state that Zonnebeke was lost by the Germans, but emphasizes the retention of Gheluvelt, which was not one of the British objectives.

REPULSE TWO AISNE ATTACKS.

French Inflict Heavy Losses on Germans in Night Engagements.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Two German attacks on the Aisne front were repulsed by the French last night, the War Office announces. The Germans sustained heavy losses.

The text of the afternoon statement follows:

On the Aisne front the Germans were especially active early last evening and during the night. After a violent bombardment of our positions at Lesvaux-Merons, to the west of Cerny, the enemy attacked south of Arbre de Cerny, but was forced to return to his trenches after suffering heavy losses. A second attack launched this morning at Aube, between the Plateau des Casemates and the Californie Plateau, likewise was repulsed.

An operation carried out by us to the east of the farm of Froidmont enabled us to take prisoners.

Two enemy surprise attacks, one upon the right bank of the River Meuse, in the region of Beaumont, and the other in Alsace, in the region of the Linge, were completely repulsed.

There was nothing to report on the rest of the front.

There were intermittent artillery actions over the greater part of the front. The action was more spirited in the sector south of Ailles and north of Douaumont. An enemy surprise attack in the neighborhood of Beaumont, on the right bank of the Meuse, failed under our fire.

The Belgian communication issued today says:

The artillery has been quite active during the last two days. We carried out a bombardment in the night on the enemy communications and shelled several of his works and observatories. Our trench artillery ended to our advantage a bombing action north of Dixmude.

Yesterday, in co-operation with the French and British artillery, our batteries took to task several German batteries in the region of Dixmude. Today an enemy reconnoissance was repulsed with grenades north of Dixmude.

Our airplanes carry out their daily missions.

BERLIN, Sept. 27, (via London.)—The report from General Headquarters of the fighting on the French front says:

Army of the German Crown Prince—Northeast of Soissons, in the centre of the sectors of the Chemin des Dames, and on the eastern bank of the Meuse, the artillery activity has been lively. Only local forefield engagements developed.

Seventeen enemy airplanes were brought down yesterday.

AUSTRALIA IN THE VAN OF LATEST YPRES DRIVE

Anzacs Forced Their Way Beyond Polygon Wood in Forty-eight Hours of Fighting.

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS IN BELGIUM, Wednesday, Sept. 26, (delayed.)—During the last forty-eight hours there has been hard and prolonged fighting north and south of the Menin Road, and in spite of formidable counterattacks by the enemy, which began early yesterday morning and still continue, the British troops have made a successful advance in the neighborhood of Zonnebeke and southward beyond Polygon Wood race course, which now belongs to the Australians.

It is south of Cameron House and the rivulet called Reutelbeek that the enemy's pressure has been greatest, and where the battalions of the right of the Australians have had the hardest time, under incessant fire and attack since dawn yesterday; but on their right other British troops, also severely tried, have swept across the Tower Hamlets ridge in the direction of Gheluvelt.

It was fully expected that any new endeavors of the British to advance beyond the ground gained in the battle of Sept. 20 would be met with the fiercest opposition. The capture of Polygon Wood and Westhoek seriously lessened the value of Passchendaele Ridge, which strikes northward and forms the enemy's great defensive barrier, and it was certain that, in spite of the heavy losses he had already suffered in trying to get back that high ground above Inverness Copse, he would bring up all his available reserves to hinder further progress at all costs.

Reserves Rushed by Motor Buses.

For two days before yesterday he made no sign of movement in his lines and was kept quiet by the breakdown of all his previous counterattacks, which the British repulsed with most bloody losses to the enemy, so that their divisions were shattered and demoralized. The German command used that time to drag the broken units out of the line and to replace them or hurry up to their support the reserves who had been waiting in the rest areas behind. These men were rushed up by motor omnibus and railways to points where it was necessary to take to the roads and march to the assembly positions, ready for an immediate counterattack. Probably some of these positions were in Zandwoorde and Kruyseik, in the neighborhood of the southeast of Gheluvelt, others behind Passchendaele Ridge no doubt.

The British attack for this morning did not leave out of account the strength of resistance likely to be offered. The enemy showed signs of desperate anxiety to check the advance on the Polygon Wood line and the ground going south of it to Gheluvelt spur, and he made a great effort with massed artillery to smash up the organization behind the British lines, and by a series of thrusts to break the British front.

On Monday afternoon, increasing it to great intensity yesterday, he flung down his barrage fire in Glencorse Wood and Inverness Copse, fired large numbers of heavy long-range shells over Westhoek Ridge, Observatory Ridge, and Hooge, and concentrated most fiercely on the ground about Cameron House, Black Watch Corner, and Tower Hamlets.

At 6 o'clock yesterday morning, supported by this terrific fire, he launched his first attack on the British troops around Cameron House, and, owing to their losses, they were obliged to fall back some little way in order to reorganize for an assault to recapture their positions. These fought through some awful hours, and several of their units did heroic things to safeguard their lines, which for a time were threatened.

While they were fighting in this way, the Australians, on the high ground this side of Polygon Wood race track and the mound which is called the Butte, also had to repel some fierce attacks which opened on them soon after 8 o'clock in the morning. The enemy was unable to pierce their line, and fell back from this first attempt with great losses in dead and wounded. This attack was followed by a second thrust at midday, which met the same fate. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the Australians sent some men to help the troops on their right, who were passing through a greater ordeal, owing to the storm of fire over them and the continued pressure of the enemy's storm troops, who were persistent throughout the afternoon, in spite of the trails of dead left in their tracks.

Air Raids in Bright Moonlight.

It was a serious anxiety on the eve of a new battle, but it failed to frustrate the British attack. All the area through which the enemy was trying to bring up his troops was made hideous by artillery fire and the work of the Royal Flying Corps. It was a clear, moonlight night, with hardly a breath of air blowing, and all the countryside was made visible by the moon's rays which silvered the roofs of all the villages and made every road like a white tape. The British planes went out over the enemy's lines, laden with bombs, and patrolled up and down the tracks and made some thirty attacks upon the enemy's transport and his marching columns. All his lines of approach were kept under continual fire by guns of heavy calibre, and for miles around shells swept the points which marching men would have to pass, so that their way was hellish.

The British aircraft went out and flew very low and dropped bombs wherever the observers saw men moving through the luminous mists of night. Behind the British lines air patrols guarded the countryside. On the battlefield there was no unusual gunfire for several hours after dark. The guns on both sides kept up the usual night bombardment in slow, sullen strokes, but, at least on the Australian front, it was not until about 4:45 o'clock in the morning that the enemy opened a heavy barrage on Glencorse Wood. The Australian troops were already massed beyond that ground for the attack which was due soon.

On the north, up by Wurst Farm, on the lower slopes of Gravenstafel, the British soldiers were also waiting to "go over the bags," as they call it, against them. The German guns put over a heavy barrage, but that line of explosives failed to stop or check the assault.

Charging in a Thick Mist.

It was almost dark when the British went forward through a thick ground mist which was wet and clammy about them. Their artillery had opened before them the same monstrous line of barrage fire which they had followed on the 20th, and they went after it at a slow trudge, which gave them time to avoid the small craters and get over difficult ground without lagging behind.

That protecting storm, that violence of fire, was deadly and terrifying this morning, as on that other day. Through the mist the British saw the Germans running and falling, and many of them did not stay in the blockhouses, though it was almost certain death to come out into the open before the barrage passed. There were dead men in many of the shell craters before the British reached them, and others afterward. The British troops passed through clumps of ruin which once had been hamlets and farms. There was such a mess of brickwork and masonry at Aviation Farm, where the Germans were hiding in the concrete walls and fired machine guns and rifles for some time until the British troops closed in on them.

Something like 150 prisoners were taken in this section of the attack. One of them was a queer bird who belonged to the sea, that is to say, he had been a sailor on the Dresden and was in the battle of the Falkland Islands and off Coronel where he was picked up by a Swedish boat and taken back to Germany. To his disgust he was put in the Tenth Ersatz Division, and now, after his soldier life, wants to work in a British shipyard. He was surprised at the food given to him, and thought it was a bribe to get information from him, believing that England was agonizing with hunger.

About 150 prisoners were taken also by troops on the right of this sector belonging mostly to the Twenty-third Reserve Division, with some of the Third Guard. The British here attacked in the direction of Zonnebeke village and had some stiff fighting on their way to Windmill Cabaret and Hill 40, which seems to be the key to the position. Here they came against some of the blockhouses at Toronto Farm and Van Issecke Farm, but did not meet great trouble there. Some of the blockhouses have been so badly knocked by shellfire that the garrisons inside have been killed by concussion, and other men came out to surrender as soon as the British came near them.

Poles Glad to Surrender.

Near the village of Zonnebeke the fight was more serious, and the enemy's gunfire, which had not been very heavy on other ground of attack, smashed along the line of the railway embankment. The Australian advance across the race course of Polygon Wood and northward across the spur to below Zonnebeke Château was steady and successful.

There was a regular chain of blockhouses on the way; but there again the old black magic of the pill box failed. Men rallied inside them, many of them being Poles of the Forty-ninth Regiment, who hate the Prussians, and ask the British to kill as many as possible for their sake. Most of them were quick and glad to surrender. A platoon of them was taken in some wooden dugouts below the high mound of Polygon Wood—that old butte which is supposed to be the burial place of a prehistoric chief, although by the Australians it is believed to have been the observation post of Sir Douglas Haig in 1914.

The enemy's gunfire was heavy over part of the ground, and there were nests of machine guns along a road which gave some trouble, but in the main attack the losses of the Australians were not heavy up to the time they gained their last objective. It was the aircraft that brought back the first news of the Anzacs on the race course in Polygon Wood, and later that they had reached their furthest goal, where prisoners were surrendering freely.

On the left of their front the Australians were quiet, satisfied with their position. On the right they had a little anxiety because of the check to the troops south of them. At one time it was found advisable for the Australians to swing back their flank a little in order to avoid its exposure; but they are full of confidence and sure they can handle any counterattack which may be launched against them.

It has been a hard day for all the British forces, especially for those who bore the brunt of the enemy's fire, and I believe it will be counted as one of the biggest days of fighting in this war. Its decision is of vital importance to the enemy and to ourselves, and so far it is in our favor.

WILSON WANTS LIGHT ON ALL LABOR UNREST

Special Commission to Extend Its Tour to Every State Where There Is Industrial Trouble.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—In preparation for an inquiry into labor conditions in the West the special commission appointed by President Wilson and headed by William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, held its first meeting today and received its instructions from the President.

After the conference it was indicated that the commission which will leave Monday, expects to broaden the scope of its survey to include general labor unrest throughout the United States, rather than in the West only, and to recommend to the President a comprehensive policy of dealing with the situation as a war emergency.

Particular attention will be paid to the charges of organized labor that I. W. W. activities in many cases have been encouraged by corporations as a means of discrediting the extension of labor organization.

Besides Secretary Wilson, members of the commission are Verner Reed of Colorado, Colonel J. L. Spangler of Pennsylvania, a retired coal operator; John H. Walker, President of the Illinois Federation of Labor, and E. P. Marsh, President of the Washington State Labor Federation.

The Government's Shipbuilding Labor Adjustment Board will start Wednesday for Seattle to take up at first hand the Pacific Coast strike situation. The board will visit Portland and San Francisco. Its members are Everit Macy, E. F. Carriam, and A. J. Berres.

TERESTCHENKO QUITS RUSSIAN CABINET

LENINE REPORTED IN CITY

Despite Bolshevik Menace Provisional Government Continues to Promulgate Reforms.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 27.—The newspapers announce the resignation of M. I. Terestchenko, Minister of Foreign Affairs in the new Cabinet of five.

The Committee of Five, in temporary control of the Government, at its first meeting since the return of Premier Kerensky from the front, determined that the Premier and General Verkhovsky should appear before the Democratic Congress which convenes tomorrow. This action followed a four-hour session of the committee at the Winter Palace, at which the attitude of Premier Kerensky is said to have been substanitally this:

While the Government is not bound to recognize the Democratic Congress and is not conceding that it represents the greatest part of Russia, it is admitted that the Congress represents a large percentage of the people through elements which must be taken into consideration.

The Korniloff case is expected to figure prominently in the congress. General Alexieff, in an interview published by the Russky Slovce, said that the cause of his resignation as Chief of Staff was his dissatisfaction with the treatment of General Korniloff as a rebel. General Alexieff declared that Korniloff was not an adventurer, but a true patriot, who did not desire to reestablish discipline by terrorism, but by rational means. A military-revolutionary court of uneducated soldiers would not guarantee a fair trial.

Despite Alexieff's fears, the public does not believe Korniloff will be shot. The Rech calls the affair a "new Dreyfusiad."

A sensation has been created here by a report that Nikolai Lenine, the extremist leader, has reached the capital from Finland. It is said he intends to appear as the chief orator of the Bolsheviks at the Congress, which he is confident will defend him. The Minister of the Interior has ordered his arrest if he is found in Petrograd, but he is not to be taken into custody in the halls of the Democratic Congress.

The Bolsheviks continue to exert their influence over the representatives of the provincial councils of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates. The President of the Moscow Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates has resigned as a result of the adoption by the council of a resolution unfriendly to the Government. In yesterday's elections of representatives to the Congress from the Moscow Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates the Bolshevik candidates received the highest votes.

In the Petrograd Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates, the Bolshevik faction has forced through a list of extremist orders to the Congress. The Bolshevik orators have begun to accuse M. Tseretelli and other moderates of dickering with the bourgeois and have proceeded to introduce a resolution declaring that the Cabinet to be nominated by the Congress must not contain members of the bourgeois. They propose to place the following tasks upon the Cabinet:

Settle the Korniloff affair; reabolish capital punishment; strain efforts to attain peace; to summon as soon as possible the Constituent Assembly; to dissolve the Duma and the Council of the Empire; to transfer the land to the peasants immediately; to establish State control of production; to pass an eight-hour labor law; to change radically the command of the army.

The activity of the Government in promulgating reforms continues, notwithstanding the uncertainty of the situation. The Minister of Education has ordered that instruction be given in the local language in elementary schools of the Baltic provinces. The Prison Department has prepared a law providing for training of youthful culprits, instead of their imprisonment. A decree has been issued legalizing an easier form of oath for Karaite Jews.

The Finance Ministry has submitted a project for the long-awaited sugar monopoly, under which the State alone will import, export, and sell this commodity at home. Another decree establishes a general inspectorate of the oil industry, with headquarters at Baku and Grosnaya, in the Caucasus. The functions of the inspectorate will be economic, technical, and scientific. The inspectors will prospect for new oil deposits, regulate the general use of natural gas and electricity, and exercise compulsory powers over owners of oil fields.

General Tcheremissoff, the official news agency announces, has been appointed Commander in Chief on the northern front. General Volestchenko succeeds General Tcheremissoff as Commander in Chief on the southwestern front.

SAYS RUSSIAN ARMY DOESN'T WANT TO FIGHT

Returning American Asserts Nation Is in Chaos and Cabinet Is Helpless.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27.—An American who has spent ten years in European capitals and whose position compels him to take the viewpoint of an impartial observer, reached here today after six weeks in Petrograd and gives a pessimistic report of the fighting spirit in Russia and of political and industrial conditions there. He says:

"There is no fighting spirit except among the Cossacks and Caucasians, and that seems to be waning. A Caucasian Colonel said to me: 'There are no real fighters left in Russia except us, and we are not Russians, thank God, but Caucasians and Mohammedans!'

"The interior cities and villages are filled with Russian troops who refuse to go to the front. Young Russians of the better class are hunting the streets of Petrograd for men who are willing to become officers. Since the murder of officers by men has become a daily occurrence only the most fervent patriots will assume the risk of taking commissions.

"Newspapers in Helsingfors carry daily accounts of military deeds of violence and of the murder of officers and civilians by soldiers, often accompanied by robbery. The Government has not dared to do more than announce that these matters 'will be investigated carefully.'

"The Bolsheviks are gaining the upper hand in Petrograd and are increasing their strength in Moscow. I venture to predict their eventual supremacy. I know this means almost the elimination of Russia as a factor in the war and places new burdens on America.

"The Government's utter powerlessness was recently shown in connection with its exile of a number of 'dark forces.' The Bolsheviks took them from a train at Viborg, are now sending them back to Petrograd, and the Government does not care to insist that its deportation order be carried out.

"A factory near Nizhni-Novgorod manufacturing war materials and employing 15,000 hands has just closed because it has been impossible to meet the wage demands. Armed workmen terrorize the owners of factories, workmen's committees spend their whole time drafting wage schedules, and nobody may be hired or discharged without their consent. Laborers unloading wood from barges at Petrograd won in one day a strike for an increase of from 43 to 52 rubles daily.

"Conductors and porters on Finnish railways refuse to accept Russian money at any rate of exchange. I saw four one-ruble and three three-ruble notes bearing the same respective numbers."

GREAT ITALIAN ATTACK EXPECTED BY AUSTRIA

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Austrian counterattacks on the Italian front have all failed, according to a semi-official dispatch reaching Washington from Rome today. The message says that the present situation of the Italian offensive promises surprises and that the Italians have practically cleared the Bainsizza Plateau and are holding all the territory they have thus far gained.

"The present state of affairs on the Austro-Italian front," the message reads, "appears to be full of promises and surprises. The enemy, believing the supreme solution of the war can be expected only by fighting, is strengthening his defenses and accumulating great quantities of material desperately, and is doing everything possible to forestall a future Italian offensive, which is expected. The Italians have practically cleared the Bainsizza Plateau and are holding all the territory conquered. According to the statements of prisoners, it seems that the Austrians are quite discouraged.

"At present, the greatest activity is being displayed by Italian airplanes, which are scouting over the enemy's rear lines where the Austrian troops are resting, spreading fear and terror by their bombing operations."

Raids by Austrians Fail.

ROME, Sept. 27.—The Italian official communication issued today says:

On various sectors of the Trentino and Julian fronts enemy parties attempted to surprise our lookout posts, but everywhere were driven back. In the Marmolada region the enemy in exploding a mine tried to dislodge us from positions captured Friday night. The attempt failed. On the Carso Plateau increased activity on the part of the enemy's artillery was effectively countered.

Enemy railway plants at Grahovo and Dottogliano were attacked yesterday by our air squadrons, which dropped altogether five tons of bombs. The enemy's reaction was very lively. One of our machines which was brought down in an aerial combat over Asiago fell in flames inside our lines.

ATTEMPT TO RECAST SWEDISH CABINET

PRO-GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY

Lindman Likely to Go—Branting May Agree to Coalition, Though Socialists Are Barred.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27.—In accordance with the wishes of King Gustave, efforts are being made to form a coalition cabinet of decidedly Liberal coloring, or a temporary cabinet of Liberals and Conservatives, to prepare the budget for the opening of Parliament on Jan. 15.

The King has privately requested Oscar von Sydow, Minister of the Interior in the Hammarskjold Cabinet, to form a new Government, suggesting that the present War Minister, Colonel Akerman, remain in office, and that Eliel Loefgren, a prominent Liberal leader, be made Minister of Justice, and Captain Sten Dehlgren Minister of Marine. Professor Eden and Baron Adelswaerd also have been requested to join the new Cabinet, but do not approve a Government containing Conservatives. It is unlikely that the Socialist leader, Hjalmar Branting, or any other Socialist would join such a coalition.

M. von Sydow was known as a clever and industrious official during his tenure of office, and was persona grata to the Liberals and Socialists.

The resignation of the present Cabinet will not be announced until its successor is chosen.

Election returns from the Second Parliamentary Division in Stockholm show that four Socialists, one Liberal, and three Conservatives were elected. The composition of the new Second Chamber will be as follows: Socialists who are supporters of M. Branting, 86; Socialists of the Left, 12; Liberals, 62; Conservatives, 58; new peasant parties, 12. The supporters of Branting, who in the campaign strongly criticized the foreign policy of the Government, gained fourteen seats. The Liberals gained five, and the Conseratives lost twenty-eight.

Agrarians Help Conservatives.

Although the Liberals, with sixty-two seats, nominally take second place in the Riksdag, the Conservatives, with fifty-eight instead of eighty-six, which they had in the last Riksdag, may, owing to the support of two new agrarian parties, commanding twelve seats, be able to hold place as the second strongest party in the Chamber.

Approximately half a million votes were cast for, and quarter of a million against, the proposal for a democratic revision of the Constitution, abolishing plural voting in municipalites and giving the women the franchise.

An important result of the elections will be that the Left parties will have a majority in the Riksdag's joint committees. In the last Riksdag the seats were equally divided and as a result questions were constantly decided by drawing lots.

The Conservatives' loss in the popular vote, compared with 1914, was more than one-third of their total vote of that year.

LONDON, Sept. 27. — The dispatch from The Associated Press correspondent at Stockholm was the first news received here regarding King Gustave's plan for carrying on the Government in Sweden. Although the Liberals won the elections, the King desires to retain a Conservative Premier, and it is considered probable that Branting, the Socialist leader, will be willing to give the King's new scheme a fair trial.

Von Sydow is thought to be the best selection the King could make from the Conservative ranks and is regarded even by his political opponents as clear-minded and unbigoted. The retention in the War Office of the pro-German Colonel Akerman is thought here to be the only unsatisfactory side of the King's scheme.

The Foreign Minister, Admiral Lindman, whose office has been the chief target in the American revelations, is not mentioned in the dispatch, but his retirement is a certain prerequisite to the acceptance of posts by Dehlgren and Loefgren.

ITALIAN SOLDIER'S BRAVERY.

All Italy Talking About the Exploits of Daimondo Scintu.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 26.—"The soldiers of the Sassari Brigade can always walk proudly satisfied through life, conscious of their heroism and sublimely accomplished duty," said General Capello, commander of the Third Army, whose exploits in the last advance on Monte Santo and the Bainsizza Plateau are known all over the world.

Soldiers and officers wearing the colors of the Sassari Brigade are the cynosure of all eyes, and many people stop them to ask for details of their experiences. The public, therefore, takes great interest in the wonderful feats of the small, dark-eyed, hardy Daimondo Scintu, a Sardinian belonging to the Sassari Brigade, who in the offensive of last June covered himself with glory by rescuing a wounded companion under the deadly fire of the Austrian cannon. In the last advance Major Noeding, to capture a trench full of Austrians, selected Scintu and ten other soldiers. The Sardinian with cool audacity entered the trench, crying to his comrades, "Forward for the honor of Sardinia!" They took fifty-five Austrians, but the Austrian commander and his staff fought desperately and one of them wounded Scintu. This roused the latter's southern temper to white heat, and, after firing at his assailant, he sprang on him and finished him with the bayonet, after which he killed the other officers with a hand bomb.

Scintu is now lying in a camp hospital slowly recovering and impatient to return to the fighting line.

MARINES ON PROVOST DUTY

But It Is Believed That Sibert's Men Will Soon Be at the Front.

By The Associated Press.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Sept. 27.—The American marines who have been with Major Gen. Sibert's command have all been withdrawn and split up into provost guards in villages and cities of France, some going to England.

They still, hope, however, for service in the trenches, for they were among the most forward troops in grasping every detail of modern warfare.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The report of the separation of the marine regiment from Major Gen. Sibert's command was received here with some surprise, but it was not interpreted as meaning that the marines were not to see active service at the front, but rather that the need for their services in provost guard work was at this time more pressing.

There is said to be little doubt that a full brigade of marines will soon be at the front, and at that time it is virtually certain that it will have a place in a fighting division for trench duty.

Deputies Pass Appropriation Bill.

PARIS, Wednesday, Sept. 26, (delayed.)—The Chamber of Deputies tonight passed the appropriation bill for the last quarter of the year by a vote of 456 to 2. The bill calls for 12,150,000,000 francs.

The Mayor's Address.

"In the name of the people of the City of New York," said Mayor Mitchel, "I bid you welcome. To the salutation of the nation spoken at the Capitol by President Wilson, to the reception tendered you by each community of our broad land which you have honored by a visit, New York now adds her cordial greeting. The people of New York rejoice in this opportunity to honor you, the distinguished Commissioners sent us by Japan, and through you to offer the tribute of our respect and the assurance of our cordial regard to the mighty nation which you represent.

"You have traveled across our continent from the far Pacific Coast. You have seen the vast expanses of our country. You have visited our cities. You have met countless thousands of Americans. Everywhere you have experienced the warm friendship of America for Japan. Nowhere is that friendship stronger than here in the City of New York.

"Vast in size, complex in her activities, democratic in her institutions, progressive in her government, alert, prosperous, constructive, drawing her population from every race and country of the earth, intensely loyal to the ideals of America, patriotic to the core, New York is in herself an epitome of American life. In the expression of American opinion, New York speaks with authority and in the tones of six million citizens. The greeting and the welcome which are yours today, come from the hearts of the people of this mighty city and are spoken through us, their representatives, by six million Americans who hail Japan as a trusted friend, whose friendship has remained unbroken, as a valued ally embarked with us in a common, righteous cause.

"Gentlemen of Japan, permit me to present to you the representatives of the City Government, the members of the Board of Estimate, the governing body of the city; the President and members of the Board of Aldermen, the city's local Legislature; the Commissioners of the administrative departments, these distinguished guests who have come as a mark of their esteem for you, among whom are the Brigadier General commanding the Department of the East, the Rear Admiral commanding the United States Navy Yard, and many officers of the army and navy.

Esteem for Our Allies.

"Permit me also to present to you this great and representative committee of citizens, which I have appointed to greet you on behalf of all the people of New York. Here are represented the business, the commerce, the social life, the labor, and the learning of New York, all the elements of our population, all the factors of our progress and our life. They are here to evidence the esteem in which the people of New York hold the people of Japan, and you, their distinguished representatives.

"Gentlemen of the commission: Japan and the United States today are allies. Bound together by the ties of a common interest, inspired by a lofty ideal of international justice, actuated by the same purpose to secure for all nations, small and great, the opportunity to pursue their destiny and solve their own domestic problems under the genius of self-imposed institutions of government, Imperial Japan and democratic America are federated in the brotherhood of allied nations to make safe the world not alone for democracy, but for all peace-loving peoples, who, recognizing the sanctity of treaties, the authority of law, the principles of justice and of right, desire to live in amity with their neighbors, secure against the shocks of brutal force or the onslaughts of autocratic conquest.

"America, Sirs, rejoices in the progress and achievements of Japan. She looks back to the days of Perry, and reminds herself with keen satisfaction that her own enterprise, her own progress, her own science, crafts, and learning gave no small impetus to the marvelous development of your great nation. The progress and achievements of Japan have sprung from the labor and the genius of the people of Japan, but America, as the friend and admirer of Japan, prides herself that she contributed something of the inspiration that stimulated that effort and that genius to their marvelous accomplishment.

"Gentlemen of Japan, as allies we hail you. As historic friends we greet you. As brothers in arms we pledge you our co-operation in our common undertaking for the welfare of mankind.

"Out of this visit of your distinguished commission let there grow a still better understanding between our peoples, a warmer, deeper friendship, an unshakable determination that our friendship shall remain forever unbroken, firm and cordial."

A Tribute to Mayor Mitchel.

Mr. Mitchel introduced Judge Gary as the Chairman of the Citizens' Committee appointed to welcome the commission. Before beginning his prepared address Judge Gary Said:

"I am inspired to say, first, that we are proud of our Mayor"—and he got no further for more than a minute, while those in the chamber cheered. "All in all," continued Judge Gary, "the greatest Mayor New York has ever had." The applause again gave full evidence of unanimous assent.

Addressing the commission, the speaker extended "a hearty and a cordial welcome," and, in the name of the city, tendered "a hospitality unlimited so far as disposition and desire control."

"We salute this commission," said Judge Gary, "as typical representatives of a mighty empire whose abiding goodwill and whose co-operation in every worthy cause of mutual concern we desire."

The speaker then deplored present "distressing international conditions" and spoke of the love of peace that ruled in both America and Japan. "Your countrymen and ours," he said, "are alike in respect to their love of peace, their abhorrence of war. They would endure much and they would suffer long before they would enter the arena of military conflict. But those who are possessed of this character and inclination are the most terrible when driven to the point of battle in defense of life, property, honor, or other sacred right. When fully aroused to the necessity of physical combat they are superlatively stubborn, vigorous, and effective.

"Germany proclaims that she is fighting for her life. This is true only in the sense that a bandit is fighting for his life when suddenly overtaken in the attempt to appropriate the property and destroy the life of a law-abiding citizen."

At this point a tumult of applause interrupted Judge Gary, who, when he could go on, discussed the activities of Japan and the United States in the war.

Judge Gary said that the nation was united behind the President, and added that those who were not loyal now would be for all time "throughout the land the objects of pity and contempt."

Presents Viscount Ishii.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen," said the Mayor when the room was quiet, "I have the honor to present to you the eminent statesman whom Japan has sent to head this commission, his Excellency Viscount Ishii, Ambassador Plenipotentiary and Extraordinary on Special Mission."

The Viscount is an orator of the first quality. His English was clear and precise and his tones were rich in feeling as he spoke. "We are very proud indeed," said the Special Ambassador, "to receive such a welcome at the hands of the representatives and people of this great city. The warmth and generosity of this reception, and at such a time, gives me the right to go back to my people, half a world away, and tell them that space is nothing; that the prejudices and the barriers built up and thrown across the path are myths; that the road from the heart of the East to the heart of the West is clear, and that one of the most wonderful miracles of all the world and of all time has been accomplished within a bare half century.

"Science and invention have swept the word 'distance' away as a matter of little concern. We come to you and you to us in less time than half a century ago it took to travel from New York to New Orleans. Your greatness has been the marvel of the earth. The story of this fabulous island city of the Western Hemisphere has been almost impossible of belief. But, Sir, it is not your stupendous enterprise, your lofty and beautiful structures or your streets, which teem with evidence of skill and the very essence of vitality, that impress me most. All that is physical fades from before me and I see here the spirit of the greatest city of the Western world meeting and giving friends' greeting to the spirit of my beloved land on the open field of honest purpose There is perhaps more in this welcome and in this response than in other greetings so recently exchanged in this historic place between the representatives of Western nations and of your city.

Handclasp Always the Same.

"We have passed through the Golden Gate out yonder on your Western shores to find a great American welcome.

"In half a dozen cities and in every home our welcome has been the same—hearty, kindly, and sincere.

"And now we have come through your Eastern gateway, and we find the handclasp is the same; the welcome just as hearty, and the pledges for a better future even more encouraging.

"Your great Goddess of Liberty has given us the challenge and has passed us as friends. And now the city of our dreams, which has trained our youngsters into students and scientists or taught our men the wonders of finance and trade; the city which today is the very core of the created world, has paused for a precious hour to welcome us and do us honor.

"Sir, we are very proud and deeply conscious of the meaning of this reception and this welcome. We shall use the freedom you have given us with care, and we shall hope to hold its rights and privileges always to commemorate this day of great rejoicing and of vast importance in the history of our two nations.

"You, Sir, and the people of your city, have our most sincere congratulations upon your wonderful achievements, and our deepest gratitude for this reception."

From the City Hall the procession of automobiles proceeded between unbroken masses of cheering people to Washington Square, where the Wanamaker battalion of women, armed for battle, stood at attention. A brief stop was made while Colonel Ernest presented Viscount Ishii and Ambassador Sato with medals of the Order of the Bronz Star and flags of the nation and city.

A Gorgeous Fifth Avenue.

Seldom, if ever, has Fifth Avenue been so gorgeously arrayed as yesterday. The possibilities of the Japanese flag as a decoration had been employed fully, and the scene amazed even New Yorkers, accustomed to the best in street adornment. A great Japanese flag, with red rays radiating from the flaming disk in the centre, covered one side of the arch, and the official flag of Japan hung over the avenue at every cross-street. Replacing the regular street lamp globes were triangular frames bearing the flags of Japan, of the United States, and of the City of New York. The mass of Japanese flags waved by those packing the sidewalks gave the illusion of a field of gracefully swaying red flowers.

But the centre of attraction in the avenue, despite all of this wonder of scenery, was the camp-hardened members of New York's own Sixty-ninth Regiment, now dubbed the 165th. The men were lined up on the east side of the avenue from Twentieth Street to Thirty-fourth, standing rigid at "present arms" as the commission passed. The members of the commission were impressed by the "Sixty-ninth," and commented to each other and those accompanying them upon the appearance of the men. As Viscount Ishii stood beside the Mayor in the reviewing stand at the Union League Club while the regiment marched by, he turned to Mr. Mitchel and said: "Fine men, fine men. They are real slodiers. They can fight."

The regiment came from Camp Mills for its part in the day's program and returned to camp last night.

From the Union League Club, where Charles Evans Hughes, Lord Aberdeen, and members of the Mayor's Committee were among those on the reviewing stand, the commission went to the home of Judge Gary, at Fifth Avenue and Sixty-seventh Street, which will be their residence while in the city. Before leaving the club Viscount Ishii told reporters that he had been impressed by the sincerity of the popular greeting, and repeated his praise of the men of the "Sixty-ninth."

Twenty guests, including Governor Whitman and Mayor Mitchel, met the mission at dinner at the home of Judge Gary last night. After dinner there was a reception for about 200 persons and a musicale.

The commission will visit points of interest in the city this morning before being the guests of the Chamber of Commerce at luncheon. In the afternoon they will go on a boat tour around Manhattan, which will end with a visit to Grant's Tomb. They will attend a reception by the Japan Society in the evening. On Saturday the commission will go to West Point, returning to the city for the Mayor's official banquet at the Waldorf in the evening. Oswald Garrison Villard will give a dinner in their honor at the Hotel St. Regis on Monday evening.

British Noncoms in France Are Pleased with the Aptness of Their Pupils.

IMPRESSED BY MODESTY

By The Associated Press.

AMERICAN TRAINING CAMP IN FRANCE, Sept. 27.—The Paris correspondent of Reuter's Ltd., writes the following account of his recent visit to the training camp of the American Expeditionary Force:

"I asked an English drill Sergeant, who had just given a bunch of sixteen American subalterns a breathing spell after some particularly strenuous exercises, what he thought of his charges.

"'What do I think of these 'ere young gentlemen, Sir? Why, Sir, we've just had 'em in six days, and look at 'em! They're training on beautiful.

"'The best thing about 'em, Sir,' he went on with professional pride, 'is that they're as keen as mustard. We can't give 'em too much. They eat it up. At it eight hours a day and ask for more, and you could see for yourself, Sir, 'ow we made 'em 'ustle. Just lettin' 'em see, Sir, 'ow we do it in our little army.'

"I was on a visit to one of several camps somewhere in France where the American army is in training. After luncheon with the division commander, a simple but ample meal, with a water washdown—as I am told it is in every mess—he invited me to come with him 'to see how your English Sergeant Major takes my aid over there and the rest of the school of officers and makes them run around.'

"'Yes,' said an alert young officer, 'come see me sweat. The drill we get has baseball skinned at the post as an exercise, but it is great stuff.'

Charge a Trench with a College Yell.

"We stood later on a smiling hillside while the General pointed out where there had been constructed in a dip three more short lines of trenches, ending at a rise some hundred yards off.

"'Those points you see in the sun on the opposite slope,' he said, 'are tin cans on sticks. You will know their use in a minute or two.'

"'Ready, gentlemen,' said the drill Sergeant. 'Prepare for trench bayonet practice by half sections. You're to take these three lines of trenches, lay out every Boche in the lot, and then get to cover and fire six rounds at them 'ere tin 'ats. Don't waste a shot, gentlemen; every bullet a Boche. Now, then, ready! Over the top and give 'em 'ell right in the stomach! Fritz likes his victuals, but not that sort. Get at 'em!

"Over the top they went with what must have been some wild college yell. They ran some ten yards and dug their bayonets savagely into dummy Germans made of sacks who swung in the wind to meet them, and disappeared in the first trench. We could see the rifle butts lift and fall as they lunged desperately at the supposed foe. Then up they came and on again until we could see them spread-eagled behind a shallow trench, blazing away at the cans which rattled down. Then, as they marched back, the second section got ready to begin its stunt.

"'To ease 'em up a bit between real work,' the Sergeant explained, 'we give 'em games, but each of these 'ere games is meant to teach 'em something. We let 'em laugh and joke, but they must keep their minds on the game or we tell 'em a thing.'

"So they played a game designed to teach concentration of thought on the exact words of command. The Sergeant began:

"'When I begin a command with the words "O'Grady says," you obey it. When I don't, you stand stiff. Now, ready! O'Grady says eyes right! O'Grady says left turn! Front!

"'There you are, four of you gone to sleep! Get back and touch the post in that wire fencing behind you and then keep your ears skinned for O'Grady.'

"It was a merry game, but behind all its fun and laughter one could see its serious purpose, and the fine young fellows who played it knew it better than we.

Clearing Trenches with Bayonets.

"Afterward we watched what was an extremely interesting bit of training. A section of a communicating trench had been prepared with side pockets, so to speak, at intervals of five yards or so. In each of these was supposed to be one or more Germans, represented by a sack. The object lesson was to teach these young officers, so that they might afterward teach their men the best manner in which to take the occupants of such a trench by surprise with bayonet in hand and to clean it up.

"'Now remember, gentlemen,' said the drillmaster, 'there's a Fritz in each one of these 'ere cubby holes, and 'e's no dub, is Fritz. 'E's got ears all down his back. We taught 'em that trick, so see that your feet are pneumatic, and, for 'eaven's sake, don't sneeze, or his nibs will sling you a bomb like winkin'; and there'll be a narsty mess.

"'Ready, No. 1. 'Ead down, bayonet up. It's no use sticking out your neck to try to get a sight of Fritz in his 'ole. Why, if old Fritz was there 'e'd just down your point, and where'd you be? Why, a blinkin' casualty, and don't you forget it. Ready again. Bayonet up. Now you see 'em. Quick down with the point and at 'em. Tickle 'is gizzard! Not so bad, but I bet you wakened 'is nibs in the next 'ole. You see, when you pulled your bayonet out of this little Mary, you 'it the butt of your gun against the opposite side of the trench. That's fatal. Keep in mind you're fightin' for your life. Clean and quiet killin' is the word.'

"It was good to see the earnest way in which these young Americans got down to their work. They are all right, these lads, and when they get their chance they will show it.

"'Good progress for a week, Sir, ain't it?' asked the Sergeant, with pride, before he left. 'They've come from a fightin' stock, these young gentlemen, and God help the Boches when they get goin'.'

Impressed by Americans' Modesty.

"The last supreme impress which the visit made upon me was that of the immense seriousness and modesty of officers and men in the face of their task. We heard in France, as you doubtless have heard in England, that the Americans had come over boasting they had come to finish a job too big for us. I have still to come across such an American. I am convinced that the tales are a myth.

"These men had left their homes, their business, and their amusement, and come 3,000 miles for what? For some silly schoolboy idea of bravado and bounce? They are not fools, and the Boches will know it when they get to work. When all the weary fighting is over and done with, it will be that the two great Anglo-Saxon races will become sword and blood brothers for all time."

What are technically known as battalion problems are just now engaging the attention of the more advanced units of American troops training here for eventual work in the trenches.

Within a division the battalion is the really important fighting unit, and thus battalion problems are the basis for all that follows. The problems now engaging the battalions are those met in ordinary routine trench warfare. The Americans are working them out alone, but listening to criticisms afterward from both British and French officers.

BENNETT MAJORITY FORCES A CHANGE

however, the Bennett lead continued to rise. Then, as a forlorn hope, the Mitchel forces pointed to what might happen in Richmond, where Bennett also ran far ahead of Mitchel, but even Richmond went back on the Mitchel watchers. The examiners worked in three shifts yesterday and made much more rapid progress. It was expected last night that all the districts would be completed some time today.

The remarkable gains made by Mr. Bennett in the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, and Nineteenth Manhattan Districts upset all expectations and really proved the death blow to the Mitchel hopes. In the Seventeenth Assembly District alone Mr. Bennett gained 156 votes and in the Eighteenth District 130. In the Twenty-third Assembly District of Manhattan Mr. Bennett made a total gain of 626 votes. He then led his antagonist by 332. When the attention of Abram S. Gilbert, counsel for Mayor Mitchel at the inspection, was called to the many discrepancies found he said:

"When this inspection is over I shall present all the evidence of fraud that has been called to my attention to the proper criminal authorities for such investigation and action as may be proper. There is no justification for the charges of fraud at the primaries. The statutes making the boards on primary day bipartisan were intended to avoid such partisan enthusiasm as would lead to fraud. That is my reply to the suggestion that the discrepancies could not have been mere errors, but were false certification. If there were any frauds, Tammany Hall inspectors must, of necessity, have been a party to them."

Denial by Tammany.

Tammany officials promptly denied that their inspectors could have been a party to fraudulent counting. It was pointed out that at all primaries, the Republican and Tammany inspectors do not work together, but that the inspectors for each party examine only their own party ballots. They said it would have been easy under this system for the Republican inspectors to make any changes they desired, as there were no watchers, unless put there by Mr. Bennett. The Bennett supporters declared they had no watchers at the polling places as they trusted to the honesty of the Republican inspectors.

After the Manhattan ballots had been inspected, Mr. Bennett made this comment:

"Abraham Gilbert, counsel for Mayor Mitchel, was in my office on Monday, both in the forenoon and afternoon, and while we were agreeing upon a form of order in relation to the present inspection of ballots he agreed that if the inspection of ballots showed my election he would not oppose my application for an order declaring me to be the Republican nominee. He said he would consent to such an order and would do all in his power to facilitate any further proceedings that might be decided upon. Mr. Gilbert and myself have been friends for twenty years, and I have confidence in his integrity. I am not prepared to state at this time what action I may take as a result of the present inspection of ballots."

Mayor Mitchel said that he also would do all he could to facilitate action favorable to Mr. Bennett if the result showed that his rival was in the lead. When shown Mr. Bennett's statement, the Mayor said:

"While I did not authorize any one to say that for me, if the inspection shows that Mr. Bennett is the primary nominee of the Republican Party I shall do all I can to obtain an order from the court for a recount of the ballots."

"The statement attributed to me by Senator Bennett today is correct," said Mr. Gilbert. "If this unofficial ballot review shows more votes cast for Mr. Bennett than for Mr. Mitchel, I shall so state and will facilitate any procedure he wishes to take in order to establish his rights. The future course of the Mayor in connection with running as a candidate of the City Party, I am not in a position to speak of because I am only representing him in these proceedings."

The City Party on Wednesday filed a petition putting Mr. Mitchel in the race on an independent ticket.

Even after the large gains for Bennett had been shown in the examination of the uptown Manhattan districts, Mayor Mitchel did not lose hope.

Mayor Means to Wait.

"I have an idea," said the Mayor, "that when the inspection of the ballots cast in Brooklyn starts, the trend is going to be the other way." Asked if he would stay in the Mayoralty race regardless of the outcome of the Republican primaries, the Mayor said:

"I asked for this official inspection because I want to know the actual results. That is the primary question just now, and until we do know them it is useless to discuss other things."

Additional court proceedings were begun yesterday by Mr. Bennett when his attorney, Theodore T. Baylor, applied to Supreme Court Justice Goff for an order staying the Board of Elections from certifying to the Secretary of State the name of the Republican candidate for Mayor on the official ballot. Justice Goff signed the order, but before doing so conferred with Mr. Gilbert and George P. Nicholson, counsel for the Board of Elections. It was stated that the board, without waiting for the result of the present inspection of ballots, had certified that Mayor Mitchel was the name of the Republican nominee. Mr. Bennett's counsel said the main reason for the application of the order was to prevent the Mayor's name being printed as the Republican candidate on the ballots to be sent to France for the soldiers. In his application to Justice Goff Mr. Bennett recited in detail the steps that had been taken in the examination proceedings, and declared:

"I wish to make the point clear, moreover, that the wiping out of my opponent's original apparent majority of 335 votes and the gradual piling up of a majority in my favor upon the inspection is caused solely by corrections in the count announced by the representative of the Board of Elections, and is not in any way made up of the hundreds of additional ballots which were counted in my opponent's favor, but which will, in my opinion, be declared void by the court because of erasures of crosses marked opposite my name and the writing in of crosses opposite my opponent's name."

It is expected that these ballots containing erasures will play an important part in any future fraud proceedings. So far between 800 and 900 such erased ballots have been found. They have not been counted in the votes changed in favor of Mr. Bennett, but have been put aside for the scrutiny of the court. When the examination began the watchers were struck at the number of ballots on which a cross opposite the name of Mr. Bennett had been erased and one put opposite the name of Mayor Mitchel. At first it was thought that this was due to an honest mistake on the part of the voters, but as the examination of the uptown ballots was continued the number of erasures mounted into the hundreds, and the Bennett forces declared that they could not be explained on the ground of mistakes having been made. They said it pointed conclusively to the work of inspectors who deliberately changed the ballots when the count was made on primary night.

Bennett's Lead Increased.

Mr. Bennett's lead was further increased when the Twentieth District was completed, giving him a gain of 29 votes. His own gain was 8, while the Mayor lost 21. In the Twenty-first District, the Mayor picked up one. In the Twenty-second Manhattan District, Bennett picked up 10 votes, making his lead 333. The last of the Manhattan Assembly Districts, the Twenty-third, showed a gain of 17 votes for Mitchel. This gave Bennett a total gain in Manhattan of 626 votes, making his lead over Mitchel 332.

In the Second Assembly District of the Bronx, Bennett had a net gain of 8 votes, with one election district missing. The Third District of the Bronx gave him 2 more. In the Fourth District he gained 1 vote. In the Sixth Bronx District his gain was 45 votes. Because three sets of clerks examined the ballots at the same time, the districts were not taken up in order. The first Richmond district to be examined was the Second Assembly, where Bennett gained 7 votes.

When the Brooklyn ballots were taken up and the First Assembly District there had shown a gain of 5 votes for Bennett with four election districts not counted, the Mitchel supporters became gloomy. In the Third Election District of the Third Assembly District the count showed 25 votes for Mitchel and none for Bennett. An examination of the ballots showed that 10 crosses which had been placed opposite Bennett's name had been erased and shifted to the Mitchel column. The Bennett gain in the entire Third Assembly District was 46. The Fourth Brooklyn Assembly District gave Bennett a gain of 9 with two election districts missing.

The Fifth Bronx Assembly District gave Bennett a gain of 5 votes. At midnight the First Assembly District of Queens had been computed, and it showed a net Mitchel gain of 3 votes. This reduced Mr. Bennett's total majority over Mitchel from 428 to 425. Mr. Bennett watched the counting until an early hour this morning.

HOW BENNETT GAINED VOTES.

Manhattan's 23 Assembly Districts Gave Him Lead of 248.

The results of the examination of the primary ballots while complete for tabulation purposes from the twenty-three Assembly Districts of Manhattan, were incomplete in the other boroughs. In order to push the examination as speedily as possible extra clerks were employed and the districts were handled in any order possible. As only complete, or practically complete, Assembly districts have been tabulated the total lead for Bennett does not include his gains in various election districts included in his total lead of 434. The following table shows changes in the vote so far as announced:

WON'T TAKE FORD'S PLANT.

Mayor of Cambridge Protested Because It Would Make Many Idle.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 27.—Mayor Wendell D. Rockwood announced today that the War Department had decided not to accept the Ford factory and assembling plant recently offered by Henry Ford for use here as a Quartermaster's Depot. Mayor Rockwood said he informed Secretary Baker in Washington yesterday that while the people of Cambridge were thoroughly patriotic and loyal, they thought it unwise to have the Government take over the plant, if it meant that hundreds of employes would be forced to seek work elsewhere.

The Department, the mayor said, expected to obtain a building suitable for its purposes in Boston.

the interest of the hundreds of thousands of industrious and peaceful 'enemy aliens,' whose future is constantly threatened by this handful of adventurers."

A petition asking for a writ of habeas corpus on behalf of Franz von Rintelen, the German naval officer, now serving a sentence in the Federal penitentiary for the part he played in the conspiracy which was hatched to tie up American munition plants by instigating strikes in them, was filed in the United States District Court yesterday. In the petition Rintelen, who was a former society leader of Berlin and one of the Crown Prince's most intimate friends, makes the claim that the offenses committed in this country were political, and that for that reason Great Britain, which ordered his erturn to this country for trial, had no right to turn him over to the United States authorities.

Judge C. M. Hough, before whom the writ was filed, made it returnable on Oct. 5 next.

FORGERY, SAYS ARCHIBALD.

Declares He Never Signed Receipt Found in von Igel Papers.

James F. J. Archibald sent the following letter yesterday to George Creel, Chairman of the Committee of Public Information at Washington:

Dear Sir: Referring to the publication by your committee of a receipt to which my name was attached, in various publications last Sunday, will you allow me to say that I have never signed any such receipt, and as a matter of fact the signature does not even remotely resemble my signature, although it was evidently an attempted copy of my handwriting, which is different from my signature.

May I also call to your attention the absolute injustice of the statements that have appeared in the public press that I have in any way allied myself with our enemies or that I have had any communications with them since the war began. Before the declaration of war I did all in my power to acquaint the American people with the true facts as I found them, as I thought it was their right to be apprised of these facts. I stated two years ago what the public knows now to be the facts, which were then withheld from our public. My lectures were invariably a definite plea for preparedness against what I then termed a menace to this country—the militarism of Europe. Since war was declared I have been heart and soul with our great struggle from every viewpoint, and I sincerely protest against the use of my name in the connection which it has been used simply because I had friendly relations with the Teutonic people long before our relations were broken, and I again state that the signature purported to be mine to this paper was never written by me, and it is absolutely a forgery, although not a clever one.

OFFER REWARDS FOR MISSING DRAFT MEN

WANTS THE PUBLIC TO AID

General Sherrill Says Some of Them May Have Failed to Respond Through Ignorance.

Roger B. Wood, in charge of the selective draft in New York City, acting under instructions from Adjt. Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, gave out last night the names of 347 New York City men who have been called to the colors and all of whom have failed to respond. These men are listed as "national army delinquents," and unless they can come forward with a legitimate explanation to account for their failure to report will be listed as deserters and dealt with as such. The Federal and State authorities request all citizens to aid in the apprehension of the men named in the list.

In making the list public Mr. Wood, on behalf of Adjt. Gen. Sherrill, issued the following statement:

"The men whose names are published herewith are men who failed to appear in response to the red card sent them by the various local boards calling them to military service.

"I have no doubt that many of them are now in the service of the United States, having been permitted to enlist in violation of the regulations prescribed to carry into effect the selective service law. Some doubtless failed to receive the red card. Others failed to respond through ignorance. A few, perhaps, are out of town attending to personal affairs. It may be that some did not appreciate the seriousness of the situation. A sufficient time has now elapsed, however, for all reasonable explanations.

"When apprehended these men will be turned over to the nearest military authorities, who will determine whether or not they are to be treated as deserters. All patriotic Americans are called upon to furnish information as to the present address of these men. All Federal, State, county, and municipal officers are directed to arrest these men on sight."

The list of delinquents follows:

MEN'S SHOE SHOP
OWES EVERYTHING TO QUALITY!

THE Franklin Simon Men's Shoe Shop was not created with the idea of making it the biggest in town. We had no idea beyond the simple proposition of making it a Shoe Shop of Quality. But greatness has overtaken us. We are conceded to have the fastest growing Men's Shoe Shop in New York. And Quality is the Cause. Quality Shoes, Quality Standards, Quality Selections, and the Quality Point of View which transfigures even a pair of shoes and lifts it above the dead level of commercialism.

FRANKLIN SIMON SHOES
Are like no other shoes you can buy!

WE design them ourselves. We even select the leathers. Nobody dictates our styles. That is one reason why Franklin Simon Shoes look like custom shoes—they are so original, so unlike other shoes, so distinctly, distinctively Ours that their very Exclusiveness gives them the appearance of a custom origin. And this was never so true as Now! This season's models in the Men's Shoe Shop are pre-eminently our finest achievement in Shoes.

CALL AMERICAN DYES EQUAL TO GERMANY'S

PROGRESS MADE RAPIDLY

Manufacturers Aiming at Greater Improvement in the Delicate and Fancy Shades.

Visitors at the National Exposition of Chemical Industries being held at the Grand Central Palace yesterday had an opportunity to gain an idea of the way in which the needs of the color-making industries of the United States have been met during the last year and a half. The exhibits of the various large manufacturing concerns demonstrated how this country had passed from a position of absolute dependence upon foreign sources of supply for both the intermediates and the finished dyestuffs to one of potential independence as regards both in less than eighteen months.

According to H. Gardner McKerrow, one of the manufacturers exhibiting at the exposition, when the war broke out there were five concerns engaged in the making of aniline dyestuffs in this country, and a mere handful of manufacturers of the crudes and intermediates. Today there are more than ninety manufacturers of crudes and intermediates, and about eighty manufacturers of artificial dyestuffs. Practically a full line of direct, acid, basic, and chrome colors are now being made in the United States, including all the fundamental blacks, blues, browns, yellows, greens, oranges, violets, for the textile industry, the Nigrosines and Bismarck browns for the leather trade, oil soluble colors for the paint and varnish and wood-staining trade, and many others for many industries in which colors are a requisite.

In point of quality American colors will, for the most part, compare well with the best imported colors. Both as regards brilliancy, fastness to washing and light, and general wearing qualities, the new styles are fully equal to the well known German type, as indeed there is no reason why they should not be, for the making of a dyestuff is, given the requisite intermediates of good quality, simply the following out of a fixed formula and the carrying out of certain prescribed successive steps.

The Industry Well Established.

The industry is well established and there is no longer any fear of a shortage of dyestuffs, or a shutting down of factories on account of an absence of colors, and the new fashions are showing as much variety and brilliance of shade as ever. It is true that some of the more delicate and fancy shades are not yet obtainable in American made dyes, and it may be some time before these are forthcoming, for the simple economic reason that they are used in comparatively small quantities and only by certain specialized industries, such as certain kinds of silk manufacture. Doubtless these specialized manufacturers feel themselves aggrieved because their needs are not among those which have been filled, and are inclined to say that all dyestuff manufacturers in this country are simply following one another like sheep and are all making the same things.

Dyestuff manufacturers, like all others engaged in undertakings which are primarily expected to be profitable, will naturally tend to produce those commodities which are in the most general demand and in the largest use. Whether our newest addition to the industrial accomplishments of the country continue to live and thrive after the war is over, and when, presumably, we shall meet with the desperate competition of interests which are struggling to save for themselves the remnants of trade life which have been left to them, depends on two things—a proper degree of protection against dumping and undervaluations of imports, and an earnest and patriotic co-operation on the part of our manufacturers and color users themselves.

There appears to be every probability that our present administration will fully appreciate the necessity of giving the new dyestuff industry an adequate degree of protection. We already have a duty of 30 per cent. ad valorem together with a specific duty of 5 cents per pound against dyestuffs and a duty of 15 per cent. ad valorem, and a specific duty of 2½ cents per pound against intermediates and crudes, and there is every probability that the specific duty in each case will be increased, probably to the degree proposed under the Hill bill wherein a specific duty was made 7½ cents per pound against dyestuffs and 5 cents per pound against intermediates. With this degree of protection the probability is that the danger of foreign dyestuffs of a cheaper kind, which are necessarily those which come into the largest and most general usage, entering our market except on a fair competitive basis with our own manufacturers would be obviated.

In addition to this there is already in effect a serviceable anti-dumping law which, if properly administered, will prevent foreign manufacturers from undervaluing their goods to a degree which would allow them to swamp this market with the cheaper blues, blacks and browns, while making up their margin of profit on the more expensive and complicated colors which are not as yet made in this country. This is a matter which can be fairly left to the good sense and business intelligence of our present Government, but it is only by the exercise of this sense and intelligence that we shall secure the new industry for the benefit of our manufacturers permanently against unfair and destructive foreign competition.

Dyes Are Now Exported.

Arthur D. Little of Boston said that roughly speaking 75 per cent. of the dyestuffs needed are made in this country, and of this three-quarters, some are made in such excess that a considerable export trade is carried on with friendly countries, especially England.

"Of others needed," Mr. Little said, "there is a shortage, and this is serious in such basic colors as magenta, Methylene, blue, auramine, methyl violet, and a few more. The prices of many of them are way up, which has lured into the business a number of minor concerns in which the art is lacking to secure adequate yields. Some also are under incomplete chemical control, and they fail to purify their materials properly. This is incidental to pressing need and hasty establishment which the whip of time will correct. On the other hand, the very highest praise should be awarded to the conscientious manufacturers who have strained every nerve to meet the country's needs, often at the expense of profit.

"We have then, three-quarters of the dyestuffs needed, some aplenty and others scarce. In regard to quality American-made dyes are the same as German dyes, only there are not so many of them. If some small makers are still short in their yields the loss is theirs. If they do not purify their materials enough the defect is more likely to be in shade than in fastness. This is a complete catalogue of the defects of American-made dyes and it does not apply to the products of the important makers. Nevertheless, dyers have been sorely put to it. They have had to use one material when they wanted another, and the substitutions have often been unhappy. They have also been compelled to relearn the art of using dyewoods for many purposes which are new to the present generation, and this is not to be learned in a day. The trouble, however, has principally come from the makeshift substitution of wrong materials for the right ones, because the right ones are lacking. The colors themselves are the standard articles whether made in Germany, France, Switzerland, England, or here. And missing and scarce products are coming upon the market as agreeable surprises at short intervals."

Chemists Help Railroads.

What a group of railroads in the South are doing with the aid of the chemist to develop industries in that section of the country was described by representatives of the transportation lines at a symposium held yesterday at the National Exposition of Chemical Industries in the Grand Central Palace. Most people, it was pointed out, think of a railroad only in the sense of a carrier of passengers and freight. While that might have been the old-time conception of a railroad's functions, such a view has been "scrapped" by the managers of the up-to-date twentieth century railroads.

This very recent development in American railroading was set forth in an address made during the symposium by C. H. Crawford, assistant to the President of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway. Mr. Crawford, after instancing specific cases in which his railroad had located industrial enterprises along its line, said:

"It might be wondered why a concern with but one product to sell, which, strictly speaking, is not competitive but is an essential—the absolute basis—of all industrial products, transportation should take the trouble, expend the money, and use up the time of part of its personnel to attend an exposition of this kind, but if you will look over the exhibit you will find that several railroads have done this. What is the reason?

"All railroads have at least two kinds of industries—those that 'just grow' and those that are planted. The first get there of their own accord, generally without the railroads' officials knowing or caring much about what was going on until their new neighbor began calling for cars; the second, the planted kind, often require nursing beyond the age when weaning is generally considered. These seem to me to be a middle ground, largely uninhabited, in matters of this kind which is much better for all concerned, and it is our firm belief, and I believe, gentlemen, it is that of all of the increasing number of railroads who are taking advantage of this great opportunity to show their wares, that those roads which pursue a broadminded and liberal policy toward the intelligent aiding of new enterprises to become substantially established are they whose securities will be the real investment of the future."

Members of the American Electrochemical Society, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, and the American Institute of Mining Engineers held a joint meeting at the Palace last night, at which there was a discussion of ferro alloys. These alloys have assumed unusual importance with the entrance of the United States into the European struggle, since they are used in nearly all branches of the munition business. The speakers were Dr. George K. Burgess of the United States Bureau of Mines; C. S. Newcomb, W. B. Driver, S. H. Bell, Dr. Colin G. Fink, and P. N. Moore.

Today's program at the exposition includes a meeting of the American Ceramic Society in the afternoon and a conference in the evening under the auspices of the New York Section of the American Chemical Society. Mrs. Oliver Harriman, who is co-operating with the Bureau of Foods and Drugs of the New York City Department of Health, will give a demonstration this evening at the bureau's booth of the economies to be derived from the dehydration of fruits, vegetables, and foods, both from the point of preservation and reduction in weight of commodities.

1,000,000 HOMELESS BY FLOOD IN CHINA

City of Tien-tsin Threatened With Destruction—Grand Canal's Banks Broken.

PEKING, Tuesday, Sept. 25, (delayed.)—The city of Tien-tsin is threatened with destruction by flood. The Chinese city and portions of all the foreign concessions are under water, which is rising rapidly and which covers the great plain to the southeast of Peking. It is estimated that 1,000,000 Chinese are homeless.

The railway embankment between Tien-tsin and Nanking has been cut to permit the escape of the water.

The Hoang-ho overflow has spread to the northward and has broken the Grand Canal at many places.

The mud walls protecting Tien-tsin are being strengthened under foreign supervision, but all the streams in Chi-li Province are feeding the flood seeking the sea, making the situation desperate.

TURKS VISIT HINDENBURG.

Enver Pasha, War Minister, and Staff at German Headquarters.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 27.—A Berlin dispatch says that Enver Pasha, Turkish War Minister, arrived at German Great Headquarters on Tuesday evening, accompanied by a large military suite. He conferred with Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General von Ludendorff on military and political questions and departed for Constantinople that evening.

AMERICAN MAKES GLASS LIKE JENA

Still Greater Improvements Have Led to Development of Glass Kitchenware.

MORE REAL ARTISTS NEEDED

By ELLWOOD HENDRICK.

A year or so ago in an interview published in THE TIMES I ventured the opinion that chemistry had not broken into society; that chemists sometimes tread its invisible doorsill, but that their doings were not a subject of general discourse among men and women in their hours of ease. That statement does not hold good today. Getting into society, if we may take the word of those who claim wisdom in this matter, is no easy task, but this thing chemistry has done, despite its ugly and bewildering language.

An exhibition like the present would have been impossible ten years ago, even if the apparatus and products had been at hand. An observer remarked the other day that "this is no real chemical show; there should be a big display of leather, all kinds of soaps, synthetic perfumery, and a great variety of lacquered goods." Ten years ago that is the only kind of a display that would have drawn, but the observer was wrong because today we have passed the kindergarten and object lesson stage of chemistry. Instead of great heaps of toilet soaps in fancy labels, there are the things the soapmaker wants to know about—marvelously designed and cast kettles, drying and distillation apparatus in which to conduct his process of splitting oils and fats to soap and glycerine, for pressing and molding his soaps, and for the recovery of his glycerine. It is not a scarehead exhibition, but rather an opportunity for enlightenment.

In referring to society I have not so much in mind a succession of tea parties and dinner dances as meetings of bank Directors and the discussion of men who direct affairs. I offer the subject of glassware in proof of my contention.

Ten years ago an improved laboratory glassware, made in this country, was offered on the market. Government tests showed it to be better than any imported. But chemists themselves were bluffed out of using it by the persuasive voice of the German agent. Circumstances over which we have had no control have demonstrated to us that a German accent is not of necessity the voice of truth, and yet there we sat, pop-eyed and open-mouthed in wonder and admiration, when they told us that Jena glass was "standard." Nobody would buy that American glass. But under the whip of necessity we buy it now and marvel at its merit. It really seems as though, compared with the German selling agent, the American commercial traveler was a shy and modest violet—a soul of whispers and blushes. In the meantime, still greater improvements have been made, and these have led to the development of glass kitchenware and baking dishes, which is a step forward in household practice. A metal dish or pan reflects the heat away from the sides, whereas a glass dish lets it through. Therefore, a glass dish saves both heat and time in baking.

I want to emphasize the fact that we Americans are very like other people and that while we are doing pretty well in chemistry, the old fogy is prevalent among us. When Ernest Solvay's ammonia process for making soda ash was established here the product was pure and white. For economical reasons they packed it in large containers. The imported soda ash, made by the Leblanc process, came in small containers, and it had a yellowish tinge. We (for the old fogies are as much part of us as are the clever ones) would not have it; we wanted that yellow stain and the small barrels because we were used to them. When they put a little yellow coloring matter into the soda and packed it in small barrels we began to buy. They do not have to do so any more, but the practice had to continue until a good many first-class funerals had taken place.

Coming back to a consideration of glassware and the products of sand and clay, the most intricate apparatus are shown; indeed, the cleverness of American craftsmen working under scientific control is something that strikes the observant eye far more effectively than a mountain of soap or a great display of fancy bottles. And yet, not only is the display of fancy and beautiful glassware and porcelain lacking, but the fact is we do not make it in any considerable volume. The materials for glass and porcelain are at hand, the chemistry to produce articles of infinite variety and beauty is available, but when it comes to obtaining, for instance, tableware of grace and loveliness, we are likely to find that which is most appealing is imported. Now, why is this?

The answer is simple—we haven't the skilled labor. But the reason why we have not the skilled labor is far from simple. Let us see, however, if we cannot make a guess at it. When a man achieves sufficient skill to make wares of exceptional beauty out of any materials he must have that quality of taste which recognizes the difference between that which is good and that which is not good; he must be enough of an artist to sense beauty when he has it before him. If he is only a hand in a factory, with more interest in his pay than in the quality of his work, he can turn out good, standard stuff, fair enough for anybody to use; but he will not, because he cannot, under the circumstances, make exceptional wares. To make these requires an artist, and the artist, with his discriminating taste, finds delight in the thing of beauty and distress in that which lacks it. He enjoys his work more than the ordinary worker and he suffers more over it. One day is not at all like another. In making glass or porcelain ware, for instance, he has more than a job; he has a profession. Just as the physician likes to succeed with a difficult case and is disappointed if his methods fail, so the artist worker gets nervous over his task, and has his good days and his bad ones. He wants good pay and he gets it, but he wants a great deal more. He wants to speak his own language, he wants to select his own friends, he wants to hear his good work praised for comfort's sake, and he wants friendly criticism from his fellow-craftsmen.

The chances are that he has never heard of sanitary plumbing, but it is still more likely that he tends a little flower garden and has a favorite spot of green grass where he occasionally lies down of a Summer afternoon. He may be especially fond of a local brew of beer or a vin du pays, both of which may injure his health, but it is impossible to persuade him that this is so. Now we have little potteries in this country that makes articles of surprising beauty, and they get $100 for an inkstand. This proves our poverty in beautiful wares because it shows how scarce they are. In vitrics and ceramics, so far as the artistic quality of our products is concerned, we are way behind France, Saxony, and Bohemia. Chemically and technically we have caught up with them. We shall meet them artistically when we learn how to deal with the artistic temperament. To the man with a sense of order and a love for organization, the artistic temperament offers problems to rack his very soul. Selah.

A noteworthy feature at the exhibition is the presence of many foreigners. They come from all over the world, excepting enemy lands, and a pleasant note is that they seem to come in a trustful spirit. Many are here for the first time, having formerly obtained their layouts and apparatus in Germany. They are very frank about their difficulties, and so far as I have observed they have been met in an equally frank and helpful spirit. They complain that the German plans were usually to make their raw materials transportable to Germany for refining and manufacture. They want to develop their manufacturing at home, and it looks very much as though American chemical engineers were helping them to do this very thing. And, after all, isn't this the right thing to do? Unless we can keep ahead of the game we do not deserve to be ahead of the game. And we couldn't turn that German trick of landing their raw materials over here if we tried.

25,000 OF RED CROSS TO MARCH THURSDAY

Demonstration in Fifth Avenue Will Include Representatives of All Branches of the Service.

Twenty-five thousand Red Cross workers, a majority of them nurses in white, gray, and field service uniforms, as well as prominent officials from Washington, will march down Fifth Avenue from Sixtieth Street to Washington Square on next Thursday, starting at noon, in what is planned to be the most impressive demonstration ever conducted by that organization.

Among those in line will be representatives of the War Council in Washington, of the nursing, supply, and military relief services, and members of Red Cross chapters, branches, and workrooms in various cities of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. Nurses mobilized for foreign service will be in the forefront of the line. Next will come a large detail of nurses wearing the slickers, sou'westers, and rubber boots used braving the wind, mud, and rain of the battlefronts, and after them the other units in their service uniforms of various colors, decorated with the red brassards. And finally behind these will march the nurses in rural district service.

ANTI-SUFFRAGE MEN UNITE.

Under Everett P. Wheeler Association Starts Fight Against Amendment.

To prosecute a vigorous campaign against the passage of the woman suffrage amendment which will be submitted to the people on Nov. 6, the Man Suffrage Association Opposed to Political Suffrage for Women, of which Everett P. Wheeler is Chairman, announced yesterday that it had opened headquarters at 37 West Thirty-ninth Street, Room 305.

The committee appointed to direct the State work is composed of the following members:

George W. Wickersham, Herbert L. Satterlee, Francis Lynde Stetson, Charles S. Fairchild, Walter C. Childs, Eugene Hawkins, Henry W. Hayden, Dr. Lucien Howe, Major Francis C. Landon, John G. Milburn, George W. Seligman, John C. Ten Eyck, Edmund R. Terry, Gilbert M. Tucker, Dr. Talcott Williams, and George D. Miller.

Stops Red Cross Raffle.

Sheriff Phineas S. Seaman has halted a raffle on the Mineola Fair Grounds for the benefit of the Red Cross. Fifty girls attired as Red Cross nurses were selling chances at from 1 cent to $3 each in a picture and were doing a rushing business when the Sheriff interfered. Fear that the Fair Association might lose its charter, which cost $4,000, influenced the action.

The Saving Of An Extra Profit

Means More Now Than At Any Previous Time

¶ New York Men should not overlook the fact that by buying direct from the producer they save the profit of the middleman. This is of paramount importance in the purchase of clothing—the majority of which is manufactured outside of Manhattan and retailed by merchants who subsist on second profits.

¶ There is only one profit on Saks clothes, the "rake-off" usually pocketed by the middleman going into the fabric and the tailoring. That is why Saks clothes are the most individual and most skilfully tailored ready-for-service garments for men in New York. They are copied everywhere, but equalled nowhere. Take a look at our present selections—the most comprehensive ever assembled under one roof.

THE woman, or man, who buys Walk-Over shoes regularly soon begins to accept their fit as a matter of course. Shoe-comfort is simply the utter absence of any thought of the feet.

Walk-Over
SHOES

As a rule women do not adopt an exclusive shoe store the way men do. The fact that the satisfaction given by Walk-Over shoes is strong enough to overcome woman's natural tendency to shop around is something to think about. Men and women, too, in great numbers never think about buying any other shoe but the Walk-Over.

DEAL IN MUNITIONS DENIED BY DUTCH

LANSING CLOSES INCIDENT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—A written denial that any "suspicious" relations existed between members of the Holland commission to the United States and German diplomatic representatives, who were in this country when the break in relations came between the United States and Germany, was presented to Secretary Lansing today by Chevalier W. L. F. C. van Rappard, the Netherlands Minister.

The denial is an outgrowth of the statement issued by the Committee on Public Information Saturday, exposing German intrigue as shown by the papers seized in the office of Wolf von Igel, the German agent in New York City. Among the von Igel papers was a telegram signed "Hatzfeldt," of the German Embassy, relating to 300,000 chests of cartridges and 200 tons of powder.

This message was declared by the Committee on Public Information to "indicate a suspicious and confidential relation between the Holland Commission and the German diplomatic officials accredited to this country." The statement also contained the assertion that "it has long been an open secret that Holland is merely a way station for shipments of contraband into Germany."

After the Dutch Minister had handed his denial to Secretary Lansing it was asserted at the State Department that the explanation seemed to be a very reasonable one. It was intimated that perhaps the wrong adjective had been used in the official exposé, as made public on Sunday morning. The State Department accepted the van Rappard statement as justifiable, leaving the Dutch agent without blame. The incident was believed to be closed with the delivery and acceptance of the Minister's statement, which read as follows:

"The attention of the Netherlands Legation has been called to the following paragraph of the official publications which appeared in the morning papers of Sunday, Sept. 23, regarding the so-called von Igel documents:

"'Here is official confirmation from the von Igel records which would seem to indicate a suspicious and confidential relation between the "Holland Commission" and the German diplomatic officials accredited to this country, or possibly a belief by the Germans that they could not successfully get the munitions to their own country. The message in code, with interlinear translation, is entered as "A-2493" and headed "German Embassy, Washington, D. C., April 16, 1916." It runs as follows:

"'"Telegram from Berlin by secret, roundabout way, for Carl Heynen: Consent sale Holland 300,000 chests (cartridges) and 200 tons powder. Please get in touch with Holland Commission. Sender, War Minister, Foreign Office, in representation. —— "(Signed) Hatzfeldt."'

"The legation fails to understand that the telegram as quoted above would warrant the conclusion drawn from it in the official comment that a 'suspicious and confidential relation between the Holland Commission and the German diplomatic officials' would seem indicated. In fact the only inference in consistence with the wording of the telegram appears to be that Carl Heynen, Treasurer of the American 'The Bridgeport Projectile Company', has been authorized by the German Embassy to sell to the purchasing agent of the Netherlands Army Department a certain amount of ammunition. There is no indication of—and there never has been—any relation whatever between the Dutch agent and any German diplomatic official, whereas the relation of the agent with Mr. Heynen pertains, according to the wording of the telegram, only to a possible contract of sale and purchase.

"The Legation feels no hesitancy to state that indeed at some time the possibility has been considered of the Dutch agent purchasing some of the goods, of which Mr. Heynen in his capacity of Treasurer of the American 'Bridgeport Projectile Company,' could rightfully dispose. As the Dutch agent buys exclusively on behalf of the Dutch military authorities in order to supply necessary equipment and ammunition for the Netherlands Army, the only point of consideration in this particular case was whether or no Mr. Heynen could technically and commercially satisfy the Dutch interests which the agent represents.

"As Mr. Heynen could make no satisfactory offer, no transaction was ever concluded. That the Bridgeport Projectile Company needed the consent of the German Embassy to sell ammunition might possibly be explained by the fact that the German Government in the first years of the war bought a great quantity of ammunition in the United States of America to prevent shipping of same to its enemies, and that the ammunition offered by Mr. Heynen to the Dutch military agent, but refused by the latter, belonged in fact to the German authorities.

"The Netherlands Legation trusts that the above discredits fully any inference which would cast suspicion upon the correct attitude of the Deutch agent, who was simply considering a normal and legitimate business proposition."

BOMB BELGIAN TOWNS AGAIN

British Naval Airmen Report Hits on Three Railroad Junctions.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—British seaplanes again dropped many tons of bombs on German military establishments in Belgium on Tuesday night. An official statement issued today by the Admiralty says:

"On Tuesday night our naval airplanes dropped many tons of bombs, making several direct hits, on the railroad lines at the Thourout junction, the Lichtervelde junction, and the Cortemarck junction. All our machines returned safely."

Captain Thierichens on Trial.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—Captain Max V. Thierichens, former commander of the German sea raider Prinz Eitel Friedrich, was placed on trial in the Federal District Court today charged with violating the Mann act by bringing a woman from Ithaca, N. Y., to Philadelphia for unlawful purposes. Thierichens is also under indictments charging him with smuggling dutiable chronometers from his ship and violating the postal laws in sending improper letters to school teacher in Saginaw, Mich.

IRISH CONVENTION RAISES HIGH HOPES

IMPORTANT STAGE REACHED

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Sept. 26, (Delayed.)—It is a remarkable thing, though perhaps few, even in Ireland, realize its historic significance, that, while humanity is writhing in the terrible agonies of a life and death struggle, in which Irishmen have taken and are taking their share, there should be in existence in Ireland today a representative body of her sons, the most representative for 300 years, endeavoring to carry out the dearest wishes of all friends of the empire in a happy solution of the time-worn Irish question. And it is an indisputable fact that the Irish Convention is Ireland's most valuable and most valued asset just now.

As Mr. Dillon said on Sunday in Bailieborough, County Cavan, it is not its present value so much that makes the convention a cherished asset as the advantages it will bring to the future.

There is no doubt now that all goes well in and with the convention. I am not, I think, infringing on any of the Defense of the Realm regulations when I say that a prominent delegate told me a day or two ago that his opinion of regretted pessimism of three weeks ago had given place to one of most cheery optimism. At the advanced, important, and encouraging stage which their deliberations have reached, these things naturally leak out, and every member of the one hundred or so who compose the convention tells a friend or two how the land lies, with the result that the feelings of optimism and hope that fill the hearts of the delegates themselves find an abode and favor with a great majority of the people. That this is so is evidenced by the remarkable change in the tone of the Sinn Fein and by signs, too, of a partial reaction in favor of constitutional action and of a constitutional party.

Dublin welcomed and received with cordiality and hospitality the Irish Convention. The Lord Mayor, civic head of the capital and himself a member, did the honors in a manner worthy of his office and of Dublin. In Belfast the sittings were as eagerly looked forward to. The Lord Mayor, as chief magistrate of the northern capital, welcomed his colleagues in princely fashion, and though an extreme section of the Ulster press thought fit to pour ridicule on it and discount its importance to Ireland, Ulster recognized the fact that the convention had advanced far on the road to success.

Here is an interesting incident. The Lord Mayor of Cork performs every fourth year an ancient ceremony known as throwing the dart, that is to say, in every fourth year the occupant of the city chair, surrounded by his colleagues in the Corporation, attended by his sword and mace bearers and accompanied by leading citizens to the number of several hundred, sails to a point outside Cork Harbor and casts into the sea, as far as he can, an arrow, thus indicating the limit of his jurisdiction as Admiral of the Port. Needless to state, his Lordship sumptuously entertains his guests on board and one of the pleasantest days in the city's life is spent. This time, today, the convention is numbered among the guests, and that great fact alone is typical of the genuineness and sincerity of the feelings of Irish people toward their history-making convention.

There is another interesting circumstance in connection with the convention's visit to Cork. The Members of Parliament for the city are William O'Brien and Maurice Healy, and of the seven county seats five are held by O'Brienites, including Timothy Healy, K. C., and it will be remembered that O'Brien, on behalf of his party, declined the Premier's invitation to take part in the convention. That is an interesting fact.

But since the arrival of the Sinn Fein as a fighting force, the old parties here have suffered in strength, the secessions from both being considerable and, as I believe, large numbers of O'Brienites, with moderate Sinn Feiners, who became Sinn Feiners by reason of their natural and just distrust of Government methods and promises, have learned to entertain hopes that the convention will solve the problem.

Accordingly, any opposition in the way of ill-feeling toward the convention because of that is considerably discounted.

TO USE MEN OF FIRST TO FILL UP SEVENTH

1,900 of Up-State Organization's Soldiers Will Be Enrolled in the Older Regiment.

4,000 DRAFTED MEN COMING

Special to The New York Times.

CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C., Sept. 27.—The First Infantry, an organization with companies in Middletown, Newburg, Kingston, and other cities of the Hudson River section of New York, has been selected as the regiment to supply the One Hundred and Seventh United States Infantry, the old Seventh, with the recruits it will need to reach the reorganized regimental strength of 3,600 enlisted men. It is estimated here that Colonel Boyer now has about 2,100 men in the First, and as the One Hundred and Seventh will take 1,900 of them, the present personnel of the First will be almost wiped out. The First is now en route to the camp.

When the change is effected, nearly 4,000 men selected in the draft will be ordered to report to Colonel Boyer. The "selectmen," as they are called at Wadsworth, together with the remnants of the depleted regiment, will be trained as the First Regiment at full war strength, and will be part of the Fifty-second Depot Brigade of the Divisional Reserve Squadron. All of the drafted men to be used in the Twenty-seventh Division will come from the same sections in the State that furnished the guardsmen.

Inasmuch as the camp accommodations are sufficient for one division only, it will be seen that no drafted men will report here until vacancies have been made by the departure of entire units.

According to the program of training, copies of which have been circulated among the officers of the commands now here, facilities are provided for sixteen weeks of intensive training in camp. It is asserted that the former guardsmen will enter the trenches with better preliminary rifle training than any troops now engaged in the war.

Convinced that efforts are being made to have the orders selecting the 107th as a first line regiment rescinded in favor of another Manhattan organization, the old Seventh, from the Colonel down, is working heart and soul to perfect itself in the new drills. Though the organization has been here only about ten days there has been a noticeable improvement.

The men were out on the bombing practice ground this morning before 6 o'clock. Each man received twenty-four bombs identical with the French weapons, except that they were not loaded, and instructed in how to "bowl" the missiles into a trench some fifty feet away. Tabulation was made of the individual record of each man, and at the end of the week the standings of the soldiers will be posted. In this way it is hoped to establish a rivalry that will stimulate progress. Men posted as poor shots will receive individual instructions.

The Second Infantry, which began to arrive shortly before midnight and finished at 2 o'clock this morning, put in the entire day moving luggage to its camp site and straightening things out. Following out the orders of reorganization, the following Reserve Second Lieutenants, some New York City graduates of Plattsburg, and some State graduates of Madison Barracks and Fort Niagara, have been temporarily detailed to the Second:

Bagley, Albert S.
Buchinor, Raymond J.
Deboer, Maurice.
Egbert, George P.

Parrish, Harry G.
Slee, James N.
Stern, Maurice J.
Strauss, Alden.
Trapnell, T. F.
Waite, Alan F.
Walsh, Preston F.
West, William L.
Williams, Isaac B.

When the Third Infantry, another first line organization, finishes its work of settling camp, probably on Saturday, these Reserve Second Lieutenants will report:

Barr, Ormond F.
Beeman, G. W.
Donlin, Philip E.
Gardner, Earl M.
Hamilton, Macauley.
Hill, Albert E.
Morrison, H. W.

Stern, Peter.
Sykes, E. S., Jr.
Van Scoy, L. B.
Walcott, Sidney S.
Warth, Henry J.
Wiggins, James C.
Wood, William H.

Andes, James C.
Beatty, Thomas E.
Curran, Cyril J.
Dow, Horace G.
Geis, W. H. J.
Helfer, Norman T.

HOLDS UP ALIEN DRAFT.

House Military Committee to Await Result of Diplomacy.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Objections to enactment of any alien draft legislation at present, voiced by Secretary Lansing yesterday before the House Military Affairs Committee, resulted today in a committee vote to indefinitely postpone action.

Chairman Dent said that the Secretary's statement that the State Department was negotiating with other counries to effect a result equivalent to enactment of "alien slacker" legislation, was largely responsible for the vote. These negotiations will be completed before a second draft call is issued.

Representative Burnett, Chairman of the Immigration Committee, declared after hearing of the action of the Military Affairs Committee, that he would seek through the Rules Committee to obtain consideration on the floor of his "slacker" bill. It is similar to the Chamberlain resolution already passed by the Senate.

Paramount Pictures

ARTCRAFT PICTURES

The other twenty million

Fifteen million people are now regular patrons of the 17,000 motion-picture theatres in the United States.

Twenty million other people are waiting for an invitation—only they don't know it.

Most of them have dropped in casually, occasionally, and didn't connect with the right play, or something, and now they put in many a dull afternoon and evening with a deck of cards or wishing the clock would speed up.

A notable advertising campaign has this week been inaugurated by the Paramount and Artcraft producers, with Hanff-Metzger co-operation, to make those twenty millions pick up the folks and see a good play, and do it often.

Would you call that a man's-size job?

Can advertising do it?

Advertising as good as Paramount and Artcraft pictures—yes.

That's just it: The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, through Paramount and Artcraft pictures, dominates this great industry already—and nothing but sheer grade of product would have done it—"famous stars, superbly directed, in clean motion pictures." Brains count in the motion-picture business at least as high as in any other—put it mildly, like that. Brains, and vision, and ideals, and organization.

That's what holds the present fifteen million, in spite of the fact that not all motion pictures are within forty miles of the Paramount and Artcraft standards.

So there are those twenty other millions, who will respond eventually, whether anybody spends a million dollars in advertising or not; but who will respond like an international mobilization if just the truth is told them, consistently, compellingly, and continually—as it will be from today on. Paramount and Artcraft will deserve the leader's lion-share, and earn it, and get it.

We offer our services to other advertisers.

QUAKER CITY RALLY ASSAILS GANG RULE

Huge Crowd Turns Out to Protest Against the Conditions Shown by Primary Murder.

MEN "HIGHER UP" KNOWN

District Attorney Said to Have Names of All Who Participated in Fifth Ward Plotting.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—In the greatest demonstration since 1905, when political leaders of Philadelphia tried to surrender the gas works to a corporation, 20,000 persons tried to get into the Academy of Music tonight to hear Mayor Smith and the police officials condemned for the conditions that resulted in the death of Policeman George Eppley at the hands of a New York gunman on primary day, Sept. 19.

The meeting was addressed by former Mayor Blankenburg and other men prominent in city affairs. Mr. Blankenburg urged a return to law and order by forcing out of office the men responsible for thuggery and police intimidation.

Resolutions were adopted calling upon all citizens to unite in the "redemption of the city" and demanding the impeachment or resignation of all public officials. After denouncing the Fifth Ward row as "an orgy of intimidation and brutality," the resolution states that the police must be "taken out of politics absolutely and that the assessment or solicitation of contributions from policemen and other public employes shall cease."

Overflow meetings were held outside the Academy to accommodate the immense crowds in the streets.

District Attorney Rotan stated tonight that the men who financed and directed the Fifth Ward plot were known as the result of confessions made by the gunmen under arrest. The names will be withheld until they are arraigned before the Coroner.

"The men are much higher than policemen," Mr. Rotan said in response to questions. From an authoritative source it was learned that the facts in possession of Mr. Rotan include a definite description of the two men who went to New York to barter with a politician there for the hire of gangsters, who would accomplish what was wanted to carry the fight against James A. Carey and his adherents in the Fifth Ward.

The men who took part in the reception, drilling and arming of the imported men are also known. But the most important identifications reveal the names of the paymasters and leaders who "framed the events of the day."

Word reached the District Attorney's office tonight of the arrest in New York of another of the alleged gunmen, Lorenzo Gumina, known in the Italian quarter of that city as "Kid O'Leary."

TELLS OF CONFESSION.

District Attorney Martin Says Gunmen Here Will Be Extradited.

District Attorney Francis Martin of the Bronx, who has been in Philadelphia assisting District Attorney Rotan of that city in the investigation of the murder of Policeman George A. Eppley, returned last night. He said that he thought he would not oppose the extradition of the four men now held in the Bronx County Jail as fugitives from justice. The four men were indicted Wednesday by the Grand Jury in Philadelphia on a charge of complicity with the murder, according to the District Attorney.

The District Attorney made public yesterday a statement which he said was made by one of the prisoners, Frederick Burkhardt of 355 St. Ann's Avenue, the Bronx. According to this, Burkhardt asks the consideration of the Philadelphia authorities and states that he and another man were asked to go to Philadelphia to act as watchers at the polls for $15 a day. He says they were taken to a Third Avenue saloon, where the bargain was sealed.

Burkhardt, according to the alleged confession, states that they reached Philadelphia Tuesday afternoon, and were taken to a hotel, and that evening, while they sat in Independence Square, they received blackjacks. From there, he says, they went to a club in Pine Street.

Burkhardt says that on Wednesday he was passing a school in Fifth Street, where there was a polling place and heard a shot. The gang dispersed then, he says, and went to a hotel on Ninth Street, where they left the blackjacks and were told to return to New York as a man had been killed. Burkhardt insists that he had no part in the killing.

BANK TELLER $20,000 SHORT

W. H. Randall of Brooklyn Missing and Bond Company Pays $5,000.

The embezzlement of $20,000 of the funds of the Montauk Savings Bank at Fifth Avenue and Union Street, Brooklyn, and the disappearance of William H. Randall of 362 Thirteenth Street, one of its tellers, was reported to the Brooklyn police yesterday. Randall, who was 40 years old, married, and the father of one child, had been working at the bank for four years.

In swearing out a warrant for Randall an official of the bank asserted that the embezzlement was discovered on July 20 last by an assistant cashier, who found that money deposited by customers of the bank had not been entered on the ledger. Randall disappeared the same afternoon, and has not been heard of since. He was bonded for $5,000 in the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company of 100 William Street, Manhattan, which made good the face of the bond yesterday. The other $15,000, it was announced at the bank, had been made good by the Directors.

Detectives who had been working on the case since the shortage was discovered, said yesterday that Randall, although earning a small salary, had been living lavishly, and had been frequently seen at night riding in a high-powered automobile with a woman who is under surveillance.

TEACHERS' AMBULANCE FUND

An Intensive Campaign to Raise $30,000 Planned.

The Teachers' Committee of the War Work Committee of the Board of Education, which was organized last June, announced yesterday that it had received more than 400 school and individual contributions amounting to almost $14,000 for the purchase of an ambulance column for the use of the army in France, and was beginning an intensive campaign that would give every teacher and every school in the city an opportunity to help raise the desired fund.

It is the plan of the committee to raise at least $30,000, which can be done, according to the estimate, if every member of the teaching and supervising staff receiving a salary of less than $1,200 a year will give $1 to the fund and all others 1 per cent of one month's salary. Teachers will be asked to contribute through their principals or directly to one of the two treasurers of the fund, John H. Denbigh, Principal of the Morris High School, Bronx, and Miss Jennie A. McCarthy of P. S. 164, Brooklyn.

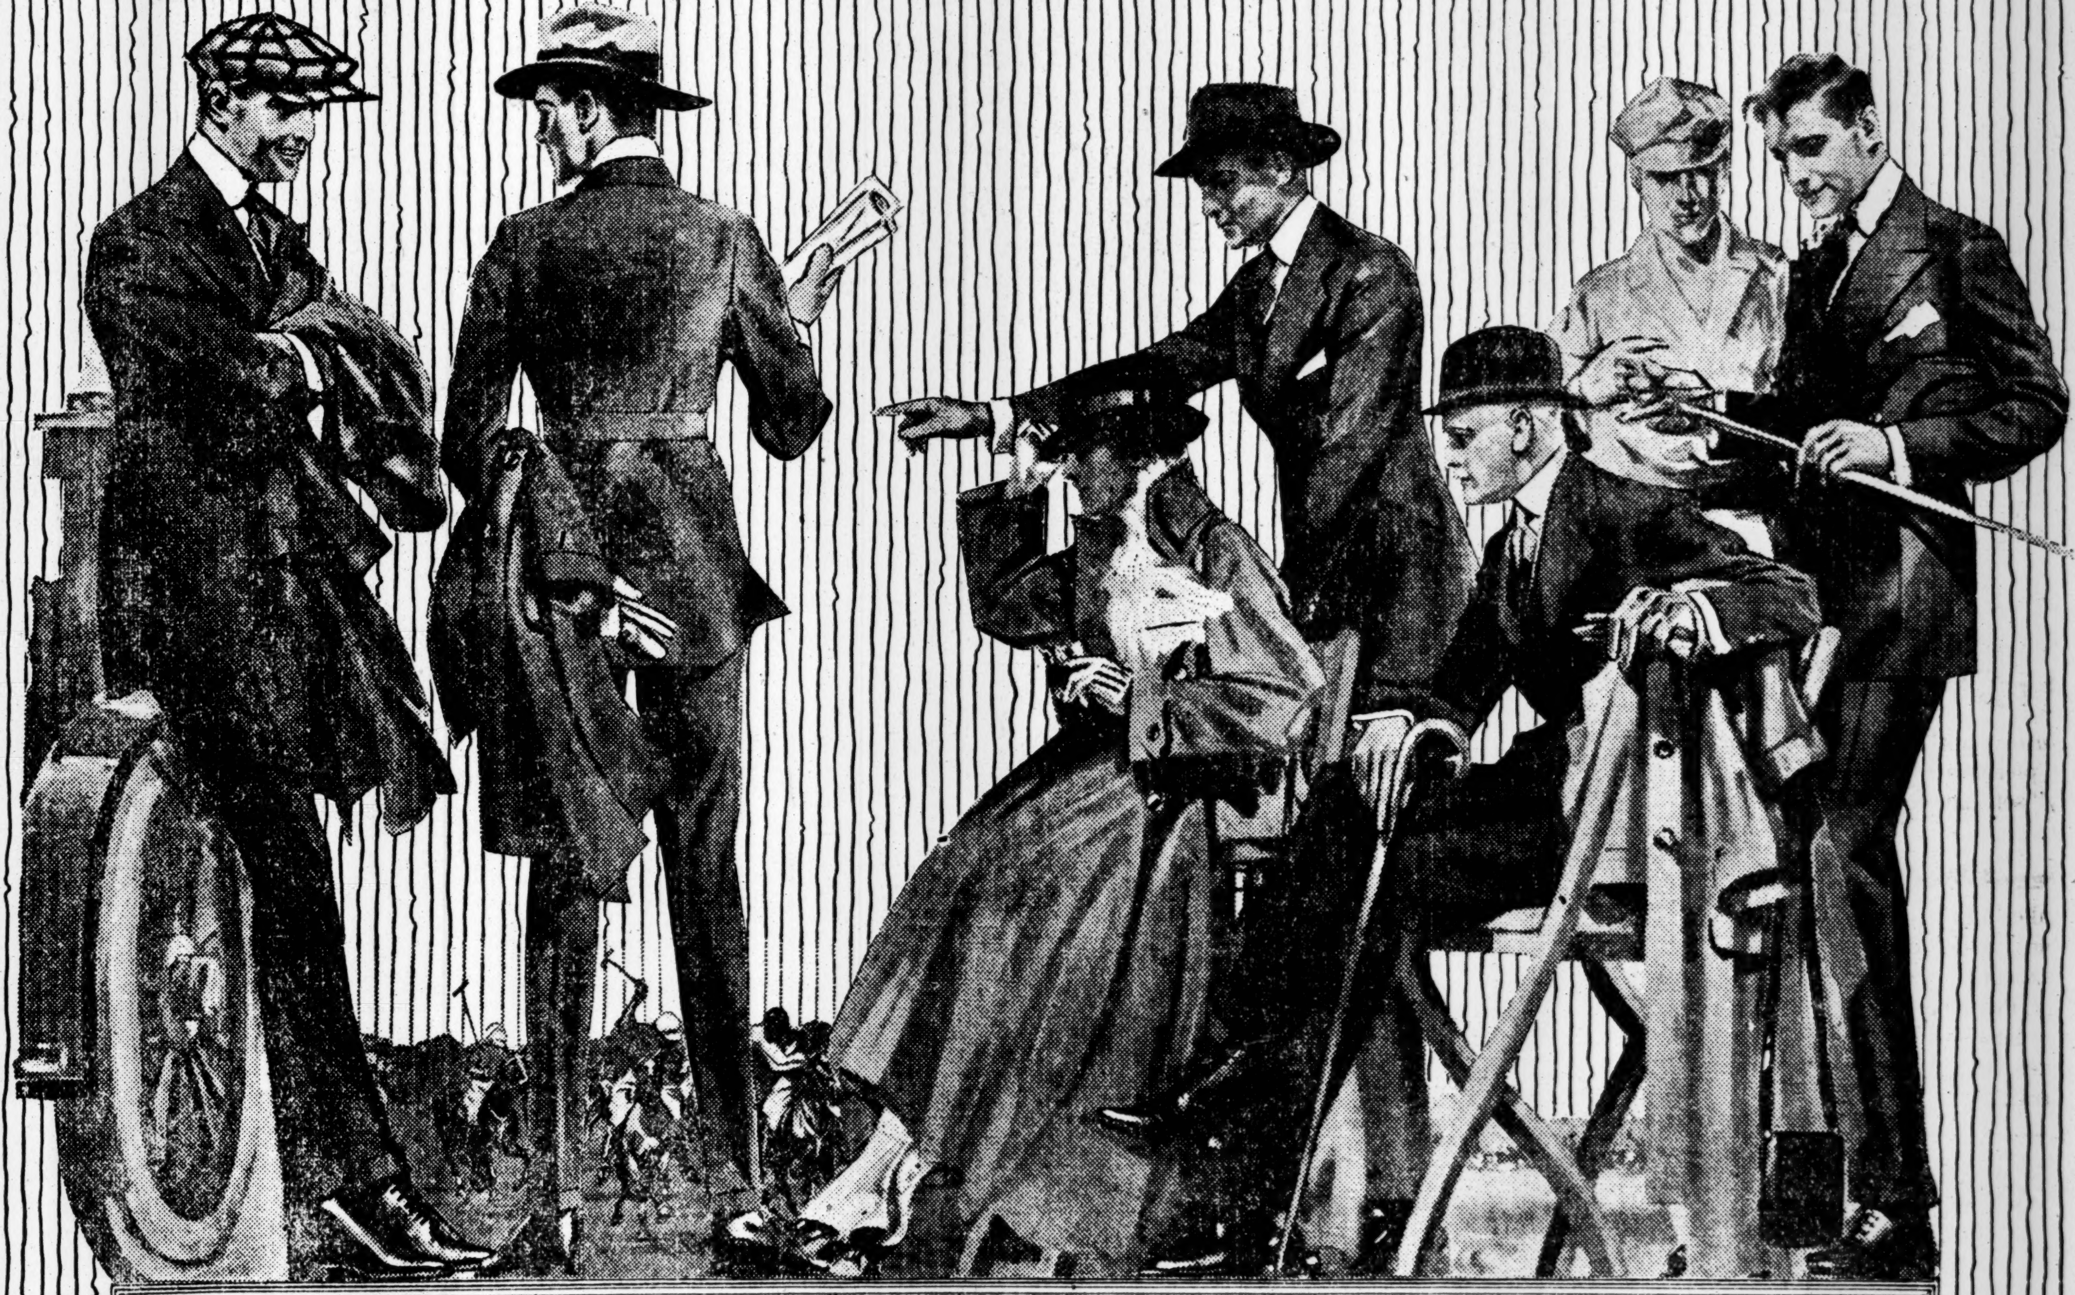
Service Board Employe Goes to Jail.

George P. Watkins, Assistant Statistician of the Public Service Commission, was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Nielson on a Supreme Court order adjudging him in contempt for failure to pay $375 alimony due in a separation suit brought by Helen Richards Watkins. The order directed that he be confined in Ludlow Street Jail until he pays the sum due. Watkins said he wouldn't pay his wife any more money, and went to Ludlow Street to remain three months, after which time his wife will be powerless to have him punished again for contempt.

Society Brand Clothes
FOR YOUNG MEN AND MEN WHO STAY YOUNG



Men today are boys at forty—young men at sixty. And in cities—in the heart of things—men of seventy dress young men's parts.

OUR policy of quality demands that Society Brand Clothes must retain those elements of style, tailoring and high value in all-wool fabrics that have made them standard.

No garment is a genuine Society Brand model unless the inside pocket bears the label. Go to "Style Headquarters"—the store that sells Society Brand Clothes.

ROWLAND'S FIRST SERIES WILL PIT HIM AGAINST VETERAN M'GRAW

ROWLAND ENTERS SERIES AS NOVICE

STARTED CAREER IN PEORIA

Comiskey Found Pilot in Illinois Town and Gave Him Opportunity for Success.

When the Giants meet the Chicago White Sox in the coming world's series Manager John J. McGraw of the New York club will have to match his strategy with a manager who never played in a major league uniform. Clarence Rowland is perhaps the first manager to pilot a club into a world's series who has never had experience as a major leaguer. When Charles Comiskey announced three years ago that he had engaged a bush leaguer whose first name was Clarence as successor to Jimmy Callahan the baseball world smiled and said that any man with a name like that would never do in big circles.

Few persons ever heard of Rowland before he was appointed as the White Sox leader. His only claim to fame was that he once led the Peoria club to a pennant in the Three I League. That occasioned more laughter among baseball folks. Peoria always occasioned a laugh, anyway, as the placed named in a popular song about being the town where theatrical troops get stranded and where the ghost never walks. All the other American League clubs had a lot of fun during Rowland's first season as a manager telling him that he was a bush leaguer. He took all this joshing smilingly, and in three seasons has delivered the goods, just as Comiskey said he would.

Rowland is 38 years old, and he broke into baseball in 1903 as a catcher with Dubuque, Iowa. In the following year he went to Peoria as manager. It was here he attracted the attention of Comiskey. Rowland isn't a slave driver with his ball club. He is a smiling, good-natured individual, who gets discipline through quiet methods. During his first year in Chicago no one believed that he would ever land a winner. Last season he had the same wealth of material that he has this year and gave the Red Sox a hard fight for the flag.

Money Supplied Manager.

Just as McGraw had the use of a full moneybag to get players, so did Rowland. In Fournier he had a first baseman last season who was never sure of catching a thrown ball and who could throw as wild as any player in the league. So Rowland bought the experienced Chick Gandil from Cleveland.

Rowland is a firm believer in the "old army game" tactics in baseball. That is, he believes in the sacrifice-hit ball. He works for one run at a time and in pushing a man around the bases by short and sure methods. In this fundamental principle of the game Rowland has thoroughly schooled the White Sox. He has batsmen who can drop a bunt when he wants it. It was with this essential that the Boston Red Sox won world's championships, and it is more generally practiced in the American League than it is in the National League.

The McGraw method is different. McGraw learned his baseball with the old Baltimore Orioles, one of the smartest clubs that ever played the game. He is an advocate of the hit and run system of attack. None of the Giants are accurate bunters and they rarely use it, and when they are called on to sacrifice they often fail. This coming world's series will be a test of the hit and run game against the sacrifice hit system of offense.

In McGraw Rowland will have to match wits with one of the smartest managers the game ever developed. In winning this year's pennant McGraw has established a new major league record with six titles. No one ever did that before. For fifteen years McGraw has been at the head of the Giants and has been connected with the game in some capacity for nearly thirty years. McGraw is quick and smart and tricky. There isn't an angle of the game that he doesn't have at his fingertips. His baseball schooling gives him a master's degree in comparison to the limited baseball career of Rowland.

McGraw Judges Quickly.

Despite the fact that they failed against the tactics of Connie Mack, McGraw still has faith in his methods, and expects to see his hit and run system win a world's series. Last season after the Giants had won twenty-six straight games, McGraw said he thought that his team was as great a club as he ever managed. It is quick to perceive the weaknesses in the opposing defense, and as quick in taking advantage of them. McGraw uses what is called snap judgment, he never plans his battles ahead, but makes the most of unforeseen circumstances when they happen on the ball field.

What baseball knowledge McGraw has was acquired in the school of hard knocks, while Rowland's ability as a leader and tactician in world's series conflicts is an unknown quantity. That he has baseball ability is acknowledged because of this season's success. It is doubtful, however, if he has the keen insight, or the ability to solve intricate baseball problems, that McGraw has.

Rowland's first lieutenant is Kid Gleason, a wise old baseball player, who knows the tricks of the game from the ground up. He has proved a valuable aid to Rowland this year, and the two have worked in perfect harmony. Where Rowland's enthusiasm is apt to lead him into unknown complications, there is always the restraining safety valve of Gleason's experience to aid him.

McGraw's assistant coachers are George Gibson and Hans Lobert, both of them valuable men on the coaching lines. Gibson's experience dates way back to the Pirates' world championship days, and he is now an important advisory factor in the Giants' scheme of play. The managerial aspect of the series furnishes an element of doubt. Rowland may be a whole lot smarter baseball man than any one has ever supposed him to be, and if the White Sox come through on top, it will mark a precedent in baseball and will show that to be a great baseball manager it isn't necessary to go through the long hard grind of major league experience.

SEATS FOR WORLD'S SERIES.

25,000 Unreserved Chairs to be Sold at Polo Grounds.

The New York Baseball Club announced yesterday that there would be 25,000 seats on sale at the Polo Grounds at each of the world's series games to be played here. This will include the entire lower grand stand seats, which will be sold at the gates at $2 each, while the bleacher seats will be sold for $1. The hour at which these seats will be placed on sale at the Eighth Avenue entrances will be announced later, but it is likely that the ticket windows will be open at noon.

No tickets will be sold at the Speedway entrance. Reserved seat and box seat holders will be admitted at this entrance and automobiles will be parked on the Speedway. The police arrangements will be similar to that of other world's series here, and Eighth Avenue will be closed to traffic above 155th Street. The ticket lines will be formed on Eighth Avenue.

The management announces that it is doubtful if there will be any sale of reserved or box seats, but if there are any left after the club's allotments are made, the public sale will be announced at a later date.

DODGERS' PITCHERS FAIL.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—The Brooklyn Dodgers opened their final engagement at Forbes Field this afternoon, and were badly beaten through the inability of three pitchers to hold the rejuvenated Buccaneers from swatting the ball to all corners of the lot. The score was 10 to 2. The visitors' two runs came in the last part of the game, when Cooper seemed to ease up with his team so far in the lead. In the seventh inning the Dodgers tallied once on hits by Wheat, Hickman, and Cutshaw, while in the eighth they garnered another on singles by Olson and Myers and Stengel's double.

Pfeffer started to pitch for the Brooklyns, but after two innings he retired in favor of Larry Cheney. In that time he was reached for four hits and two runs. Cheney allowed a hit in each of the third and fourth innings without scoring, but in the fifth inning the Pirates crossed the plate twice on hits by Cooper, passes to Caton and Bigbee, Carey's sacrifice fly, and Boeckel's safe hit.

Wachtel relieved Cheney in the sixth inning and retired the side on five pitched balls, but in the seventh another avalanche of hits was registered by the Pirates, ten men going to bat. Four runs were counted on singles by Mollwitz, Carey, Boeckel, and Pitler, and Caton's triple. In the eighth inning the locals got their tenth run on a triple by Mollwitz and Carey's sacrifice fly.

HITCHCOCK HUNTERS TAKE SHOW HONORS

With airplanes buzzing overhead and troops marching around the field to martial airs, the well-groomed hunters and saddle horses didn't get as much attention as usual from the large crowd at the Mineola Horse Show yesterday. However, the rails about the show ring were crowded during most of the events and the exciting performances of the hunters were enthusiastically applauded. The last event on the program, the jumps over fences, five feet high, was won by Miss Helen Hitchcock on Cavalier. This horse's form and style of fencing was the best of the day. The second ribbon went to Ralph Ellis's St. Michael, while the same owner's, Submit, carried off third prize.

The several other hunters in the class behaved poorly at the jumps, and more than one of them smashed right through the fences. Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock had several entries and rode her hunter Coniston. One of the youngest riders in the show, Samuel Velsor, gave a fine exhibition of riding, when his mount, Calculator, almost came a cropper at one of the fences, but the lad saved himself after he had gone half way over the horse's head.

The class for ponies, ridden by children under 12 years old, was won by little Miss E. Sparks, who rode Cupid. The red ribbon was captured by James J. Dooley's Bell Boy, while Master Gordon Sala Regan's Redlights Wee Story gained third place. The children rode their mounts with remarkable ease and brought forth much applause.

The blue for pairs of hunters, shown abreast over the course, was won by Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock's Cavalier and Meadowbrook, while Samuel Willets's pair, Blueberry and Blue Bell, took second place, the third prize going to Mrs. Hitchcock's second pair, Calvinist and Ketoh. Mrs. Hitchcock had the mount on Calvinist.

There was close competition in the class for thoroughbred saddlers, the blue ribbon going to Captain Harry La Montagne's Northman, which was ridden by Miss Lida Fleitmann. A. J. Davis's Sintram took second honors with J. C. Cooley's, Earl Senff in third place. Among the polo ponies, first place went to Cobweb, entered by Howard Phipps. James J. Dooley's Rugby got the red ribbon. In this event, one of the defeated ponies was Greyling, one of the mounts used by the American team in the last international polo matches.

Miss Lida Fleitmann scored a decisive victory in the class for pairs of saddle horses of any size. Her Longwood and Cygnet took the blue ribbon from Aviator and Honey Girl, entered by Franklin B. Jourdan and David Rintoul. Miss Fleitmann's Longwood was defeated in the class for horses of any size, the blue ribbon being captured by Mrs. Charles M. Allaire's Invader.

Cavalier came in for more honors in the class for green or qualified hunters, capturing second place. Ralph Ellis's Submit won the event with Captain Montagne's Palmetto in third place. Among the hunters and jumpers shown in competition over the regular course there was some lively competition, and the event was won by Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock's Ketoh, with Cavalier second, and Mrs. J. E. Davis's Orient third.

The summaries:

Hunters or Jumpers.—Won by Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock's Ketoh; Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock's Cavalier, second; Mrs. J. E. Davis's Orient, third.

Ladies' Qualified Hunters—ridden by ladies.—Won by Miss Lida L. Fleitmann's Cygnet; Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock's Cavalier, second; Capt. Harry La Montagne's Palmetto, third.

RED SOX BEAT ALL-STARS.

Murname Benefit Finds the Best Players in Exhibition.

BOSTON, Sept. 27.—The Boston Americans today defeated, 2 to 0, an all-star team recruited from leading players of the American League, with Maranville of the Boston Nationals at short stop. The entire proceeds went to the family of the late Tim H. Murnane, a former player and writer of the game and for years President of the New England League. The receipts were well over $14,000.

LARGE SQUAD AT COLUMBIA.

Many Football Candidates Report for Early Practice.

Columbia's second day of football practice was brightened by the appearance of forty-two men for the 'Varsity team and twenty-eight for the freshman team. In addition to Howard Miller, star quarter back of the 1915 season, Captain Del Cochran, and McCabe, quarter of last year's 'Varsity, who have been helping Coach Metcalf whip the new material into form, it was reported today that I. Rosen, last year's half, would be on hand this afternoon.

Of the candidates these four are the only men who have had experience in intercollegiate ball, and about them Coach Metcalf and Tom Thorne, his assistant, will have to build up the new team. There will be no individual freshman coach this year. It is rumored that Kennedy, last year's half back, may return with a leave of absence from the naval reserve.

FORDHAM USING SIGNALS.

'Varsity and Scrub Teams in Lineup Devoid of Tackling.

The Fordham football players received their initial set of signals yesterday, and as a result the plays were run through with signals for the first time this season. Brennan fullback, and Du Moe, right end, returned to the squad. Golden was shifted from right to left end, at which position he looks like a fixture.

The scrub and 'Varsity teams lined up for fifteen minutes but no tackling was allowed, a dummy scrimmage taking the place of the regular tussle. Coach McCaffery added a few forward passes to the Maroon attack.

MISS LOUNSBERRY VICTOR.

Reduced Handicap No Bar to Success on North Jersey Links.

For the second time this season Miss Beatrice Lounsberry, the young exponent of golf from the Bedford Golf and Tennis Club, won a one-day tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association. Playing with a greatly reduced handicap, because of her showing in the last metropolitan championship, Miss Lounsberry led a field of thirty players at the North Jersey Country Club yesterday.

At the finish of the eighteen-hole journey Miss Lounsberry was tied for the low net prize with Mrs. L. C. Stockton of Raritan Valley. Miss Lounsberry had 89, 3—86 and Mrs. Stockton 87, 1—86. A play-off was started, but Mrs. Stockton ran into so many difficulties that she picked up at the sixth hole and conceded Miss Lounsberry the prize.

Three play-offs were necessary before Mrs. Stockton won the putting competition. Mrs. Stockton first tied with Mrs. W. R. Lewers of North Jersey and Miss Effie Stevens of North Jersey. On the play-off Miss Stevens was eliminated, but the other two again were tied. On the second play-off Mrs. Stockton won from Mrs. Lewers.

QUIRK WINS GOLF TROPHY.

Gains Barber Memorial Cup in the Produce Exchange Tourney.

Members of the Produce Exchange, fifty strong, yesterday engaged in their annual Fall golf tournament at the Knollwood Country Club. The chief object of interest to the contestants was the Barber Memorial trophy, which went to the player who made the best net score in thirty-six holes. G. G. Quirk was the fortunate performer, with 184, 30—154.

In the eighteen-hole handicap medal play event, E. K. Morrow of Great Neck led the field with 87, 20—67, and then followed him E. K. Barber, with 82, 10—72; Walter Moore, with 95, 23—72; James Barber, 91, 16—75; H. P. Kidd, 82, 7—75; J. H. Halsted, 91, 16—75, and F. C. Lockhart, 107, 30—77.

Harold Armstrong had the best gross round of eighteen holes, with a well-played 81. In the four-ball event, the combined score of J. G. Todd and F. A. Cott at 181, 17—164, led the field. Lorenzo Daniels won the kicker's handicap, with a net score of 85.

TEST FOR MORRIS TONIGHT.

Oklahoma Heavyweight Will Meet Billy Miske at Harlem S. C.

Carl Morris, the Sapulpa, Oka., heavyweight, who is clamoring for a match with Jess Willard, world's champion, will be forced to show his best this evening at the Harlem S. C., where he is scheduled to box Billy Miske, the sturdy St. Paul light heavyweight. Although Miske will be at a decided disadvantage in the matter of weight, he is nevertheless expected to give the Oklahoman a severe test. Morris will have all physical advantages in his favor, towering many inches above Miske and possessing a much longer reach.

Other bouts arranged for tonight are: New Polo A. A.—Johnny Kirk vs. Kid Carter; Harry Mantone vs. Johnny Duffy. Both ten-round bouts.

Freeport S. C., Long Island—Paul Sampson vs. Jamaica Kid. Ten rounds.

GLEASON DEFEATS O'BOYLE.

Soldier Boxers Entertain Large Crowd at Crescent A. C.

Robert Gleason, representing the Dominican Lyceum, and Andy O'Boyle, Bronxdale A. C., both prominently known in amateur boxing circles, but who are now directing their fighting efforts for the benefit of their country, last night faced each other in the ring of the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn in the final bout of the 145-pound class and thrilled one of the largest crowds that have ever jammed the New Moon organization's gymnasium.

After three interesting rounds Gleason, who holds both the New York State and metropolitan championships at 145 and 158 pounds, received the decision over his soldier-rival. Gleason is attached to the Quartermaster's Corps at Van Cortlandt Park and O'Boyle to the 35th Company stationed at Fort Wadsworth. Both were on special furlough to box last night.

The summaries:

Final Bout—A. Hirschberger, Union Settlement A. C., defeated A. Hill, Yoerger's Boxing School, four rounds, judges' decision.

Final Bout—F. Verona, Bronxdale A. C., defeated F. Mann, Union Settlement A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

Leonard Knocks Out Dorsey.

JACK HARE, JR., GETS VERDICT BY A NECK

Outsiders Have Merry Day Upsetting Talent in Four Races at Aqueduct.

In one of the best finishes ever seen at Aqueduct W. E. Applegate's Jack Hare, Jr., broke the run of ill luck for public choices by winning the Babylon Handicap, which brought out a fine field of two-year-olds yesterday. When the stout-hearted son of Marathon poked his neck in front of the Quincy Stable's Lady Dorothy, with the Corrigan pair, Compadre and Ultima Thule, heads apart behind, it marked a welcome change in the character of one of the weirdest day's sport ever seen on a local track.

Many and devious were the methods that led to the frequent downfall of favorites, with the result that L. Leavitt's Arnold in the last race was the only other choice to reward his backers. The greatest sensation followed the running of the first race for two-year-olds in which H. R. Schaffer's Sister Marjorie, a 40 to 1 chance in a field of four, got home a nose in front of the Mirasol Stable's Producer.

A queer twist was given to the race by the speculation. Producer's form warranted his being the choice and he opened at odds-on, but receded because of the disposition to support W. S. Payne's Elizabeth H., which closed at 9 to 10, with almost any price one liked against Jim Dinney and Sister Marjorie. The early running was in accordance with the trend of the betting, Producer dwelling at the post and allowing Elizabeth H. to take a good lead. The well-laid plans went kiting when Elizabeth H., hard pressed by Sister Marjorie, ran out on approaching the stretch turn. Why Producer did not win then was the question asked by hundreds of racegoers without any satisfactory answer. Parrington did put up a strong finish, but it came just too late to head Sister Marjorie, which gained the verdict by a nose.

Archdale, favorite for the steeplechase, was so weakly ridden that he did not get in the money. It was explained after the race that Archdale had bowed a tendon, yet when he had no chance to win his rider, Kennedy, put him under a hard drive in the stretch. A. J. Davis's aged gelding Racebrook, which was in light enough to receive greater consideration in the betting, galloped in front all the way and won from D. Raymond's Garter by four lengths. Racebrook was quoted at the nice odds of 12 to 1.

Misfortune caused the defeat of Walter J. Salmon's Pollyanna, the choice for the third race. Mr. Salmon is a newcomer on the turf, and nearly every one hoped he would score his first victory in the maiden event at one mile. The fates were against him, however, for as Pollyanna was making her run in the stretch her saddle became loose. Troise did his best and held on until he had crossed the line a length in the rear of Cachet and Mountain Rose II. Then boy, saddle and all came off, and Pollyanna even lost the third money she had won, there being no chance for Troise to weight out.

When Jack Hare, Jr., was pinched off after the start it looked as if another favorite would bow to the run of hard luck. The Corrigan pair, an added entry, set a fast pace with Trite following closely. Jack Hare, Jr., was in close quarters on the rail and never had a chance to show his speed until well toward the end of the stretch. Even then there was a solid line in front of him and Peak had to take the favorite to the outside in order to make his run. The Western horse and jockey proved a great combination then, and in the last sixteenth ran over the struggling pacemakers to win by a neck.

Peak rode his second winner when he took the same path in the fifth race with F. D. Weir's Golden Glow, that he had followed with Jack Hare, Jr. Svengali, the favorite, looked to have the race won until Golden Glow appeared on the outside and ran over him to win by three lengths. Buxton landed Arnold an easy winner in the last race at six furlongs.

WILLIAM AGAIN DEFEATED.

Crack Pacer Finishes Outside the Money at Columbus Meet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 27.—Fifteen heats were raced this afternoon in four regular events and the unfinished 2:15 trot from yesterday, and still it was impossible to complete the meeting.

Two heavily played favorites were defeated. William, after his loss of the free-for-all pace a week ago, again was made favorite today, but failed to finish inside the money, Ben Earl winning the first heat and Miss Harris M. the last two. Peter Nash was a big favorite in the Arch City 2:10 pace, purse $3,000, but Ben Ali was master of the good field.

TIPPITY WITCHET IS VICTOR.

Scores Third Successive Victory at Havre de Grace Meeting.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 27.—The Brighton Stable's Tippity Witchet scored her third straight victory at this track and her fifth in succession since the opening of the Belmont Autumn meeting, when she defeated a small field in the Erdenheim Handicap for two-year-olds this afternoon. Though there were only four starters, Tippity Witchet had by no means a walkover, the Glen Riddle Farm's Bully Boy and J. S. Tyree's Sweep Up II, both being well supported.

FRESHMEN AT YALE IN LIMELIGHT NOW

Chief Athletic Activities to Centre Around Eleven from Incoming Class.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 27.—Athletic activities at Yale this Fall will centre chiefly around the freshman football squad, which will be trained by T. A. D. Jones, resident head coach, and Dr. A. E. Brides, who developed the 'Varsity linemen last year, according to an announcement by Professor R. N. Corwin of the Advisory Athletic Council today. Daily practice will be so arranged that it will not interfere with military courses.

Dates of freshman games have not been fixed, but meetings with Harvard and Princeton, and teams representing military units at Newport, R. I., and Plattsburg are likely. For the men in college there will be interclass games and interbattery games. All athletics at Yale the coming year will be secondary to military training.

Captain W. S. Overton, U. S. A., (retired,) Professor of Military Science and Tactics, addressed the undergraduate body last night following the customary rushes. He said that athletics should assist and not interfere with military training. Interclass games should be emphasized. Those who do not take part in sports should prepare for hikes of instruction. Crew work, he thought, would interfere greatly with his courses, while other sports having a limited period will not.

Captain Overton said he disliked professional coaches, either actual or veiled, in war time, because the professional coach, looking to his own future, is interested in the development of a few, while the military courses aim for development of the many.

N. Y. U. IN VARIED PRACTICE.

Forty Men Turn Out for Football Work on Ohio Field.

Forty men composed the football squad at New York University's second practice yesterday afternoon on Ohio Field. Three of the squad were of last year's 'Varsity. These were Egan, end; Brin, centre, and Sokolower, tackle. In addition to these Hammerschlag, a first string back, from last year's team, was also on hand together with a few of last year's squad. There were several candidates for the newly created freshman team.

The practice lasted fully two hours and was varied and stiff. Coach Eustis divided the squad and sent the backs and ends to the tackling dummy, where they were initiated into the intricacies of tackling and charging. Charging under a low hung rope claimed the attention of the linemen with the exception of the centres, who were set to passing the ball through a target in order to acquire accuracy. Later the linemen went to the dummy and charging machine while the other players received coaching in handling and running down punts.

Jones and Smith have a good many likes in common. Always favored the same tailor.

The other day Jones sprung a new one. Said he was going to try Rogers Peet for a change.

POPULAR WAR, SAYS BRYAN.

He Has Found Support of Government Almost Universal.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—The war against Germany is a popular war, according to William J. Bryan, in Chicago today to deliver a Chautauqua lecture. He said he found the desire of the people to support the Government in the war to be almost universal.

"There can be only one end to the war," he said, "and that is the overthrow of Germany. We shall win the war, whether Russia holds her own or not. But I have great faith that Kerensky will restore that land to military power.

"Failure of Russia to hold her own probably would encourage the German war party and discourage the democratic movement in that country. This would affect the duration of the war, since our immediate success depends on the discouragement of the military party and the encouragement of the democratic movement."

Mr. Bryan expressed satisfaction over the legislation giving the President control over food and fuel prices.

DENY EXTORTION IN AIRPLANE COST

MARKED LOWERING LATELY

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Publication today of statements originating in The Cleveland Leader intended to show that the Government was being mulcted of large sums of money through excessive prices charged by manufacturing concerns for airplanes and parts, was met with denials from officials concerned that the figures given had been sanctioned by the Aircraft Production Board of the Council of National Defense. In these quarters the assertion was made that the figures did not represent the prices now being paid by the Government, but that they were old figures of contracts that had presumably been made prior to the systematization of aircraft purchases by the Aircraft Production Board.

A member of the board said it was impossible for manufacturers to mulct the Government, because the board had put expert accountants in the plants and offices of all the companies that were engaged in making airplanes for the Government and these kept a strict account of production cost, which enabled the Government to ascertain what would be a fair price for planes.

It was explained that prior to the entrance of the United States in the war and for a short time afterward contracts had been let by the War Department and the Navy Department for comparatively few airplanes, and in consequence of the small number the prices paid had been high, in comparison with recent prices. Since the United States entered the war, it was said, the contracts had been for large numbers, and the average price had been greatly reduced. The United States, it was pointed out, had been buying at retail, and now was buying at wholesale, with the result that the Government was getting its aircraft at prices much lower.

The alleged contracts at excessive prices mentioned in the published statement as having been awarded by the Signal Corps on the recommendation of the Aircraft Production Board between September, 1916, and May, 1917, could not have been awarded in this way, it was said, for the reason that they were awarded before the board had been organized.

Howard E. Coffin, Chairman of the board, denied flatly that the board had threatened to invoke the powers of the Government to commandeer airplane manufacturing plants unless prices were reduced. No necessity existed, he said, for making such a threat.

A member of the board said that the reduction in prices since the Government had begun to buy airplanes in large quantities was illustrated by the fact that motors which had previously cost $3,000 were now being furnished at $2,000. Manufacture of aircraft in great numbers, it was stated unofficially, has reduced the cost one half, with the possibility that the cost price to the Government eventually would be about one-third of the normal cost of the machines before the plans of the board were carried out.

It was stated that considerable trouble in regard to the cost of repair parts was encountered for a time and that orders were refused to some concerns because of this. That situation now has been completely cleared up, and repair parts, of which an enormous number are required to maintain an aero fleet, are being obtained at reasonable prices.

Secretary Baker said that he would send a copy of the newspaper allegations to the Chief Signal Officer of the army and ask for a report. Mr. Baker said he knew nothing to justify the charges.

DEALERS HERE EXPLAIN AIRPLANE PRICE RANGE

Higher Cost When Design Is Improved—Unstandardized Parts Are Comparatively Expensive.

The charges published yesterday that airplane makers of the country had extorted huge profits from the Government, and had created a situation that led Howard E. Coffin, Chairman of the Aircraft Production Board, to threaten them with seizure of their plants, did not arouse marked interest in aviation circles. Prominent members of the industry said that the charges were so vague and so little supported by testimony as to be almost valueless, and the men interested denied such details as were given.

Prominent among the charges was the assertion that the Standard Aeroplane Company of New York and Plainfield, N. J., had increased the price by $2,100 per machine on an order for thirty-two hydroaeroplanes originally priced at $21,000 each, the total of $672,000 thus being raised to $739,200. Vice President Max J. Finkelstein, in the absence of Harry B. Mingle, the President, explained this. He said:

"It would be of no consequence if these charges were true, for the fact is that the Government canceled this whole contract. Not an airplane has been delivered under it, and not a penny has been paid to us on it by the Government. The only loser in this transaction has been ourself, for we paid several thousand dollars in fees for the bond which the Government required us to file, and we have lost this.

"However, it is not true that the price was raised without cause. The fact is that the Government ordered thirty-two machines of a certain type, and later decided it wanted machines of more power, with larger motors, and proportionately stronger frames. The difference in price between the new machines desired and the models under consideration was $2,100, just as differences in price exist between motor cars of different models and power.

"The Government finally decided it didn't want hydroaeroplanes at all and canceled the order, replacing it with one for several hundred machines of our training model. We are at work on these now. We offered our entire plant to the Government to do with as it would, and to say that our feelings have been wounded by these unjust charges is to express the situation lightly. Some of the men of our organization are completely sick at heart over the affair."

H. B. Wise, sales manager of the Aeromarine Plane and Motor Company of this city said he welcomed the opportunity to explain the error in one charge, because it was so generally misunderstood. This was the assertion, credited to Major George H. Brett of the Purchasing Department of the Chief Signal Officer's staff, that the unassembled parts of airplanes had been found to cost $15,000 when assembled into a complete machine, these same parts could be purchased for $6,000.

"I think," said Mr. Wise, "that this difference has been somewhat exaggerated, but I have no wish to deny that parts cost more in proportion than the assembled machine. So they do in motor cars and in most other manufactured articles. Think a moment and you will realize this is inevitable. A manufacturer, especially in the airplane line, cannot afford to fashion a lot of parts only to leave them on his storeroom shelves until a purchaser arrives.

"Airplanes are in a state of constant development. A stock of $50,000 worth of parts today might be junk in six months. Now if the manufacturer is compelled to keep parts on hand he has got to protect himself against this tremendous depreciation and against the loss of capital so tied up. Of course, he has to charge a higher price. I had occasion to explain this only this morning to a private customer who wanted to renew parts of an engine. I am glad to say he saw the point of my argument and didn't believe we were robbers.

"High prices in connection with airplanes are the direct result of the lack of encouragement which the industry faced in its early days. Take this company as an example. It is the sole property of the President, Inglis M. Uppercu. No one else holds a share of stock. In five years he has spent more than $1,000,000 in experimentation with no encouragement from the Government. Of course his product must bring a high price to reimburse him at all."

The charges had no effect upon the stock of the Curtiss and Wright-Martin Companies on the curb.

DENIAL FOR BURGESS COMPANY

Special to The New York Times.

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., Aug. 27.—Frank H. Russell, Manager of the Burgess Company, said here today in reference to charges that the company had tried to exact $250 to $300 from the Government for installation charges in equipping seaplanes with Sperry devices:

"The Burgess Company has no contract for installing any Sperry instruments. Such installation would be upon an actually cost basis. I am at a loss to explain the charge.

"All of the company's prices are based upon actual costs, the details of which are constantly under the supervision of army and navy inspectors.

"Regardless of the immense risk entailed in experimental work, not equaled in any other industry, airplane makers almost without exception have assumed the risk on military machines without providing therefor in their prices. Our books of record are constantly open to the Government inspectors and a thorough investigation will be welcome at any time."

AVIATOR ESCAPES DEATH.

Hydroplane Demolished When It Struck Pier at Smith's Point, L. I.

Special to The New York Times.

PATCHOGUE, L. I., Aug. 27.—Harold Howe, aviator, of 194 Riverside Drive, Manhattan, had a narrow escape from death today when his hydroplane in which he was practising collided with a pier at Smith's Point, about six miles east of here. The flying boat, valued at $9,000, was just rising from the water when it was blown by a sudden gust of wind against the pier and completely demolished.

Mr. Howe is Chairman of the Finance Committee of Aerial Coast Patrol Unit No. 3, which is an organization of men owning about a dozen hydroplanes which, with the services of the members, have been offered to the Government.

Corbett, once heavyweight champion prizefighter, yesterday accepted the chairmanship of the Committee on Athletic Instruction, which is to teach soldiers in the United States Army cantonments how to box. The other members of the committee are Norman Selby, (Kid McCoy,) Mike Donovan of the New York Athletic Club, Richard Nelligan of Amherst College, and Robert Edgren of New York, Secretary. The committee met yesterday in the office of Dr. Joseph E. Raycroft of Princeton University, who is ex officio member of the committee and a member of the Commission on Training Camp Activities.

"Many of the movements in boxing are similar to those used in bayonet charges," Dr. Raycroft explained, "and for this reason the Government feels that the best way to school the soldiers in bayonet drills is to teach them the tricks in boxing."

More than fifty famous boxers and boxing instructors will act under the direction of the committee and give instructions at the camps. Included in this group will be Benny Leonard, Johnny Dundee, Packey McFarland, Johnny Kilbane, Mike Gibbons, Ted Lewis, Joe Choynski, Tommy Ryan, Abe Attell, Freddy Welsh, DeWitt Van Court, and others.

Motion pictures will be taken of Corbett and Selby going through the boxing movements of use in bayonet work, and these will be shown at the various camps and serve as a guide for the work of the pugilists.

GIVES SEVEN SONS TO ALLIES

Hoboken Widow Is Proud Her Boys Have Gone to War.

Mrs. William J. Tisdall, a widow, of 1,125 Garden Street, Hoboken, has seven sons in the service of the Allies. These are distributed among the American, British, and Canadian Armies. Her sons are Henry William Tisdall, 36 years old; John Tisdall, 34; Mark A. Tisdall, 32; William Ottway Tisdall, 29; Victor Tisdall, 28; Edward Tisdall, 25, and Travers Tisdall, 23.

Henry Tisdall is now serving in the British Army, Edward is with the Canadians, and Victor is in England with the Scots Canadians. Mark is also a member of a British regiment. Travers is a member of Company A of the Eleventh Regiment of Engineers, in the American Army. John and William are also with the American forces.

A friend of the boys, a man named Samuel Tarento, who boarded with Mrs. Tisdall, and who is a native of Italy, was so impressed by the heroic self-sacrifice of the mother and her seven sons that he volunteered.

Mrs. Tisdall descended from a family of soldiers. Her father, Thomas McMurdie, fought in the Napoleonic wars and was wounded at the battle of Waterloo. Her brother, Thomas McMurdie, fought in the Egyptian war and was killed at Aden. Her husband, William Joshua Tisdall, was a soldier in the English Army and saw service in more than one campaign. Mrs. Tisdall says she was proud to see her boys serve the Allies.

LANSING'S SISTERS ENLIST.

Going to France Soon to Work with the Red Cross.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Miss Emma S. Lansing and Miss Katharine T. Lansing, sisters of Robert Lansing, Secretary of State, will leave Watertown soon to sail for France to engage in a branch of Red Cross work at the canteen stations on railroad lines running from the western front trenches.

Through the Red Cross, a call had been sent out for volunteers for this work, and the Misses Lansing responded. They expect to be away for six months. They will go from an Atlantic port with a unit of ten women under the charge of the Red Cross Society and will be designated to a post in France after their arrival in Paris.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES EXEMPTION RECORDS

WILL RE-EXAMINE 650 MEN

"No Charges Against Board," Says Mr. Conkling, and Members Continue at Their Posts.

Acting on telegraphic instructions from Governor Whitman, at the instance of Provost Marshal General Crowder, Deputy Attorney General Roscoe S. Conkling went to the headquarters of Local Exemption Board 102, at East Houston and Essex Streets, and in the name of the Government took possession of the records and all other data pertaining to about 650 men who have been physically disqualified for military service by that board. At the same time Mr. Conkling announced that every one of the men exempted for physical reasons would be re-examined under the personal supervision of Dr. Victor C. Pedersen of St. Mark's Hospital, who is the head of the Medical Advisory Committee. The members of the board are E. J. Cohen, Chairman, of 175 Suffolk Street; Dr. J. H. Mittleman of 116 Columbia Street, and Dr. Max Gottesman of 148 Stanton Street. Chairman Cohen was alone in the office of the board when Mr. Conkling, accompanied by First Sergeant J. H. Mefford of the Arsenal Company, arrived at the headquarters.

"I am instructed by the Governor," said Mr. Conkling, "to ask you to immediately turn over to me all records of men who have been exempted for physical reasons by this board."

Chairman Cohen was taken by surprise, but quickly gathered the records and handed them to Mr. Conkling, who returned to the Arsenal and ordered, in the name of General Crowder, every man exempted for physical reasons in that district to report for re-examination in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building at 9 o'clock this morning. The Government will have the assistance of the entire medical staff of the insurance company and it is expected to complete the re-examination by Thursday.

While Board 102 is now a board without records, it is still in charge of the draft in its district, and the members were instructed to continue the examinations of new men until the quota of 234 men is obtained. The last official report showed ninety-two men had been certified for service.

To date Board 102 has examined about 1,400 men, and the district includes many foreigners. When asked last night if he was in a position to make a statement concerning the action taken by the Government, Mr. Conkling replied:

"It has been the policy of the Government from the first," he said, "to carry out the provisions of the selective draft law in such a way as to win and maintain the complete confidence of the public, and it is in furtherance of this purpose that this afternoon's action was taken. There are no charges against the members of the board and they are still in authority in that district."

Dr. Mittleman said the whole thing came as a great surprise to him.

"I am greatly surprised," he said, "at the action taken by the Government in regard to our board. So far as I am personally concerned my hands are absolutely clean, and I have the utmost confidence in my colleagues, Dr. Gottesman and Mr. Cohen. Beyond that I do not care to make any statement tonight."

Chairman Cohen refused to comment, and Dr. Gottesman was not at home when a TIMES reporter called there.

The Mayor's Committee on National Defense has announced that next Tuesday will be "National Army Day" in this city. The celebration, however, will really begin next Saturday and Sunday, when religious exercises in honor of the selective draft men will be held in the churches and synagogues of the city. The program, as outlined by William Fellowes Morgan last night, is as follows:

"Sept. 4 will begin with parades, probably in each borough, of various units of New York's quota of selected men, including a parade in Manhattan, in which the men now being drilled by Captain A. L. Boyce, U. S. A., on Governors Island, will participate. Arrangements for the other parades are now being perfected by Stephen N. Bond, Chairman of the committee in charge of this feature. There also will be a ball game at the Polo Grounds in the afternoon between the Giants and the Boston Nationals, made possible through the aid of President Harry N. Hempstead of the New York baseball club and the Boston club.

"Under the direction of E. W. Estes, of the Broadway Association, plans are being made for a display of the national colors throughout the city on Sept. 4, not only along the principal thoroughfares in Manhattan and Brooklyn, but in the smaller neighborhoods. Many clubs, churches, and other organizations have signified their intention of providing entertainment of one sort or another for the selected men on the evening of that day."

FIRST DRAFT LEAVES SEPT. 5.

1,942 Men to Go to Camp Upton from This City.

Deputy Attorney General Roscoe S. Conkling announced last night that the first contingent of New York City's quota of selective draft men will leave for Camp Upton, near Yaphank, L. I., on Wednesday, Sept. 5. Each of the 189 local exemption districts has been ordered to mobilize one-fifth of its quota, the total number of men affected by the order being 1,942. The men will travel in special trains on schedules so arranged as not to interfere with the regular traffic of the railroad. The "red cards" summoning these men to the colors will be mailed in the next twenty-four hours. Here are the number of men each of the 189 districts is ordered to mobilize for service on Sept. 5:

Mr. Conkling said that the men from each district will assemble for the last time in New York at the headquarters in the various districts in the morning of Sept. 5. The Manhattan, Bronx, and Richmond contingents will then proceed to the East Thirty-fourth Street Ferry and proceed to Long Island City, where they will entrain. The Brooklyn contingent will entrain at the Atlantic Avenue Station of the Long Island Railroad, and the men from Queens at Jamaica. Colonel E. E. Both, U. S. A., who is Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell's Chief of Staff, assisted Mr. Conkling and officials of the railroad in arranging for the transportation of the men to Camp Upton. The reserve officers who will serve with the Camp Upton Division are now assembling there. General Bell and his staff will go to the camp within the next few days to establish his headquarters.

833 OF 1,041 APPEALS DENIED.

District Board Finds Wife Who Will Work That Husband May Serve.

The District Exemption Board for New York City, of which Charles E. Hughes is Chairman, handed down decisions yesterday in 374 cases; 283 appeals were denied. To date the board has made 1,041 decisions, denying 833 appeals and granting 208.

Reon Lea Bowen, an architect, of 119 West Ninety-second Street, claimed exemption because of a dependent wife. His marriage took place on May 26, and when investigators questioned his wife, she expressed surprise that he claimed exemption. She said she was a stenographer before marriage, and was ready to support herself if by so doing her husband would be able to join the colors. She added that she would be willing to go to war herself if permitted to do so. Bowen withdrew his plea when he found out how his wife felt. Justice Cullen complimented Mrs. Bowen upon her patriotic stand, and said that Bowen's claim could not be interpreted as a reflection upon him.

Daniel Kander of Board 113, said he was a member of a "well recognized sect opposed to war, which sec has existed since May 18," which is the date the President signed the draft act. His appeal was denied. One other appellant said he fell down a ladder several years ago and as a result contracted typhoid fever. A score of men who have married since Registration Day had their appeals denied.

At the afternoon session during the consideration of claims made for exemption on industrial grounds it was decided to ask Provost Marshal General Crowder for an opinion as to the course to be followed in the case of men employed on railroads, and by telegraph and telephone companies, in other than executive or engineering capacities. It was said that one railroad, the New York, New Haven & Hartford, is soon to make a blanket application for the exemption of a large number of its employes and that similar courses are contemplated by other railroads and also by some of the large industrial organizations.

Policemen and firemen will not be excused from military service because of the nature of their occupations, according to a lengthy communication received yesterday from Provost Marshal General Crowder by Police Commissioner Woods. The Provost Marshal General stated that he had taken the matter up with Secretary Baker, and the conclusion had been reached that it would be unfair to the smaller cities to exempt firemen and policemen in the large ones. Considering that only approximately 3,000 of the 10,000 men on the New York police force come within the draft limit, not more than 300 men will be called.

CURRENCY OF WORLD JUMPS 80% IN WAR

Increases from $13,680,000,000 to $24,660,000,000 Between Years of 1913-1917.

World inflation, as one of the causes of world advance in prices, is discussed in the current issue of The Amercas, issued by the National City Bank of New York. The author of the article, O. P. Austin, the bank's statistician, after referring to the generally accepted theory that inflantion causes an advance in prices, calls attention to the fact that world money and world "promises to pay" money have enormously increased during the period in which prices have been so rapidly advancing. World currency, he says, has increased 80 per cent. since 1913, world national obligations 142 per cent., and world population only 2½ per cent., while prices of commodities show advances ranging from 60 to 100 per cent. in the same period.

The statement showing the increase in world currency and national debts is accompanied by index numbers representing prices of principal commodities as compiled by three leading authorities, The London Statist, Bradstreet's, and the Bureau of Labor, for the years 1900, 1913, and 1917. The Statist index number shows an advance from 75 in 1900 to 85 in 1913 and 170 in 1917; Bradstreet's from 79 in 1900 to 92 in 1913 and 161 in 1917, and the Bureau of Labor an advance from 65 in 1900 to 81 in 1913 and 130 in 1917.

Gold money—	$4,565,000,000	$8,021,000,000	$8,560,000,000
Silver money—	3,679,000,000	2,860,000,000	2,600,000,000
Uncovered paper—	2,756,000,000	2,799,000,000	13,500,000,000
Total money—	11,001,000,000	13,680,000,000	24,660,000,000
National debts—	31,200,000,000	43,840,000,000	106,000,000,000
World population—	1,543,000,000	1,652,000,000	1,690,000,000

Mr. Austin's article goes on to show that the world's money, as classified by accepted authorities, is gold, silver, and uncovered paper, and that world national obligations, while not currency in the accepted sense of the term, do pass current among financiers and are always available for obtaining currency when passed across the counter of a bank.

In the thirteen years preceding the war, 1900-1913, the currency of the forty principal countries of the world—gold, silver, and uncovered paper combined—increased 25 per cent., and national debts 40 per cent., while population was increasing only 10 per cent. The average prices as indicated by index numbers of leading authorities show advances in the thirteen years preceding the war ranging from 15 to 25 per cent.

With the beginning of the war period, however, both world currency and national indebtedness increased with great rapidity and with this came also a rapid advance in prices. The increase in the short 1913-17 period in world currency was 80 per cent., of world indebtedness 142 per cent., and world population only 2½ per cent., while the advance in prices in the 1913-17 period ranged from 60 to 100 per cent.

The increase in world currency during the war period occurs chiefly in "uncovered paper." This large increase since 1913 occurred chiefly in the countries at war. The uncovered paper of the United Kingdom in 1913 was $115,000,000, and in 1917, $660,000,000; Germany, in 1913, $262,000,000, and in 1917, $1,613,000,000; France, in 1913, $326,000,000, and in 1917, $2,900,000,000; Italy, in 1913, $182,000,000, and in 1917, $661,000,000; for Russia no figures are available for 1913, but for Jan. 1, 1915, the total is $804,000,000, and in July, 1917, $4,285,000,000. Most of the $62,000,000,000 increase in national debts, from 1913 to 1917, has also occurred in the countries at war.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—Trading on the Bourse was very quiet today. Three per cent. rentes were quoted at 62f. 30c. for cash. Exchange on London was quoted at 27f. 10c. Five per cent. loan was quoted at 86f. 85c.

Patriotic Rally in Tent Evangel.

The second patriotic rally of the season in the Tent Evangel, at 110th Street and Amsterdam Avenue, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock. Dr. G. W. McPherson, the Superintendent, will speak on "Will America Be the Deciding Factor in the World War?" Professor Spooner ofChicago and Miss Ayers of New York will give patriotic music. A chorus of 100 voices will sing. The tent seats 4,000, and seats are free. It is in this tent that the noted English boy preacher, Charles Forbes Taylor, will begin his revival campaign next Sunday.

Here Is a Novel Ribbon Set.

An unusually attractive ribbon set has been brought out by a leading ribbon concern that is noted for its novelties. It consists of a military turban hat, a long, sweeping stole, a muff, and a handbag. All of these articles are made entirely of ribbon of a Persian design, and are trimmed with black beaver. The stole is lined with satin. The makers of the set expect great things of it.

See Little Improvement Ahead.

Authorities in the steel export trade feel that the dullness which they now are experiencing may continue for some time, even should peace come in the near future. The shortage of ships, it is felt, cannot be overcome to any great extent within the next eighteen months to two years. Aside from this it is contended that the inevitable uncertainty of the reconstruction period that immediately will follow the cessation of hostilities, while business is finding a way to meet the new conditions that will arise, also will keep trade stagnant. "And without an early declaration of peace," said one large exporter, "it will necessarily be longer before the present shipping difficulties can be appreciably overcome."

To Sell Teas Direct.

Apropos of the report of still higher prices to be asked for the teas used by consumers in this country, comes word from Consul General Thomas Sammons, who is stationed in Shanghai, China, that a tea company has been organized there for the purpose of dealing direct with the American public. This is the first effort on the part of a Chinese company to carry on business with customers in this counrty, and an advertising campaign featuring the small package done up in China for direct shipment to the user is to be inaugurated.

Are Buying Late, but Freely.

The falling off in orders which a great majority of automobile manufacturers felt during the two or three months following this country's entrance into the war has come to an end. Many of the well-known makers now are experiencing a rush of business such as ordinarily is felt only in the Spring. The feeling in the trade is that the public was a little scared at first and held off, fearing, as one dealer put it, all sorts of absurdities from 40 per cent. taxation to actual confication by the Government. But these allusions having passed, purchasers of cars who ordinarily would have bought in the Spring are buying now, with the result that leading producers are swamped with orders and are falling away behind on deliveries.

Business in Raw Furs Is Fair.

A fair business is passing in raw furs, with indications pointing to an active and general demand after certain projects now engaging the attention of the country are completed. According to a report of conditions sent out by Funsten Brothers & Co. of St. Louis, there is a better demand for Alaska sealskins, and the higher-priced Russian sables are selling very well. Muskrats, however, continue to be the most in demand. Narrow-striped skunk is good, while both American and Russian ermine, especially in the large sizes, are bringing high prices because of the small quantity available. Other well-known furs also are doing as well as usual at this time of the year, in spite of high prices. Dyeing difficulties are temporarily halting the demand for kolinsky and the skins used in imitating it.

Jewelry Exporters to Make Plans.

A meeting of manufacturers, jobbers, and others in this city interested in the project of the Department of Commerce in sending a representative to South America to investigate the jewelry, silverware, and kindred markets, will be held in the rooms of the National Jewelers' Board of Trade, 15 Maiden Lane, on Thursday at 2:15 P. M. S. W. Rosenthal, Special Agent of the Government, will be present to tell of his visits to various jewelry centres and the Government's plans to assist American jewelers. Mr. Rosenthal has already visited Newark, Providence, the Attleboros, Boston, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Chicago, and other cities, where he addressed various meetings in order to become acquainted with the desires of the jewelers and inform the trade of the Government's prospective plans. The meeting will be open to the entire trade.

Gray Goods Sales Not Large.

Gray goods buying was not active in the local market yesterday, and the bulk of the business that was done consisted of sales from second hands for spot and nearby deliveries. Both printcloths and sheetings shared in this trading, which was done at concessions of an eighth to a quarter of a cent from the revised figures that the mills were asking for the same goods. Some business was done on fine goods, but it was not large. Printcloths, which are easier at the moment than for some time, closed this way, the price applying to first-hand spot goods:

DR. BUTLER WANTS LA FOLLETTE OUSTED

Bankers Wildly Cheer Educator When He Says Action Would Shorten War.

NORTHCLIFFE URGES LOANS

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 27.—In a stirring speech which aroused 3,000 delegates to the annual convention of the American Bankers Association, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia University, accused Senator Robert M. La Follette of treason and evil-minded sedition and demanded his immediate expulsion from the United States Senate. He said that the country might as well put poison in the food of every American boy who went to war as to permit the Senator from Wisconsin to talk the way he did. No single act would go so far in shortening the war as the removal of La Follette, Dr. Butler declared. He announced that he was calling on the Senators of New Jersey, his native State, and the Senators of New York to rid the Senate of that man who had betrayed the Government of the United States.

Dr. Butler's remarks, delivered with a display of intense feeling, were received with loud applause and cheers.

Dr. Butler's address followed that of Lord Northcliffe, Chairman of the British War Mission to the United States, in which the London newspaper publisher pictured a gloomy outlook for an early peace, and pointed out the long and serious economic and military battles that would have to be fought before it would be possible to bring the war to a victorious conclusion.

Dr. Butler said the war against Germany was being fought in two places: that this country was fighting across the sea, and fighting here, where "evil-minded sedition, conspiracy, cowardice, and treason" existed.

Must Fight Sedition at Home.

"Our soldiers," he cried, "can fight a soldier's enemy, but you and I have got to fight sedition and cowardice! Have the American people lost their capacity for corporate indignation? There is a provision in the Constitution of the United States that either house of Congress may by a two-thirds vote expel a member. What are they thinking about, those honoroable patriotic men, to sit there and be contaminated by having Robert M. La Follette breathe the same air with them? Have we no courage? Are we so mealy-mouthed that we are afraid to make trouble with an object like that?" Applause and laughter followed these words, and Dr. Butler continued:

"Believe me, gentlemen, this is no laughing matter. It is the solemnly serious problem before our people. The other day Charles Edward Russell, a distinguished Socialist, who went by appointment of the President of the United States on the recent mission to Russia, stated in a public place that the Russian downfall was in no small part due to the reading by those poor ignorant Russian soldiers of this man's speeches in the Senate and on the hustings as evidence that the United States was not united and sincere in this war. Why, you might just as well put poison in the food of every boy that goes to his transport as to permit that man [La Follette] to talk as he does!

Freedom, Not Peace, the Ideal.

"Mr. President, I feel stirred from the very depths of my heart when I think that there are among our people those in high public place who have been trusted by confiding constituencies who will with their eyes wide open betray the Government of the United States in this war. And do you see the significance of these coöings about peace which come from Berlin? Do you recognize their significance? They are intended to weaken your effort and mine, in the hope that we may stay our hand before the new world of which we are in search has been discovered and organized. Any human being who asks for peace short of unconditional surrender is asking us to organize for another and still greater war. Peace is not an ideal. Peace is a state attendant upon the accomplishment of an ideal. The ideal is freedom, liberty to satisfy human wants and aspirations. Give us those and peace is secure."

Series of Wars Being Fought.

Lord Northcliffe said that the Allies were not fighting one war, but a series of wars, and urged that fact as one of the reasons why it was impossible to expect an early peace. He said that those who tried to delude themselves into the belief that we have a short war before them exaggerated the physical sufferings of Germany.

"I believe that America will even surpass her own magnificent record. It is not my business to criticise or even advise in this matter. I merely wish to indicate a joint in our armor which an unscrupulous and unsleeping enemy is sure to attack, and I want you, the massed battalions of finance, to bring up your reserves and simply smother him with all arms, big guns and small, subscriptions of a million dollars and subscriptions of a hundred dollars."

Lord Northcliffe predicted that the general movement for economy would soon strike the newspapers and that it would not be very long until American journals were considerably reduced in size. He said that in England the staff of every newspaper had been cut in half, that the men employed in mechanical departments had been turned to the making of shells, that members of the editorial branch of the papers had been assigned to the intelligence department of the war, while the reporters had made excellent scouts.

Lord Northcliffe exhibited a copy of La Patrie, a French evening newspaper, about eight by ten inches, and said that the New York papers would be reduced to that size in the near future. Lord Northcliffe said that the war was costing Great Britain $35,000,000 a day and that it had 7,500,000 men at arms in various parts of the world.

Speakers before today's business session of the American Bankers Association of the convention discussed the adjustment of our banking machinery to war conditions, and placed sepecial emphasis on three points. First, the need of saving the State banks and trust companies joining the Federal Reserve system in order that the nation's banking power be strengthened; second, the necessity for overcoming the old prejudice against the practice of rediscounting paper, and, third, the limitation of banking accommodations to legitimate business requirements and the refusal to grant credits for speculative purposes.

This morning's proceedings were taken up with the reading of the annual address of Peter W. Goebel, President of the Commercial National Bank of Kansas City, Kan., and President of the association, and speeches by George M. Reynolds, President of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago, and Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. How keenly the bankers feel regarding the importance of State institutions becoming members of the reserve system was indicated by Governor Strong, who solemnly expressed his conviction that the only weakness of the nation's financial organization was the lack of State bank membership in the system.

"One half of our financial army," he said, "is equipped with modern machinery by membership in the system. The other half, equally patriotic, is ineffectively armed. You will recall the disastrous results to the Russian armies in the early days of the war when large numbers were sent to the front without arms and ammunition. Don't let us fail of our duty for lack of the strength we can only enjoy if we are united. It may, indeed, rest with you State bank men to determine what shall happen to our boys—and they must come home victorious."

Pratt Arrests Two Hunters.

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Sept. 27.—While making an inspection of timber land in this vicinity on a canoeing trip today, George D. Pratt, State Conservation Commissioner, arrested two hunters who had no licenses and who had shot partridges out of season.

DEFENDS CRITICISM OF LINCOLN STATUE

DENIES GERMAN ORIGIN

F. Wellington Ruckstuhl Also Offers Joseph H. Choate's Opinion Against Proposed Monument in Russia.

F. Wellington Ruckstuhl, editor of The Art World, denied yesterday that he had, as alleged by Secretary A. B. Humphrey of the American Peace Centenary Committee, "originated" the campaign against the erection of George Grey Barnard's statue of Abraham Lincoln in London in commemoration of the hundred years of peace between the United States and England. Mr. Humphrey had referred to Mr. Ruckstuhl as "an adopted American," with the intention, according to Mr. Ruckstuhl, of calling attention to the Teutonic form of his name.

Mr. Ruckstuhl said last night that as a matter of fact he was an Alsatian, having been born in that country sixty-four years ago, and has been a resident of the United States since he was one year old. "So I have lived in this country nearly sixty-three years," he said, "and am as much a product of American civilization as was the sculptor Saint-Gaudens, who was born in Dublin of French and Irish parents. Moreover, I think I am, perhaps, more fiercely arrayed against the Prussian Government and all its stands for than is Mr. Humphrey, his people having never been ground down under the Prussian heels. Therefore, when Mr. Humphrey puts out the covert sneer at my being "an adopted American," he indulges in a kind of politics I did not think him capable of."

The editor of The Art World produced copies of letters that had been written by Robert Lincoln, Abraham Lincoln's son; the late Joseph H. Choate, Henry Cabot Lodeg, and others to prove he had not started the public attacks on the Barnard statue of Lincoln.

Mr. Ruckstuhl said that Robert Lincoln had written letters to him and to ex-President Taft protesting against the erection of the statue. The editor of The Art World said he had heard of the letter written by Mr. Lincoln to Mr. Taft, and asked Mr. Lincoln to write a letter for publication in The Art World expressing his views on the subject. He received the following reply:

Hildene, Manchester, Vt., Sept. 16, 1917.

F. Wellington Ruckstuhl, Esq., Editor The Art World, New York, N. Y.

My Dear Mr. Ruckstuhl: In reply to your suggestion that I should send you for publication a letter of protest against the erection in London and in Paris of the Barnard statue of my father, I find myself in difficulty, owing to the vigor and fullness of your own articles in the June and August issues of The Art World. I have already expressed to you my deep sense of gratification that you have so earnestly dealt with this miserable affair, from both artistic and public points of view, and I can think of nothing to add in those regards. But, as you did not know my own personal feeling and opinion when you kindly sent me your published articles, and think that there are others who might care to know them, I am sending you a copy of a letter written by me to President Taft, as soon as I heard of the London and Paris projects; I send also copies of letters giving the views of three gentlemen peculiarly able to express a personal opinion for reasons I indicate in notes appended to the copies. These you are at liberty to use as you may think proper.

Renewing my thanks to you for the helpful part you are taking in my efforts, believe me, very sincerely yours,

(Signed) ROBERT LINCOLN.

Mr. Ruckstuhl also gave out a copy of the letter Mr. Lincoln had written to Mr. Taft. It was as follows:

My Dear Mr. President:

I am writing to ask your consideration of a matter which is giving me great concern and to bespeak such assistance as you feel able to give me.

When I first learned through the newspapers that your brother, Mr. Charles P. Taft, had caused to be made a large statue of my father for presentation to the City of Cincinnati I very naturally most gratefully appreciated the sentiment which moved him to do this; when, however, the statue was exhibited early this Winter I was deeply grieved by the result of the commission which Mr. Taft had given to Mr. Barnard. I could not understand, and still do not understand, any rational basis for such a work as he has produced. I have seen some of the newspaper publications inspired by him, one of which, printed in The North American of Philadelphia in November, and another in The Literary Digest for Jan. 6 last, attempt to make explanations which are anything but satisfactory, to me at least. He indicates, if I can understand him, that he scorned the use of the many existing photographs of President Lincoln, and took as a model for his figure a man chosen by him for the curious artistic reasons that he was 6 feet 4½ inches in height, was born on a farm fifteen miles from where Lincoln was born, was about 40 years of age, and had been splitting rails all his life.

I understand that the completed statue has gone to Cincinnati to be placed. As to that I have nothing more to say, but I am horrified to learn just now that arrangements are being made for a statue of President Lincoln by the same artist, and I assume of a similar character, to be presented for location, one in London and one in Paris. I understand also that these statues are to be gifts by Mr. Taft. I do not think I have ever had the pleasure of meeting him, and I am, therefore, venturing to beg you on my account to intercede with him, and, if possible, to induce him to abandon this purpose, if it is true that he has it in mind. I should, of course, have filial pride in having a good statue of my father in London and in Paris, of a character like the two great statues of him made by Augustus Saint-Gaudens, and that which I have good reason to expect in the Lincoln Memorial, now being modeled by Daniel Chester French. That my father should be represented in those two great cities by such a work as that of which I am writing to you would be a cause of sorrow to me personally, the greatness of which I will not attempt to describe.

Believe me, my dear Mr. President, always sincerely yours,

The Hon. William Howard Taft.

"You will notice," said Mr. Ruckstuhl, "that this protest by Mr. Lincoln was made on March 22, 1917, two months before we published a word about the matter in The Art World, and so could not have influenced Mr. Lincoln."

Mr. Ruckstuhl said that Mr. Choate in a letter to Mr. Lincoln had characterized the Barnard statue of Lincoln as "horrible," and had promised to work against its erection. This letter was a week before Mr. Choate died. It read:

8 East Sixty-third Street,
May 7, 1917.

Dear Mr. Lincoln: I have not at all forgotten my promise to write you the needed letter. I have been more taken up since my return from Washington with an effort to stop the sending of a triplicate of the horrible statue (the Barnard statue) to Russia, the last place where your father ought to be represented by such an effigy. I inclose a copy of a conversation between Mr. Flint and the gentleman who seems to represent the Friends of Russia at 70 Fifth Avenue, which I thought looked rather hopeful in the way of stopping it.

You shall hear from me again in a few days, but just this week I am taken up every minute with the proposed visit of the French and English Commissions, as, unfortunately, I am acting as Chairman of the Mayor's Committee.

Very truly yours,

Hon. Robert T. Lincoln.

In commenting on this letter, Mr. Ruckstuhl said that Mr. Choate had had an opportunity to see Abraham Lincoln, having heard him make his speech at Cooper Institute on Feb. 27, 1860, and could therefore judge as to the likeness of the Barnard statue. After exhibiting copies of the letters that had also been written by Mr. Lodge and Clinton T. Conkling protesting against the statue, Mr. Ruckstuhl added:

"Mr. Humphrey must know of the existence of these protests from Lincoln's own son, Mr. Croate, and others, which we will print in the October issue of The Art World. How he could therefore be so unfair as to accuse me of misrepresenting that statue in the face of these protests, I will leave him to answer. This Lincoln of Mr. Barnard is supposed to symbolize 'Democracy.' If so, it is of the brand of sans-culottism, of the downward, leveling type, and if it is ever erected in London and Paris it will, in the judgment of many wise men, bring down upon us so much ridicule as to prove a national calamity."

M'ADOO TO OFFER 3 BILLION IN BONDS

and to the extent that the privileges of conversion so conferred shall arise and shall be exercised.

"If the privilege of conversion so conferred shall once arise, and shall not be exercised with respect to any bonds of the present series within the period above prescribed, then such privileges shall terminate as to such bonds, and shall not arise again though again thereafter bonds be issued bearing interest at a higher rate or rates than 4 per cent. per annum.

"Subscription for the bonds must reach the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., a Federal Reserve bank or branch thereof, or some incorporated bank or trust company in the United States (not including outlying territories and possessions) on or before the close of business Oct. 27, 1917. The applications must be accompanied by a payment of 2 per cent. of the amount applied for; and subsequent installments upon bonds allotted will be due as follows:

"Eighteen per cent. on Nov. 15, 1917.
"Forty per cent. on Jan. 15, 1918.

Bonds to be Ready on Jan. 15.

"I am very glad to be able to announce that by authorizing the engraving of these bonds with only four coupons attached instead of the full number of fifty coupons, it will be possible to have the actual bonds ready for delivery as soon as full payments are completed, thus avoiding the trouble and delay incident to the issue of interim receipts or temporary bonds. On and after Nov. 15, 1919, the holders of the bonds will have opportunity to exchange them for new bonds having attached thereto coupons for the balance of the period for which the bonds will run.

"It is also expected that on or about Oct. 10, 1917, there will be in the hands of the several Federal Reserve Banks a supply of these new bonds ready for immediate delivery to subscribers in amounts not in excess of $1,000 to any one subscriber against payment in full, thereby avoiding in such cases the trouble incident to waiting until after allotment for delivery. Plans are also being perfected whereby the banks all over the country can obtain bonds for the making of prompt delivery against these small subscriptions. As the bonds will bear interest from Nov. 15, and as those who pay in full prior to that time will not obtain any interest on their money until that date, this is offered as an alternative proposition to those who are anxious to obtain immediate possession of the bonds for which they subscribe. The reason this offer will be limited to amounts of not over $1,000 to any one subscriber is that all subscriptions in excess of this amount will be subject to allotment.

"The campaign for the sale of these bonds will open Monday, Oct. 1, and will close Saturday, Oct. 27. I confidently hope that when the campaign is over it will be found that the total number of subscribers is at least ten million and the total subscriptions in excess of five billion dollars. Such a response would be notice to our enemies that the American people as a whole intend to support with all their power their Government in the vigorous prosecution of this war and the achievement of an early and lasting peace."

MOVIE STARS TO AID LOAN.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Secretary McAdoo announced tonight that leading theatrical and moving picture stars of the country have taken part in a series of five hundred-foot moving picture films, which will be shown in the moving picture theatres of the country in the interest of the Second Liberty Loan of 1917.

These films, five in number, have been officially approved, and will be known as the "All Star Production in Patriotic Episodes for the Second Liberty Loan of 1917." The various stars are presented by David Belasco, De Wolf Hopper, and Wilton Lackaye. Among those who have taken part in the pictures are David Warfield, Raymond Hitchcock, John Drew, Douglas Fairbanks, Will Rogers, Ethel Barrymore, Mary Pickford, William Hart, Lillian Walker, Nance O'Neil, Lillian Russell, Billie Burke, Marguerite Clark, and Pauline Fredericks.

PERKINS RENEWS WAR ON FOOD MEN

Says He Will Do His Utmost to Destroy Practices of Gamblers.

DID NOT SEEK APPOINTMENT

Reveals That He Paid for the Fraser Advertisements in Which He Was Attacked.

A new declaration of war on the food speculators who have so stubbornly opposed the appointment of George W. Perkins as head of the new Food Control Commission is embodied in a letter which Mr. Perkins sent yesterday to Samuel Fraser of Geneseo. Mr. Fraser, as the representative of a number of farmers' and middlemen's organizations, has been leading the fight on Mr. Perkins at the Capitol during the present extraordinary session of the Legislature.

The letter was sent in response to a half-page advertisement, bristling with attacks on Mr. Perkins, which, oddly enough, while framed and signed by Mr. Fraser had been paid for by Mr. Perkins. It was said yesterday that Mr. Perkins had spent $25,000 of his own money to circulate this attack on himself in advertising form throughout the State and provide a peg on which to hang an answer.

"I shall endeavor to get out of the law every last ounce of power in it, to curb and destroy the pernicious practices of the gambler, the speculator, and the hoarder," said Mr. Perkins in his letter. "My well-known intention in this respect is largely responsible for the manufactured opposition to me."

Mr. Perkins said he did not want to become President of the Food Control Commission, but that the Governor had drafted him and that he had decided to accept the appointment because "no American citizen has the right to be a slacker at this critical period in our country's affairs."

Here is Mr. Perkins's letter:

Mr. Samuel Fraser, Geneseo, N. Y.:

Dear Sir—I have read your advertisement in this morning's papers. Permit me to correct several gross errors.

First. You say that in my speeches I have been advocating Prussian methods and that I seem to want to Prussianize this country. You have not the slightest ground for any such statement, and every one who has read any of my addresses or listened to my talks knows it. I have called the attention of our people to the advantages of many of Germany's economic methods. I have been doing this for many years and shall continue to do it; for I believe there is much in Germany's economic and industrial methods that our people should know and follow.

Second. You speak of me as being the head of the Harvester Company. I am not and never have been. I was prominent in the organization of the company and have been a Director of it ever since. I have been active in all that the company has done to promote the welfare of its employes, and few companies have done more. The condition at the Auburn works was inherited by the Harvester Company from a company it acquired, and was corrected by the present management. All this is a matter of record and could easily have been ascertained by any one who wanted to give a fair presentation of the case.

Third. You ask why I want to be President of the Food Commission. I do not. The Governor knows it; my friends and acquaintances know it. The Governor seemed to feel, however, that because of the time and study I have given during the last three years to the food problems of this State I ought to accept appointment as one of the three Commissioners, and he drafted me for the work. I hold, and I suppose you do, that no American citizen has the right to be a slacker at this critical period in our country's affairs. If I am confirmed by the Senate I shall discharge the duties of the office without fear or favor, and shall endeavor to get out of the law every last ounce of power in it for the benefit alike of the producer, the honest, efficient distributer, and the consumer. At the same time I shall endeavor to get out of the law every last ounce of power in it to curb and destroy the pernicious practices of the gambler, the speculator, and the hoarder; and my well-known intention in this respect is largely responsible for the manufactured opposition to me.

I am naturally gratified to find that nowhere in your advertisement do you question my ability or intention, if confirmed, to enforce the law. This in effect is the highest indorsement of the Governor's nomination.

I have lived in New York for over twenty-five years, and during that time have been fairly active in various matters. It is, therefore, a source of satisfaction to me to find that after having raked my record fore and aft, all that you can produce against me is contained in the statement that you and your associates set forth this morning. I believe the average man will agree with me that it is a pretty weak attempt to discredit me.

When at Batavia I made the agreement to pay the cost of your advertisement, of course I felt confident that, investigate my record as you would, you could produce nothing of a tangible nature against me. I am pleased, therefore, to have the people of this State know that this is the case.

Very truly yours,
GEO. W. PERKINS.

Mr. Perkins has spent several days up-State addressing audiences at county fairs in an effort to win the farmers. He said last night that he had enjoyed his trip and had found the meetings he addressed far more friendly than he had reason to expect, in view of the assertion of Senators from rural districts who advanced the opposition among their farmer constituents as their reason for voting against the confirmation of Mr. Perkins for the place at the head of the Food Control Commission.

"Do you expect to be confirmed when the Legislature meets again next week?" Mr. Perkins was asked.

"I have no means of knowing," said Mr. Perkins. "All I know is that Governor Whitman intends to send my name to the Senate again."

From Albany came word yesterday that friends of Governor Whitman would insist that the confirmation of Mr. Perkins be made a Republican caucus measure. This had not been done at the time Mr. Perkins was rejected, three weeks ago. In connection with this it was said that some up-State Senators who opposed his confirmation then in deference to the demand of their constituents would have a perfect excuse, if bound by caucus rule to reverse themselves.

They had known for some time that such action was contemplated and some of the heads of the big coastwise lines were consulted by the Government and assisted in working out details of the plan. Those who could be reached last night expressed confidence that the Shipping Board would deal fairly with those owning American bottoms. Alfred G. Smith, President of the New York and Cuban Mail Steamship Company, known as the Ward Line, said:

"Under the present conditions it was the best thing that could have happened to American shipping. Not only has the Government gone into the whole question carefully, but, I am sure, it has had the advice and the weight of experience of the best heads in the business. I have no doubt that the board will deal in absolute fairness with the ship owners."

Carl Jungen, head of the Southern Pacific Steamship Company, said:

"I think that all of us know there are sacrifices that must be made if we are going to win the war. The shipping men stand ready to make those sacrifices just as well as do those in other lines of endeavor. The taking over of ships by the Government means loss to the lines. Well, that will be a cost of war, for it is going to cost to win; but it would mean a far greater cost to lose.

"The Government's action will inconvenience coastwise shipping, especially vessels that operate in connection with railroads. We hope the Shipping Board will take the ships so gradually that there will be a minimum of difficulty. The whole thing might be summed up thus: The Government needs the ships, and we are with the Government."

H. H. Raymond, head of the Mallory and Clyde Lines, said:

"Requisitioning all of America's ocean shipping and not a part of it was the only thing that could be done. As patriots we are all with the Government. Whatever differences may arise in putting the plan into operation will, I am sure, be settled equitably in a short time. I think the Government intends to act fairly, and it is only fair that in a time of such great emergency American shipping should be taken over."

HILAIRE G. E. DEGAS, NOTED PAINTER, DIES

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Hilaire Germain Edgard Degas, the painter, died here today. He was a noted painter of the various phases of Parisian life, particularly the ballet and horse races. His "Les Danseuses a la Barre" realized $87,000 at the Roman sale, held several years ago, though Degas had originally sold it for $87.

Degas was born in 1832 and studied law, but later took up art. Several years ago his eyesight failed him, and he lived almost as a hermit. His career, however brilliant in the number of notable paintings which he produced, had few arresting moments for his biographers. He sought his masters in the Louvre and in Italy. He visited the United States about the time of the civil war, and was in Florida and Virginia. Upon his return he pursued his studies and talked aesthetics with the young men of his circle at the Café Guerbois in the Avenue de Clichy.

Help Clear Your Complexion While You Sleep

On retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment. Wash off in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water, using plenty of Soap and continue bathing a few minutes with Cuticura Soap. Rinse with tepid water. The cleansing soothing influence of this treatment on the pores extends through the night. This may be repeated in time. No doubt your doctor can tell you how to secure a clear complexion by the use of Cuticura Soap, especially when assisted by touches of Cuticura Ointment. They are really ideal for the toilet, being creamy and fragrant, and are suited for every-day toilet uses. You can buy them anywhere. Sample each free by return mail. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. 6M, Boston."

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Move Irregularly in a Rather Dull Session—Liberty Bonds Higher.

About the only interesting feature in yesterday's market on the New York Stock Exchange was a sudden advance in the last few minutes of trading in the Liberty 3½ per cent. bonds, which rose to a new high price at 100.14. While this premium, amounting to $1.40 on a $1,000 bond, is not enough to induce any widespread selling for profit, it is significant as reflecting a widening demand from wealthy investors whose purposes will not be so well served by the new taxable 4-per-cent. issue soon to be brought out. The 3½s did not sell above 100.02 on the previous day, and their closing price yesterday represented a net gain of a tenth of a point. The first inkling of the amount of the forthcoming issue was given by Governor Harding at Atlantic City, when he intimated that the new offering will consist of $3,000,000,000. Up to this time the question of making the initial issues at the higher rate, three billions or four has been open for discussion, and the semi-official statement that the smaller amount will be decided upon met with approval in the financial district. Lacking the tax exemption feature which made the first offering attractive to large investors, it will evidently be necessary to rely more upon the wide distribution of bonds among people of moderate means, and the smaller sized issue may have been decided upon with that thought in mind.

The stock market yesterday was subject again to considerations of tightening money. Call loans commanded 6 per cent. throughout the session, and there was a pronounced shortage of offerings in the time market. Facing the requirements that now lie ahead of them, the banks are not disposed to encourage the absorption of funds for speculation. Conditions should become easier after the turn of the month, but the Street is accustoming itself to the expectation of stiffer rates than it has been paying until recently.

Less than 500,000 shares changed hands in yesterday's market, and the movements showed no definite trend, a few issues moving sharply ahead while the bulk of the trading was being done at small price changes. A spectacular rise in Continental Can, which carried the price up 7¼ points, was accomplished on small dealings, and little interest was manifested in the rather narrow fluctuations which took place in other issues.

GOOD TONE IN LONDON.

Money Is Scarcer Owing to the Demand of Treasury Bills.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Money was scarcer today owing to the demand for Treasury bills and the withdrawal of some American balances. Discount rates were firm.

The stock market developed a good tone, but business was slack pending the announcement of the details of fresh war borrowing. Argentine rails and Brazilian bonds continued to improve and a large business was done in rubber, shipping and copper shares at hardening prices.

Trading Is Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 60 francs 60 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan, 88 francs 25 centimes.

SILVER OFF NEARLY 5 CENTS.

Decline Follows Sudden Reduction in Far Eastern Buying Orders.

The price of silver dropped 4⅞ cents an ounce yesterday, following a break of 2½d in London. The movement, while not unexpected in view of the rapid rise since Aug. 1, was greater than had been looked for in a single day. Silver bullion dealers in Wall Street said the decline was the heaviest for one day since the market passed through the violent fluctuations following the declaration of the armistice in the Russo-Japanese War which preceded peace.

Silver was depressed, dealers said, chiefly because of a sudden decline of buying orders from the Far East, particularly China. With the 2-cent drop on Wednesday and the smaller recessions earlier in the week, silver at $1.01⅝ yesterday showed a decline of nearly 7 cents from the high quotation of last week. The current decline was said to be temporary by silver merchants who know the needs of the world, and of the probable supplies that will be available in the remainder of the year.

Presumably, the licensing system put into effect by President Wilson a few days ago in respect to exports of coin and bullion had some influence on the decline. Uncertainty over the amount which may be shipped to other countries tended to check bidding for the metal.

The third annual report of the American Water Works and Electric Company, Inc., for the year ended June 30, 1917, shows net earnings of $648,234, an increase of $139,101 over the report for the previous year. This increase was largely due to the resumption of dividend payments on the preferred stock of the West Penn Traction and Water Power Company, held by the American Water Works, the controlling company's share in this dividend amounting to $139,266.

The American Water Works Company improved its position during the year, however, by satisfying the accumulated back dividend of 21 per cent., due on its first preferred stock, with a payment of 3 per cent. in cash, 9 per cent. in first preferred stock at par, and 9 per cent. in common stock at 22½. Following this action the Directors declared the current dividend of 1¾ per cent. for the quarter ending July 27, payable Aug. 25 to stock of record Aug. 20, on the outstanding first preferred stock.

EXCHANGE EXPELLS TWO.

Members Accused of Acting as Both Brokers and Principals.

For the third time this year the Stock Exchange Governors yesterday inflicted the maximum penalty on members found guilty of "conduct inconsistent with just and equitable principles of trade." Announcement was made from the Exchange rostrum that Herbert C. Taylor and John W. Cornwell had been expelled, while H. D. Lewis was suspended for two years. The latest Stock Exchange directory states that Taylor was admitted to membership on May 26, 1892, and Cornwell became a member on Oct. 27, 1904, and Lewis on June 1, 1895.

The charge on which the members were haled before the Governing Committee was of acting both as brokers and principals in dealings on the floor. This was the charge which resulted in the expulsion of two members earlier in the year.

Lucius Wilmerding was elected a Governor yesterday to succeed Eugene Meyer, Jr. Mr. Meyer recently dissolved his firm in order to devote all his time to work of the War Industries Board at Washington.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Scarcity of Bull Arguments.

It would not be extraordinary for an active bull market to get under way with call money as high as 6 per cent., but conditions would have to be different from those which have been present for some weeks. A broker needs to be hardy, indeed, to advise his customers to increase speculative holdings if he cannot recite some definite reasons why stocks ought to go up, and such reasons have been scarce this month. The fixing of steel and copper prices imparted a temporary impetus to stocks largely because of psychological influences. Copper men said they were satisfied with their price, and steel men, as a whole, voiced the same opinion, and from these views traders in stocks took a little heart. Fundamentally, what the steel and copper producers said did not change the situation. Thre are a lot of details to be worked out before any one will know exactly how the steel and copper companies will fare in respect to net earnings in the next twelve months. When this is known the public is likely to take cognizance of real developments as soon as persons close to the ticker. At least, this is the belief of some traders who are still averse to taking a market position one way or the other.

Democratizing the Erie.

An extremely interesting experiment in the direction of putting the selection of men for promotion on a more democratic basis has just been announced by the Erie Railroad. In order to "enlarge on and continue" the practice of filling such posts as Superintendents, Assistant Superintendents, Trainmasters and Yardmasters, Despatchers, Master Mechanics, &c., from among its own lower employes, the Erie invites and requests any employe who feels himself capable of filling a higher post to write a letter to his Superintendent and tell him so. Such letters will be considered confidential. Moreover, any employe is invited to recommend any fellow-employe of whom he thinks highly, for promotion. The management is at pains to explain that letters of this kind will be welcomed, as showing a praiseworthy spirit of ambition on the part of the man who writes it.

Safe and Sane.

"The consensus of opinion is that the Government steel prices will have the immediate effect of stabilizing not only the steel business," says the Pittsburgh correspondent of The Iron Age, "but all business in general. For nearly two years the steel business has been on a fictitious basis, brought about largely by the fact that domestic consumers were bidding against each other with the mills, trying to get their orders placed. This ran up prices on pig iron, billets, sheet bars and finished material to absolutely unheard-of figures. It now seems that the day of 10-cent plates, 5-cent to 6-cent steel bars, and other prices in proportion has gone, and that the steel business will quickly return to a safe, sane basis."

Dividend Stability.

The relation of dividends and excess profits taxes is receiving considerable attention; also the relation of working capital and dividends. The Washington authorities have let it be known that the method to be applied in collecting extraordinary taxes will be of a sort to prevent hardship, and in this is contained a hint to corporations not to get excited and take unusual measures to keep themselves intrenched in cash. The new steel prices should admit of an excellent profit to the manufacturers over all taxes now in sight, and dividends now being paid appear conservative. The copper companies also should do well enough with 23½ cent metal and a demand in excess of supplies. The railroads are not doing as well, as a whole, as last year, but it must be remembered that 1916 was considerable of a year, and earnings are not really discouraging. These conditions do not yet show a reason for promoting pessimism about dividends.

Those Ocean Freight Rates.

After two days spent in futile conjecture and speculation in the effort to make something definite of the vague and fragmentary reports which have so far come out of Washington regarding the Shipping Board's proposed schedule of chartering rates, the shipping trade yesterday settled down to wait in such patience as it could muster for the return of Welding Ring, Chairman of the Chartering Committee, from Washington, with some definite news as to what these things mean. Everybody yesterday was inclined to be hopeful, but unable to link up such reports as had been available with the methods under which they have been used to doing business. For instance, the rate of $5 75 per ton per month, mentioned, apparently as a basic rate for time charters, is from $4 to $5 below a rough average of prevailing market rates on this business. But rates vary so widely according to the individual ship, the length of voyage and nature of cargo, to say nothing of numerous other factors, that the rate by itself means little or nothing.

Copper Mining Picks Up.

Dispatches received by mining companies from their fields in the Northwest indicate that striking workmen are steadily returning to their places, and the production of copper is increasing in consequence. The Anaconda mines are said to be running at about 60 per cent. of capacity. In refinery operations the real stress of the July-August strike of miners in Montana and Arizona is being felt now and probably several more weeks will pass before they are able to get back to a normal basis, provided that mining continues to pick up without any setback. It is toward the refineries that producers and consumers look for a comprehensive view of the available supplies.

NEW HIGH RECORD FOR LIBERTY BONDS

A. J. HEMPHILL URGES ACTION

Liberty Loan bonds yesterday made a new high record in the New York bond market, $2,000 worth selling at 100.14. This was the highest figure in a day of extremely active trading in the bonds of all denominations, most of the sales being at or slightly above par. The bonds have approached this figure once or twice before, but never quite attained it.

"Save and invest should be the war cry of Americans here at home," said Alexander J. Hemphill, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Guaranty Trust Company, in an interview yesterday discussing the forthcoming second Liberty Loan. "We have no time to lose. War is a battle of men, money, materials, and minutes, and let me tell you that time is a mighty big factor. The proposition before the nation this minute is to save and invest for the Government's sake. Time is precious. We can't wait. Your savings are the Government's ammunition today. The Government asks that you make it your savings depository and it will pay you interest.

"To the small investor or the man or woman who has never bought a bond before, I would like to say that there is absolutely no danger of your money going out of circulation because you lend it to the Government on Liberty bonds. Every cent you invest with Uncle Sam is spent in this country. Not one penny goes outside. The money never leaves circulation, and when you get down to the bottom of it you really use your own money while the Government pays you interest."

Two big Liberty Loan rallies will be held in New York, one in Madison Square Garden on the evening of Oct. 5, the other in Carnegie Hall on the evening of Oct. 18. Mayor Mitchel, Colonel Roosevelt, and at least one member of the Cabinet, will speak in Madison Square Garden. Speakers for the other meeting will be announced later. Meanwhile the Speakers' Bureau of the Liberty Loan Committee of New York has arranged to provide speakers for any meeting that is held in any town, village or community centre in the district, and hopes to see that at least two meetings are held in each important centre. There will be at least one Liberty Loan night in every theatre in New York during the campaign.

The Distribution Committee of the Liberty Loan Committee has written a circular letter to all the banks in the district advocating arrangements for the payment of all Liberty bond subscriptions by partial payments, in order to carry the loan through with the least possible disturbance to banking arrangements.

The current week is to be the last during which salesmen of investment houses will push their lines of railroad or industrial bonds to their clients until after the Liberty Loan has been successfully floated. Beginning next Monday, it is expected, every bond salesman will concentrate all his attention on pushing the Government loan. This arrangement is one of many in which the work of pushing the second Liberty Loan is now far ahead of the progress made at the same stage of the first campaign.

REQUESTS ALL BANKS NOT TO EARMARK GOLD

Metal Thus Diverted Looked Upon by Reserve Board as Practically Exported.

Benjamin Strong, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, sent a letter yesterday to all financial institutions of this Reserve district which demonstrated the careful watch now being kept by the Government on the country's gold. All banks, trust companies, and banking houses were asked not to "earmark" gold in their vaults for foreign accounts, except with the approval of the Federal Reserve Board, as such a diversion of the metal from use as reserve money is considered by the board tantamount to the export of gold.

Last Monday the Guaranty Trust Company withdrew $2,000,000 in gold from the Sub-Treasury on an order from a foreign client, a bank, and earmarked it. The metal then became part of the foreign bank's reserve. Of late there have been many withdrawals of sums running from $100,000 to more than $500,000 from the Sub-Treasury, apparently for export, but to destinations which were not disclosed.

Presumably, much of this metal has been earmarked, representing the conversion of credits into gold which was to be held until the foreign owners asked delivery or disposed of it here. In view of the practical embargo put into effect by President Wilson a few days ago, this method of locking up gold has been looked upon in banking quarters as an evasion of the letter of the embargo ruling, and it is evident that the Federal Reserve Board has taken a similar attitude toward earmarking.

The letter, besides asking that a stop be put to earmarking, requested information in respect to gold already held in vaults on foreign account. In making public the letter, officers of the Reserve Bank made it clear that the Reserve Board's request was comprehensive, applying to any institution or individual who set aside gold for foreign customers as well as to banks who were communicated with directly.

Announcement was made that the St. Lawrence Trust Company of Ogdensburg had been admitted as a member of the Federal Reserve system. The company was organized in 1915 and has a capital and surplus of $125,000. This is the sixth institution with a State charter to join the Reserve system in the New York district.

H. E. BYRAM HEADS ST. PAUL.

Succeeds A. J. Earling, Who Becomes Chairman of Board.

Directors of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway yesterday elected H. E. Byram President to succeed A. J. Earling, who became Chairman of the Board. Mr. Byram was formerly Vice President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy.

Mr. Earling said after the meeting that the activities of the I. W. W. in the Northwest had resulted in a heavy decrease of traffic over the St. Paul in the way of ore and lumber. In August, he asserted, hardly a single carload of lumber passed over the road, and the lessened haulage would show adversely in the earnings for the month.

"Conditions have improved of late," he continued, "as the men who struck in the mines and woods are going back to work. August earnings will show a small decline in gross and a large decline in net earnings. The current month will make a better showing."

THE COTTON MARKET

The weather resumed sway on the local cotton market yesterday, and ruled as the most important feature throughout a comparatively quiet day. Its uncertainties proved much less than those of the various peace, export and embargo rumors on which speculation has of late been feeding, and the days' fluctuations were comparatively limited. The close of the session found the entire list notably steady at an advance of from 22 to 29 points, approaching the quotations at the close of last week's advance.

The opening was steady at an advance of 13 to 33 points, and after some little irregularity the market turned firm on the bullish character of the weather news and reports of a firm spot market. Active months sold about 30 to 42 points net higher before the end of the morning, but demand tapered off at this level, with prices turning easier under liquidation and selling for a reaction. A private crop report, which had been expected to make a very bullish showing, was published around midday, making the condition 62.5c against 67c a month ago. The indicated deterioration of 4.5 per cent was less than expected, being below the ten-year average, and this probably inspired part of the early afternoon selling. There were also reports from New Orleans that the tropical storm approaching the Gulf coast did not seem of great intensity, and some of the local map readers thought that its course might be deflected by the high barometer reported in the western part of the belt. After a break of about 30 to 35 points, the market steadied up on covering and reports of heavy rains in New Orleans.

The cold rains reported in the Western belt were one of the factors in the early advance, and the forecast was for frost tonight in parts of Oklahoma and Arkansas. It seemed, however, that bullish features were failing to inspire as active and aggressive a demand as on the advances of last week, and the selling probably reflected a disposition to take profits on long cotton in advance of the Government reports expected on next Tuesday. The report circulating late on Wednesday that the French Government had prohibited further imports was denied with later advices, indicating that regulations had been issued to govern importations which would prevent shipments that had not been properly licensed. The State Commissioner of Agriculture of Louisiana has called a meeting of cotton growers to be held in New Orleans on Oct. 2 for the purpose of discussing the advisability of holding cotton for 30 cents per pound minimum. Southern spot markets as officially reported were unchanged to 50 points higher. Exports for the day were 8,815 bales.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

The movement of wheat at interior points is increasing but slowly, and complaints are being received of difficulty in making purchases for milling purposes. Receipts, however, are gradually assuming more normal proportions, and the difficulty is that there is an abnormal demand, due to the fact that consumers of flour held off for weeks while the question of the price was being discussed in Washington, and they have not yet been able to replenish supplies. The flour output at the three Northwestern milling centres last week fell off 21,000 barrels from the previous week, but were 98,000 in excess of last year.

CORN.

The action of the corn market displayed a feeling of hesitancy about following the upward trend of values. Some uneasiness was felt regarding the safety of the crop, due to the appearance of light frost in the section west of the Mississippi. The crop is now nearing maturity, and many believe that it is now a question of quality rather than quantity, while much of the crop is already past the point where frosts would cause damage. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $2.17½; No. 2, mixed, $2.15½, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

The oats market moved in a rather irregular manner and closed with September ¼c higher, and the other months ⅛c to ¼c lower. A little belated covering in September gave that position a relatively firmer tone than the other month, although it was the prevailing opinion that stocks in Chicago are large enough to dispel fears of any serious congestion. The local cash market was quiet; standard quoted at 66½ to 67c; No. 2 white, 67c; No. 3 white, 66 to 66½c; No. 4 white, 65½c to 66c, fancy clipped white, 68@70c; ordinary clipped white, 66@68c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products was nervous and irregular with feverish price changes. The hog situation was very strong, but there was considerable hesitation about following the bull side although bears were equally timid and there was a disposition to await developments. Total receipts of hogs at Western points were only 39,000 of which Chicago contributed 6,000, Kansas City, 4,000 and Omaha, 3,900. Estimated receipts at Chicago for Friday were 5,000 hogs.

COTTONSEED OIL.

A nervous undertone prevailed in the market for cottonseed oil and, after showing a sharp early advance, which in some cases carried prices to new high records, the market reacted and closed irregular, with prices ranging from 6 points lower to 2 points net higher. Total sales were 53,100 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

A moderate early decline was followed by a partial recovery in the market for coffee futures yesterday owing to reports of a firmer cost and freight situation. Business was generally quiet, sales being reported of only 17,750 bags, and price changes were slight, the close being 1 to 3 points net lower. A moderate demand was reported in the local spot market, with prices unchanged on the basis of 8⅝ for Rio 7s and 9⅞ for Santos 4s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

The market for raw sugar was a little easier, and spot prices were reduced ⅛c. Business, however, was light, with refiners inclined to limit operations to nearby requirements only. In fact, local refiners have been asked to limit their stocks to ten days' requirements only. The sales were 5,000 bags of Cubas for prompt shipment to a local refiner at 5⅞c, cost and freight. October shipment was offered at that price without interesting buyers. The close was 5⅞c for Cubas, cost and freight, equal to 6.90c for centrifugal and 6.02c for molasses. The market for refined sugar was steady and unchanged at 8.40@8.50c for fine granulated. There was a good demand, but refiners were unable to fill all the orders, and some were restricting business. Withdrawals on old orders were fair.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 8,157 packages. Under a pretty fair demand, prices were further advanced and the market held firm. All grades of fresh creamery shared in the improvement. Unsalted is stronger at the moment than salted goods. Renovated is firm. Ladles and packing stock are in sellers' favor. EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 12,998 cases. The market continued generally dull and in buyers' favor. New-laid qualities were comparatively scarce, and the light offerings that contained a good to large proportion of such were generally held about steady. Trade, however, was quiet and selective. H. W. HILL, Treasurer.

TO TRAIN CREDIT MEN.

National Institute to be Established by Association.

Plans for the establishment of a National Institute of Credit, which is to have courses similar to those of the American Institute of Banking in the higher educational institutions throughout the country, were made public last night by J. H. Tregoe, Secretary-Treasurer of the National Association of Credit Men. Mr. Tregoe said that several prominent educators had already promised to co-operate with his organization in conducting nation-wide propaganda in the leading universities and colleges, so that young men may get a scientific knowledge of credits and business generally. Those who are financing the new institute assert that as a result of the activities of the men in charge of the courses the business and credit standards of the country will be vastly improved.

Dr. J. T. Holdsworth of the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. C. W. Gerstenberg of New York University, and Dr. R. C. Lord of Boston University, comprising the Advisory Board of the National Committee on Credit Education and Management, and David E. Golieb, Chairman of the last-mentioned body, are soon to hold a conference in the offices of Mr. Tregoe, at 41 Park Row, at which they will discuss details connected with the movement.

Arrangements are to be made at the conference whereby branches of the National Institute of Credits will be established in the chief educational institutions throughout the country. The Young Men's Christian Association is also to co-operate with the credit men.

The conferees have recommended the following studies to be designated as a standard course and to be covered by the student in not less than two years: Principles of business, merchandising, accounting, credits and collections, economics, banking and currency, barometrics, business law of contracts, business English and correspondence, corporation finance, business law, negotiable instruments, bankruptcy, foreign trade, credits, and research.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Notwithstanding that Liberty bonds sold up to 100.16 and closed at the top, trading on the Consolidated Stock Exchange showed no particularly notable expansion. In itself this advance in Liberty bonds should have been and was viewed as distinctly bullish, but the confused movements of the market up to 2 o'clock acted as a deterrent to a renewal of trading on the part of commission-house clients. Money also was high, holding around 6 per cent. the greater part of the session.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Lehigh Valley Railroad has been compelled to discontinue its lake steamship line running from Buffalo to Chicago, all four of its ships having been commandeered by the United States Shipping Board to be put into transatlantic service.

Receiver Kalbach of the Second Avenue Railroad Company announces that he is authorized to pay the interest on $3,140,000 outstanding receiver's certificates, at 6 per cent., for the six months ending Oct. 1, at the office of the Guaranty Trust Company, and to issue new certificates to such holders of the old as desire to exchange them. The new certificates will be dated Oct. 1, 1917, and redeemable Oct. 1, 1918, at par and accrued interest.

The final installment of subscriptions to stock of the Detroit Edison Company and the Semet-Solvay Company is payable Oct. 1 at the office of the Bankers' Trust Company.

J. D. Ayers, Vice President of the Bank of Pittsburgh, has resigned as a Director of the United States Glass Company, being succeeded by Reuben Haley, who also becomes assistant to President Bryce.

Swan & Finch Company has declared a dividend of 2½ per cent., the first dividend declared since March, 1913, when 5 per cent. was paid.

A special meeting of the stockholders of the Midvale Steel Company will be held on Oct. 18 to consider amendments to the by-laws.

The Scranton Electric Company, which is controlled by the American Gas and Electric Company, has sold $613,000 three-year 6 per cent. secured gold notes to Edward B. Smith & Co. This is the first time that this company has resorted to financing by short-term notes.

Application has been made to the Public Service Commission by the Auburn Syracuse Electric Railway Company for authority to issue $292,000 in first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds and to issue thereunder immediately $115,000 for refunding purposes.

The report of the California Railway & Power Company for the year ended June 30 last, issued yesterday, shows a net income of $18,544, which, with the existing surplus of $14,013, was employed to pay off the $28,000 of dividends on the preference stock, leaving a balance of $4,557. The United Railroads of San Francisco, to reorganize which the California Railway & Power Company was formed, show a net income of $1,857,842, of which $1,594,364 was needed to pay the outstanding bond interest, leaving a net earning of $263,478.

FINANCIAL NOTICES.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE FIRST MORTGAGE FIVE PER CENT. SINKING FUND GOLD BONDS OF THE APPALACHIAN POWER COMPANY, (a Virginia Corporation,) dated June 1, 1911, issued under and secured by a trust deed from said Company to Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Trustee, dated June 1, 1911.

The undersigned, Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings Bank, Trustee under said trust deed, hereby gives notice that, pursuant to the terms of said trust deed, Fifty-nine Thousand, Two Hundred Forty Dollars, ($59,240,) has been deposited with it to the credit of the sinking fund under said trust deed, and said Trustee intends to apply such funds, so far as the amount thereof will permit, to the purchase of, and now invites offerings for the sale to it of, bonds secured by said trust deed, at a price not exceeding par, accrued interest, and five per cent. premium.

Such offerings shall be submitted, sealed, in writing, to the undersigned, on or before noon of the 10th day of October, 1917, at the office of the undersigned, No. 208 S. La Salle Street, Chicago, Illinois, and from such offerings the said Trustee will purchase such bonds as are offered at the lowest price, not exceeding the price above set forth, sufficient to exhaust the moneys in said sinking fund.

Lot 7

Lot 8

In this lot all the properties covered by lots 1 to 7, inclusive, will be offered for sale as an entirety.

Lot 9

All other property of said Autosales Gum & Chocolate Co., other than that contained in lots 1 to 8, inclusive, (except cash in bank or in the hands of the Receivers, but not excepting cash in machines or in the hands of collecting agents other than the agents of the Receivers), and including among other things the following: machinery, tools, dies, patterns, patents, vending machines, weighing scales, coin and merchandise in machines, accounts receivable, bills receivable, material, real estate, to wit: 15 lots located in Gary, Ind., office furniture and fixtures, merchandise, deferred obligations of Sterling Gum Company, Inc., lease of property of Weighing & Sales Company, lease of 96 Spring Street, New York City, lease of 127 South Green Street, Chicago, Ill., trade contracts with American Chicle Company, Sterling Gum Company, Inc., and Stollwerck Bros., Inc., contracts with railroads relating to the operation of vending, weighing, match and cup machines, the said property and its location being more specifically described in a certain detailed inventory thereof which is on file with the Clerk of the said Court, and copies of which may be had upon application either to the said Clerk or to the Receivers at their office, 96 Spring Street, Borough of Manhattan, New York City.

Lot 10

In this lot all the properties covered by Lots 1 to 9, inclusive, will be offered for sale as an entirety.

Terms and Conditions of Sale.

For detailed statement of the terms and conditions of sale reference is hereby made pursuant to the said decree, to the full text of the said decree the original of which is on file with the Clerk of the said Court and copies of which may be had upon application as aforesaid.

As more fully provided by the said decree the terms and conditions of the sale are as follows:

(a) From time to time the undersigned are authorized to adjourn the sale as provided in the decree.

(b) Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, or any holder of the bonds of Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company or any creditor or stockholder thereof or any party to the aforesaid causes may bid at the sale, and, if a successful bidder may purchase in its or their own right.

(c) No bid will be received for any of the Lots numbered 1 to 8, inclusive, unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, a sum which shall at least equal $2 per share of the stock bid for, or in lieu thereof, in whole or in part, bonds of the Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company which will be taken for this purpose at 50% of their par value.

(d) No bid will be received for Lot 9 unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, the sum of $20,000, which may be provided in whole or in part by assignments of allowed claims against Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company which will be taken for this purpose at 50% of their par value.

(e) No bid will be received for Lot 10 unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, the sum of $40,000, which may be provided in whole or in part by deposit of the aforesaid bonds or assignments of allowed claims, either of which will be accepted in lieu of cash at 50% of their par value.

(f) No bid will be accepted for any of the Lots numbered 1 to 7, inclusive, unless the aggregate of the bids for those lots shall equal or exceed the sum of $400,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 8 unless it equals or exceeds the said sum of $400,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 9 unless it equals or exceeds the sum of $600,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 10 unless it equals or exceeds the sum of $1,000,000.

(g) Subject to the above provisions, the said several Lots will be knocked down and sold to the several highest bidders therefor, but if the highest bid for Lot 8 equals or exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for Lots 1 to 7, inclusive, then it will be accepted, and provided further that if the highest bid for Lot 10 equals or exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for Lots 1 to 7, inclusive, or 8 as the case may be, when added to the highest bid for Lot 9, then it will be accepted.

(h) Deposits received from unsuccessful bidders or from successful bidders in case of non-confirmation by the Court will be returned, but deposits received from successful bidders in case of confirmation will be applied on account of the purchase price.

(i) Deposits made by prospective bidders for separate parcels may be applied on account of bids offered by them for entireties.

(j) So much of the purchase price of the several Lots aforesaid as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may in the case of Lots 1 to 8, inclusive, be paid in whole or in part by delivering to the Receivers bonds of Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company or matured coupons thereof for credit at such sum as would be payable thereon out of the proceeds of the sale if provided wholly in cash; and so much of the purchase price of Lot 9 as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may be paid in whole or in part by delivering to the Receivers assignments of allowed claims against said Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company (including allowed deficiency claims in respect to the aforesaid bonds and coupons) for credit at such sums as may be determined by the Court to be payable thereon out of the said purchase price if provided wholly in cash; and so much of the purchase price of Lot 10 as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may be paid in whole or in part by delivery of such bonds and coupons or such assignment of claims (including such deficiency claims) to be severally credited as aforesaid, such bonds and coupons however not being accepted in excess of the proportion of the purchase price applicable to Lots 1 to 8, inclusive, and such assignments of claims (including deficiency claims) not being accepted in excess of the proportion of the purchase price applicable to Lot 9, all as more particularly described in the said decree.

(k) In lieu of the deposit of bonds as qualification for bidders, or on account of the purchase price, certificates will be accepted of any solvent bank, banking institution or firm or trust company within the United States that it holds such bonds subject to the order of the undersigned.

(l) No purchaser shall be required to see to the application of the purchase money nor be answerable for any loss or misapplication thereof.

(m) In case any successful bidder shall fail to make the payments required by the decree or to comply with the provisions thereof or to comply within twenty days after the entry thereof with any order of the Court requiring or relating to the payment of the balance of the purchase price, then the said bidder's deposit may be forfeited as an exclusive penalty for such failure and applied to the expenses of a re-sale and toward any deficiency or loss in case of ultimate sale for a less amount and to such other purposes as the Court may direct.

(n) The successful bidder may assign his bid.

(o) The purchaser of Lot 10 shall as part of the consideration therefor pay any unpaid compensation allowed to the Special Master appointed by the said decree or the Receivers or their counsel and also any unpaid indebtedness and liabilities of said Special Master or the Receivers incurred in the aforesaid causes or in the management or operation of the property or otherwise in the discharge of their duties prior to the delivery of the property sold; and all claims, including State, city, and county taxes and assessments, which shall be a prior lien upon any of said property; and any purchaser of any of the other Lots shall as part of the consideration therefor pay such of the aforesaid claims as the Court shall order to be applicable to the particular Lot or Lots so purchased.

(p) Any purchaser or successor or assignee of a purchaser shall have the right to appear in the aforesaid causes, or any of them, and contest any claim therein which may be undetermined at the time of sale or thereafter arising and which is payable under the terms of the said decree by said purchaser or chargeable against the property purchased by him, and shall have the right of appeal from any decision relating thereto.

(q) Any purchaser or his successor or assignee shall have the right within ninety days after delivery to him of the deed or other instruments of transfer of the property purchased or within such additional time as the Court may direct, to reject any part of the property sold other than contracts made by or adopted by the Receivers, and no user of such property prior to the expiration of such period shall preclude the purchaser from such election.

(r) Upon confirmation of the sale and receipt of or due provision for the purchase price, the Receivers will deliver to the purchaser deeds or other proper instruments transferring the title, subject to the provisions of the decree, and the purchaser shall be entitled to all revenues received and compensations for services rendered by the Receivers in the operation of the premises conveyed subsequent to the date of the sale as well as all other properties acquired by the Receivers subsequent thereto.

(s) By the said decree all questions relating to the amounts of compensation, charges, allowances, costs, disbursements, and expenses are reserved by the Court for further hearing, determination and settlement.

(t) For further particulars in regard to the above matters reference is hereby made, as provided in said decree, to its terms, the original of the decree being filed as aforesaid and copies thereof obtainable as aforesaid.

TO HELP CONSERVE WOOL.

At a joint meeting of the leading clothing manufacturers' associations of this city, held yesterday morning in the Hotel Brevoort, resolutions were unanimously adopted indorsing the recent suggestions of the Commercial Economy Board of the Council of National Defense relating to the conservation of the wool supply of the country. These are as follows:

The reduction of selling samples to 50 per cent. of what has been the regulation size heretofore.

The reduction of reference swatches to a size as small as is consistent with their use.

The elimination of belts on all belted garments, whether full-belted or half-belted; of inside vest pockets, of cuffs on sleeves, and of suspender buttons on young men's trousers. The shortening of inseams from unnecessary lengths.

All the foregoing recommendations apply to the Spring season of 1918, and have no reference to the Fall season of 1917.

Dr. Melvin T. Copian, Secretary of the Commercial Economy Board, attended the meeting and emphasized the imperative need for economy in all-wool fabrics in order that the wants of the army and navy may be supplied with the least possible disturbance to commercial trade.

The resolutions adopted are to be given the greatest possible publicity and are to be widely circulated among the wholesale and retail trade. In all probability, it is said, the Government will conduct a similar campaign to the end that novelty clothing may be tabooed by those young men of the country who are not in uniforms.

The meeting was attended by members of the Clothiers' Association of New York, the American Clothing Manufacturers' Association, and the Associated Boys' Clothing Manufacturers of Greater New York.

Similar resolutions already having been adopted by the leading clothiers in Chicago, Baltimore, and Rochester, the only large clothing centres still unheard from are Boston and Cincinnati. Action in both of these cities, however, is looked for in the near future.

Fancy Underwear Well Taken.

Manufacturers of fancy undergarments for women are reported to be doing an unusually large volume of business in printed white silk marquisettes, and black georgette trimmed with gilt flowers and dainty ribbon arrangements. There also is reported an active demand for flesh colored chiffons in such color combinations as salmon and old blue. Retailers are said to be doing a fairly active business and to be placing reorders freely, apparently wishing to keep their stocks well up for the approaching holiday trade.

Are Holding Stocks Close.

In common with buyers of other lines of ready-to-wear, managers of infants' and children's departments in most of the stores are sailing very close to the wind this season in the matter of stocks. This is attributed chiefly to two things, the first being the high cost of the merchandise, and the second the uncertainty that still exists in certain quarters regarding the effect of the war. On the whole, the business that has been done to date in these goods is a little ahead of last year, but this is said to be due to the cool weather that marked the early part of the month. With the rising temperature of the last few days buying has dropped off appreciably, and this is taken as proof that buyers for the most part are operating on a marked, hand-to-mouth basis. The bulk of the business done so far, however, has been on the higher-priced garments.

Predicts Big Season in Gowns.

"This season is going to be one of the biggest we have ever had for elaborate evening gowns," says one of Fifth Avenue's most exclusive dressmakers. "I believe there will be more extensive entertaining this Winter in New York than ever before. There will constantly be officers in town on leave of absence. There will be many celebrations, dinners and receptions in their honor. Various commissions from foreign countries will be in town from time to time who will be extensively entertained. I backed up my opinion with a large array of frocks for the purpose, and the sales we have already recorded would indicate that I was not far wrong."

Black Silk Hose Very Scarce.

So active has been the demand of late for black silk hose for women that one of the country's best-known makers of these goods has none to deliver before Jan. 1 under $20 a dozen. The goods that are still to be had, even at that price and above, are either extra heavy or extra light. No popular-weight black goods can be bought from that house before the date in question at any price. One buyer, anxious to get a needed supply of blacks, offered to exchange, before delivery, several dozens of white hose for black, in spite of the fact that the former bore an old price, and the latter, if they were to be had at all, would have cost him $4 a dozen more. However, the change could not be made because there were no blacks.

How "Openings" Are Managed.

Some interesting information as to how various stores handle their "openings" is contained in the bulletin of the Retail Millinery Association of America. It tells, for instance, of a Pittsburgh store which sent out attractive perfumed announcement cards, and which found that the idea brought good results to the department. A Philadelphia store showed a very large trimmed hat, in contrast with a very small model, at its recent opening as evidence of the great variety of styles, from largest to smallest, that could be found in the department. A Newark store makes strong displays of advance styles and colors, and finds that the results from these exhibitions are not in the immediate sale of the hats featured, but in the good impression they create on prospective customers.

Why "Genteel" Help Is Sought.

It is probably because of incidents like the following that executives of department stores are endeavoring to get "genteel" employes behind their counters. A local business man, himself in the retail business, went into a certain store the other day to get a trade-marked article for his wife. The department was not well "manned," and being crowded, he had to wait 15 or 20 minutes before the girl asked him what he would have. He told her, and after a ten minutes' wait was informed that it was not in stock. When he suggested that she should know what was in stock and what was not, she replied: "You must think I'm awfully smart to remember everything." Her reply to his question as to whether the buyer was not told when stocks were running low was this: "Well, I don't buy the stuff, and it ain't my fault if we ain't got what you want."

Gray Goods Sales Improve.

Trading picked up quite noticeably in the local gray goods market yesterday. Among the printcloth business of the day were spot sales of 38½-inch 64-60s at 9¾ cents and sales of 39-inch 68-72s at 11 cents for delivery in the last two months of this year. The latter goods also sold for delivery in the first quarter of 1918 at 10¾ cents. The bag trade was in the market after sheetings, and inquiries for 40-inch osnaburgs also were told of. Buyers wanted 31-inch five-yard sheetings at 9 cents, but the mills were asking a quarter more. For 40-inch 4.25s prices ranged from 10½ to 11 cents, depending on the willingness of the mills to sell. For 36-inch 6.15s 7⅞ cents was paid, while 48 square four-yards brought around 11⅛ cents. Printcloths were firm at these levels for first-hand spots:

39-inch, 68-72s	11c	38½-inch, 60-52s	*9c
39-inch, 56-44s	7¾c	38½-inch, 60-48s	8⅝c

Coats and Frocks Move Well.

Gabardines in the dark colors, broadcloths in both light and dark, and combination jerseys continue, according to those in the trade, to be the most popular fabrics in suits and frocks. In the more dressy types chiffon velvet, and georgette and satin, are sought. While coats and frocks are the best items thus far in the season, it is said there is every indication of suits coming in strong a little later on. In fact, several authorities report that the better class suits already are doing very well.

Satin Petticoats Popular.

Manufacturers of petticoats report a general demand for embroidered satins and the new two-tone effects in blue and green, gold and black, rose and green, and green and black. In some of the embroidered models most in demand mercerized cotton is used, effectively worked into various spread petal flower designs. Retailers, particularly in the metropolitan district, are said to be doing an unusually large business, and, though price advances are very substantial in some instances, the biggest sellers are said to be the better grades of merchandise.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

JOHN J. REISLER, known as "John the Barber," of 169 West Forty-fifth Street, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $2,977 and assets of $10, consisting of one share of stock in the Reisler Company. He has only three creditors, Simon Phillips, $1,027; R. E. Sause & Co., $1,900, and New York Telephone Company, $50. He filed the petition because he was to be examined in supplementary proceedings on Saturday at the order of Simon Phillips, but he obtained a restraining order from Judge Hough of the United States District Court. He has been interested in a number of other enterprises. He was formerly President of the Reisler Amusement Company, also President of the Reisler Company, Inc., and was interested in the Harlem Sporting Club. He obtained a great deal of notoriety from being a witness in the Lieutenant Becker case in the Rosenthal murder trial.

STARKEY OFFICE SUPPLY COMPANY, INC., of 302 Broadway, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $7,131 and assets of $1,870, consisting of merchandise, $121; office furniture and fixtures, $1,080; accounts, $582, and cash in bank, $87. Among the creditors are Boorum & Pease Company, $1,061; Wilson Jones Loose Leaf Company, $1,125, and Aurora Metal Cabinet Works, Aurora, Ill., $584. Llewellyn H. Starkey, President of the company, started in business in 1908, and incorporated the company on July 11, 1916, with capital stock of $10,000.

GEORGE A. MORRIS, butter and egg dealer at 1,306 Hoe Avenue, Bronx, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $3,685 and no assets.

HERMAN DRAGE.—Harry Osterman has been appointed receiver by Judge Hough for Herman Drage, iron works at 144th Street and Southern Boulevard.

MARY ANDERSON CANDY SHOPS, INC., has made an assignment to Abraham Edelsack. The deed was signed by Charles Haw, Vice President. The company was incorporated on May 15 last, with capital stock $10,000.

ELY J. RIESER & CO.—Judge Hough has confirmed a composition of Ely J. Rieser, trading as Ely J. Rieser & Co., manufacturer of store fixtures at 479 First Avenue, with creditors at 25 cents on the dollar, payable 20 cents cash, 2½ cents in notes at six months, and 2½ cents in notes at one year. Liabilities were $164,178.

CHARLES DINKEL, INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Charles Dinkel, 576 Woodward Avenue, Brooklyn, a domestic corporation, by the following creditors: Joseph Stein & Sons, $500; Wilson & Co., Inc., $237; Isaac Warburg, $670.

Out of Town.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

The former residence of Dr. H. Holbrook Curtis on the northwest corner of Madison Avenue and Thirtieth Street, 25 by 95, was reported sold yesterday through Pease & Elliman to a large silk firm which, it is said, will erect a building for its occupancy. The building adjoins the former home of the Colony Club on Madison Avenue, sold a few weeks ago. The Curtis house is assessed at $140,000. A report of its sale was made a few months ago.

Resale of West End Avenue Dwellings.

Nellie K. Rosenthal purchased from the 135 Broadway Holding Company, 670 and 672 West End Avenue, two five-story private dwellings, on a plot 34 by 100. The property was acquired several months ago from the Philton Holding Company, which gave them in part payment the six elevator apartment houses on 141st and 142d Streets, between Lenox and Seventh Avenues.

Recent Deals in 111th Street Block.

Jacob Levow has taken title to the six-story apartment house at 217 West 111th Street, 50 by 100.11, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, sold recently. The adjoining similar apartment at 215 was purchased a few weeks ago by Abraham Levow.

New Owner for Negro Apartments.

The six apartment houses at 117 to 143 West 141st Street and 130 to 148 West 142d Street, which were recently purchased for negro tenants by the Philton Holding Corporation, represented by the late Philip A. Payton, Jr., have been acquired by new interests represented by Watt Terry, a realty operator and owner of Brockton, Mass. The properties are valued at about $1,000,000. They contain over 300 apartments, which are being rented to negro tenants.

Simpson Estate Sells Seven More Hunts Point Lots.

The D. and D. Realty and Improvement Company has increased its holdings in the Hunts Point section of the Bronx by the purchase of seven lots from John B. Simpson, executor of the estate of William Simpson, at the junction of Whitlock and Hoe Avenues and 163d Street. The property adjoins the Bronx Oval baseball park, which was sold last month to Louis Davis and then resold to the D. and D. Realty and Improvement Company. The new owners now control the entire frontage of the 163d Street Plaza, opposite the subway station, including both corners. They will immediately be improved with a business and taxpayer building. The S. Brener Company negotiated the sale.

Bronx Sales.

Annie McDermott sold to Kate J. Irwin the two-story dwelling on the west side of Ogden Avenue, 612 feet south of Union Place.

K. Skott purchased from Lucy Prusser, 2,204 Prospect Avenue, a five-story new law tenement on a plot 66.6 by irregular.

Rosemary L. M. MacElhenny purchased from Frederick Brown, operator, 2,307 Tiebout Avenue, a five-story new law tenement, on a plot 50 by 109. In part payment the buyer gave an estate of twenty-five acres at Plandome, Great Neck, L. I. The Bronx property was held at $70,000, and the Long Island property at $50,000.

Brooklyn.

Newman N. Leavy, in conjunction with Louis Cramer, sold for I. M. Kalt the property at 1,440 Fifty-fourth Street, a plot 135 by 100, to the Renman Building Corporation, which gave in exchange two one-family houses on Fifty-third Street, 100 feet east of Sixteenth Avenue.

Queens Borough Sales.

A. H. Weber of Manhattan purchased the dwelling, occupying a plot 54 by 100, on the west side of Grenfeld Avenue, seventy feet north of Audley Street, Kew Gardens, from the Chapelfields Construction Company.

C. H. Thompson has purchased the dwelling, occupying a plot 50 by 139, on the east side of Beverly Road, 240 feet north of Audley Street, Kew Gardens, from L. D. Plummer.

H. Schroeder sold to W. J. Gerhardt of Brooklyn the dwelling on the southeast corner of Ninety-fifth Street and Eightieth Street, Jamaica.

New Jersey.

Walter Scott & Son sold to a client a tract of fifty acres, which is to be subdivided into industrial sites. The property is located in the town of Carlstadt, N. J., eleven miles from Cortlandt Street, on the New York & New Jersey Railroad.

Nelson, Lee & Green sold for W. C. Gebhardt to M. Teplitz his ninety-acre farm, with lake and concrete icehouse, situated at Jutland, Clinton, N. J., on the main line of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It was held at $40,000.

Westchester County.

Edward C. Griffin and E. S. Burtis have sold 127 lots in the Chatsworth Heights section to a corporation for developing.

Griffen, Prince & Ripley, Inc., sold the Clarence L. Smith estate located on Drake Road, Scarsdale, consisting of an English house and about eight and one-half acres of land, to Harlow D. Savage of Greenacres, Scarsdale, N. Y. Mr. Savage gave in part payment his residence in Scarsdale held at $25,000. The Smith estate was held at $50,000. The same brokers have sold for Mrs. W. H. Baker her country place consisting of a twelve-room dwelling and one acre, located in Prospect Park, White Plains, to Frank Dawson of Manhattan. The property was held at $25,000.

Commercial Leases.

Douglas L. Elliman & Co. have rented for the Beekman Holding Company to D. Calo & Sons, art dealers, the store at 107 West Forty-sixth Street, to take effect May 1, 1918, and have sublet for Mabel M. Lane to Mary J. Story, Sarah P. Clark, and Minnie A. Eastman the store at 511 Madison Avenue, corner of Fifty-third Street, for a tea room and gift shop.

Bleiman & Co. leased for the Thirty-second and Thirty-third Street Corporation the two stores and basements of 12 and 14 West Thirty-third Street for a long term at aggregate rentals of $65,000 to the Harry Meyer Company, hat jobbers, recently organized.

Pease & Elliman have leased for Mrs. C. C. Graham to the Century Leasing Company the three-story building at 48 East Twenty-ninth Street, adjoining the southwest corner of Fourth Avenue, and for the Sandringham Hotel Company the basement and the parlor floor at 103 West Seventy-first Street to Munzer & Voight, interior decorators.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. have leased the store at 89 Fourth Avenue to L. Kirchbaum.

Private Dwellings Leased.

Pease & Elliman have rented for Henri P. von Henkelom to F. Grand d'Hautville the five-story dwelling at 2 East Sixty-seventh Street, formerly occupied by Robert L. Gerry, who has leased for this season, through the same brokers, the home of George L. Rives at 69 East Seventy-ninth Street.

The F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company has leased for David H. Millet the dwelling at 314 West 104th Street to J. M. B. Drummond; for Peter J. Shields the dwelling at 47 West Ninety-third Street to K. M. Streeber; for Fred M. Blake the dwelling at 337 West Eighty-fifth Street to Madam Haggerty Snell, and for Charles A. Robinson the dwelling at 116 West Eightieth Street to Mrs. Jennie Keenan.

Moore, Schutte & Co. have rented the four-story dwelling at 403 West 148th Street for Schindler & Liebler, agents, to William E. Holloway.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co., in conjunction with Porter & Co., have leased the four-story dwelling at 145 West 118th Street to Jaenette Simmons.

Hearing This Morning on Eighty-sixth Street Crosstown Line.

The long-agitated proposal for the extension of the Eighty-sixth Street crosstown car line to Broadway will be accorded a public hearing by Mayor Mitchel and the Board of Estimate at 10:30 o'clock this morning. Every official having jurisdiction in the matter has passed on the extension, so that the matter now comes up for final disposition.

THE WEATHER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The tropical disturbance is apparently central tonight, a short distance south of the mouth of the Mississippi River, still moving northwest, and hurricane warnings are displayed on the Louisiana Coast and storm warnings on the Texas coast. East of New Orleans warnings have been lowered.

Quite general rains have fallen in the East Gulf States, Tennessee, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi Valleys, the Upper Lake and Western Lower Lake regions, and scattered rains in the South Atlantic and West Gulf States. Elsewhere the weather was generally fair.

It is considerably cooler in Tennessee, the Ohio Valley, and Upper Lake region and warmer in the Atlantic States and the West generally, especially in California.

Rain will fall Friday in the East Gulf States and Tennessee, and showers in the Upper Ohio Valley, the Western Lower Lake region, the Middle Atlantic States, and New England, followed by generally fair weather Saturday.

Over the greater portion of the South Atlantic States and in the Lower Ohio Valley and the Upper Lake region the weather will be generally fair Friday and Saturday, except in Upper Michigan, where rain is probable by Saturday.

It will be cooler Friday in the Ohio Valley and the Lower Lake region, and Friday night and Saturday in the Middle Atlantic States and New England.

Winds for Friday and Saturday along the North Atlantic Coast will be moderate southwest, with showers by Friday night; Middle Atlantic Coast, moderate, variable, showers by Friday night; South Atlantic Coast, moderate east and southeast, showers, except fair off the Florida coast.

FORECASTS—TODAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York.—Showers and cooler Friday in west, and Friday or Friday night in east portion; Saturday, probably fair.

Southern New England.—Partly cloudy Friday; showers by night. Saturday, fair, cooler on mainland.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICES.

UNITED STATES MARSHAL'S SALE.
By virtue of a certain writ of execution to me directed and delivered in a certain cause pending in the District Court of the United States for the Southern District of New York, in which The Equitable Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, is complainant and the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company is defendant, I will expose to sale at Public Vendue on Thursday, the 4th day of October, 1917, at twelve o'clock noon, at the door of the County Court House of the County of New York, in the City and State of New York (to wit, at the main door on Chambers Street on the principal story of the said Court House), Three million and thirty-two thousand four hundred dollars, face value, of United States Government Three and one-half Per Cent. Liberty Loan Bonds of the issue of 1917, with all coupons attached. The full amount bid must be paid in cash, or in certified cheque satisfactory to the Marshal, immediately upon the conclusion of the sale upon delivery of the bonds sold. In case any bidder shall fail immediately to make good his bid and purchase, the bonds knocked down to him may be again sold without further notice, and the bidder will be and remain liable for any difference in price between the amount bid by him and the price for which the said bonds shall ultimately be sold by the Marshal.
Dated New York, September 27, 1917.

ONE ACCUSED CADET ADMITS HAZING

TWELVE BOOKED FOR TRIAL

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Sept. 27.—The war is temporarily forgotten at the United States Military Academy in the sensation of the court-martial trial of twelve members of the third class for hazing men of the fourth class. The sensation was heightened tonight when, at the close of the second day of the trail, Cadet Wilson G. Saville of the State of Washington pleaded guilty to a form of hazing which is not punishable by dismissal. But Cadet Saville and the other accused cadets are on trial for a form of hazing which is punishable by dismissal, and tonight Captain L. K. Underhill, Judge Advocate of the post, made it clear that he would not be content with Saville's plea, and would insist that he and the others be found guilty of a degree of hazing calling for the severer punishment.

The other accused cadets watched the prosecution of Saville with the keenest interest, and there is a belief that if he escapes with light punishment the others will follow his course in admitting that they "disciplined" the freshmen, but did not do it with intent to humiliate.

The twelve cadets are accused of hazing men of the fourth class until they fainted. The fact that there had been hazing came to the notice of the authorities, not by any complaint of the men who suffered, but through the report of the Post Surgeon, who suspected that the ailments of some of the new men were due to maltreatment by upper-class cadets. The Surgeon brought his suspicions to the attention of Colonel S. E. Tillman, commandant of the Academy, and he named an investigating committee, headed by Captain Henry, Cadet Commander. As a result of the report of Captain Henry's committee Colonel Tillman last week named a court-martial of thirteen officers, presided over by Captain Charles S. Martin. The trial began yesterday, Saville being the first man to face the court.

Names of the Accused.

The accused cadets are Wilson G. Saville, Stewart M. Bevans, John S. Niles, Clarence A. Rosendahl, John A. Waldlich, Eugene L. Vidall, Hugh B. Waddell, George W. Lewis, Paul B. Kelly, George B. Keyser, Frederick de P. Townsend, and Howard L. Simmeral.

These cadets are being tried for the hazing of Cadet Worth E. Shoults of Maryland and Cadet Joseph A. Cranston, Jr., of Kansas on July 15 and Aug. 5 last. Captain Underhill said today that he had evidence of the hazing of other men and suspicions that other cadets than those accused had been involved.

The trial is being held in a subterranean chamber, high-arched, hung with flags, and dug out of rock, appearing like a strong room of a feudal castle. About and in the trial room were only those directly concerned in the case.

There are three forms of hazing, as follows: (1) The act of an upper-class man in forcing a new cadet to perform menial service or to submit to physical exercise with intent to humiliate him; (2) the act of forcing the performance of menial service or physical exercise without intent to humiliate, and (3) forcing a new cadet to assume a constrained position, or to annoy or harass him, without intention to humiliate.

Saville was accused of the first form of hazing, punishable by dismissal. The lesser forms are punishable by anything less than dismissal. His counsel told the court that his client admitted forcing Shoults and Cranston to assume "constrained positions," but that this did not mean physical exercise, and was done without intent to humiliate.

Cadet Shoults testified that on July 14, when the cadets were in camp, Saville, who was a drillmaster, criticised his personal appearance, and on the afternoon of the next day ordered him to report to a specified tent when dismissed. He said he obeyed and found there Saville and other cadets, whom he named. Shoults testified he was ordered to strip to the waist, which he did. He said he was told to stand on his toes and turn his palms out. He said that after fifteen minutes he found it impossible to hold the position and sank to his heels. He was ordered to resume his position, he said, and to "take the sway out of his back." The next time he gave out, he said, he was ordered back on his toes, his head thrust back, his chin in.

Fainted Under Hazing.

In the meanwhile, according to the testimony of Cranston and Shoults, Cranston was being put through the same treatment. Shoults said he saw Cranston faint, but he held out for forty-five minutes, when everything grew dark, and he felt himself fall forward. He was revived and taken back to his tent. He said he was hazed again in the same manner on Aug. 5.

It was with the utmost difficulty that Captain Underhill got testimony from Cranston and Shoults and the other witnesses. Saville did not take the stand, but Captain Nichols of his counsel arose and said that the defendant pleaded guilty to forcing new cadets to take constrained positions, but that it was not physical exercise, and there was no intent to humiliate or discipline. He said the testimony showed that the constraint did not last forty-five minutes. At the conclusion of Captain Nichols's statement, the Judge Advocate announced that he would call witnesses in rebuttal, in order to prove that Saville did intend to humiliate Cranston and Shoults, and that was the object of his treatment of them. Adjournment was then taken until Monday afternoon.

Colonel Tillman, Superintendent of the Academy, said he knew that new cadets had been forced to stand on their toes for long periods, to "do the angle of 45 degrees," which consists of lying on the back and holding both legs upright, and that the "reaching rest" had been enforced. This consists of forcing a man to lie on his stomach, then rise on his toes and finger tips, and hold that position until exhausted.

GOFF ASSAILS ALIENS.

Says It Is Discreditable for Long Residents Not to Take Out Papers.

Supreme Court Justice Goff, who heard applications for citizenship yesterday, gave his opinion of aliens who have lived in this country for many years and did not take out naturalization papers until the present war began. The court said:

"It is a very discreditable thing for a man to live in this country a great number of years and avail himself of all its advantages and opportunities to make a livelihood, and then not assume the duties of citizenship; in fact, he shirks the duties of citizenship as well as the duties he owes to his native country. I wish to impress on all applicants for citizenship that I will subject them to a rigid examination as to their qualifications, and if they are not thoroughly qualified I shall send them back until they are, because a man who has waited fifteen or twenty years can afford to wait a while longer."

HILLQUIT ACCEPTS ISSUE.

Says War Will Dominate Mayoralty Campaign and That He Is for Peace.

Morris Hillquit, Socialist candidate for Mayor, praised Mayor Mitchel yesterday for frankly recognizing that the war was the dominant factor in the municipal election. Hillquit spoke before the Brooklyn Civic Club and denounced both Bennett and Hylan for refusing to express themselves on the war. Socialists, according to Mr. Hillquit, are against all wars and against the prolongation of this one.

"The issue of war or peace will probably be the deciding factor in the coming election," said Mr. Hillquit. "It is the first great electoral contest in the United States since our entry into the war and will be the first opportunity for the people to express their opinion. We are inclined to believe that the result will be an eye-opener. Mayor Mitchel has announced that his campaign would be waged on the issue of patriotism. Judge Hylan and his party have not expressed themselves on this subject. Neither has Mr. Bennett. The people of this city are entitled to know where they stand."

Economize—Wear
Better Clothes Than Ever

If you have always paid generous prices to a custom tailor for your Fall Suits and want to economize this season, come into one of our stores.

Try on one of the new Varsity Fifty Five Fall Models.

See what wonderful cut and tailoring and what high quality fabrics have been put into them.

We are sure that you'll be pleasurably surprised at the moderate price you'll pay for suits of better quality than the ones your tailor made last season.

Hart Schaffner & Marx
Varsity Fifty Five Suits

We welcome patrons of custom tailors.

We like to please critical men—those who have a keen eye for details and effects.

It has been through satisfying just such men that we have made our success.

This year, of all in our history, affords us the opportunity to give full measure of value to the men of New York.

Victor
"HIS MASTER'S VOICE"
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

Carnegie Hall
September 30

Hear this famous Victor artist!

To hear McCormack is a privilege and an opportunity which every music-lover will want to embrace. It presents the unique opportunity of a direct personal observation of his remarkably beautiful voice for comparative consideration with his historic Victor Records.

Attend this concert and hear the wonderful voice of this great Irish tenor, being particularly careful to observe the individual characteristics that so plainly identify the McCormack voice.

Then go to any Victor dealer's and hear the Victor Records by McCormack. You will be instantly convinced that on the Victrola his art and personality are brought to you with unerring truth.

It is this absolute fidelity that emphasizes the supremacy of the Victrola, so firmly established on a basis of great things actually accomplished; a supremacy readily recognized and acknowledged by the world's greatest artists who make records exclusively for the Victor.

Victor Talking Machine Co., Camden, N. J.

Important Notice. Victor Records and Victor Machines are scientifically coordinated and synchronized by our special processes of manufacture, and their use, one with the other, is absolutely essential to a perfect Victor reproduction.

Young Women's Styles

HERE in these pictures is the story of authentic Fall styles for Young Women. Note the tendency toward military heel effects; note the slender toes with choice of wing tip, or plain tip or no tip; tops, plain cut, from 8 to 9 inches; leathers mostly in tans or browns. These are difficult features to combine in a shoe. It is good to know that every Regal model is backed by the authority and skill of 26 years' leadership in style designing.
